MISSING PRIEST SEEN AT MAYFIELD AND MONTARA THURSDAY, OFFICERS TOLD

Acting on New Clue Posses Rush to Carroll Farm Six Miles From Colma in Search for Clergyman

AUTO REPORTS ARE RUN DOWN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Acting on a new clew which developed today, a posse searched near the ranch of Frank Carroll, six miles southwest of Colma. The authorities said they also were advised from different sources that Father Heslin was seen at Mayfield, Santa Clara County, on Thursday evening and at Montara, San Mateo County, later. Investigators were sent to both points from the sheriff's office.

Recruited from the Louis O'Neal ranch, a large posse of cowboys, headed by Detective Sergeant George Merchant of the San Francisco police department, left Los Altos today heavily armed to search the wooded mountains for trace of the priest, missing since last Tuesday night. Search was instituted following receipt of a mysterious telephone message to Father Cantwell, secretary to Archbishop Hanna, that a car containing four men, one of whom was a priest, had speeded through the town early this morning.

In addition to the large number of citizens who accompanied the posse, twelve bloodhounds, the property of the San Francisco police, were sent ahead of the party in charge of several cowboy scouts.

INTEREST SHIFTS TO MOUNTAINS.

Interest in the sensational disappearance of the Colma priest shifted today from that city to the mountains and two San Francisco detectives on the case were withdrawn from the search by Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson and assigned to searching the Italian quarter and arresting all bunko men and blackmailers. The auto detail, under Sergeant Arthur McQuaide, centered its efforts in attempting to locate the car used by Father Heslin's abductor.

Search will also be made of a large cave 200 feet from the main highway near Montara, where, a telephone message to the archbishop stated, the priest would be found.

Developments during the night served only to deepen the mystery of the strange disappearance. Only one clew, which may lead to the release of the imprisoned priest or the finding of his dead body, according to the police, was the finding of a copy of a Catholic breviary found by searchers on the Pedro Valley road, a mile from the "old adobe house."

Although the police expressed the belief that the book might have been dropped by Father Heslin as a clew to guide searchers, it was stated, however, that the book might prove valueless as a clew. There was no marks in the book to indicate that it belonged to Father Heslin, the police stated.

A raid which was to have been directed against a lonely cabin on the coast line near Mussel Rocks, directly west of Colma, by Constable S. A. Landini and posse failed to materialize. Investigation led the authorities to believe that a raid on the place was not warranted.

EXPECT TO FIND PRIEST MURDERED.

Many officers frankly admitted that they expected to find the dead body of the priest, and declared that the character of the ransom note received by Archbishop Hanna indicated that the Colma pastor was in the hands of a desperate gang.

Others expressed fear that the intensive search for the missing priest may have caused the kidnapers to do away with him and hide the body. The kidnaping of Father Heslin is believed the result of a carefully prepared plot to force the Catholic church to pay the ransom demanded—$6500—without regard to which priest was abducted.

Residents of Colma who saw the overcoated man, wearing large horn-rim goggles, still stick to the belief that the man who asked Father Heslin to "visit a dying man" was a Japanese, while Miss Marie Wendel, housekeeper for Father Heslin, stated that the man was a European.

VISITOR REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

Miss Mary Bianci, who lives directly across the street from the parish house, saw the small car drive up to the house on Tuesday night. Her attention was attracted to the car, she said, by the fact that the driver switched on and off his lights, finally leaving them off. She heard him tell Miss Wendel that

Wireless Photos Are Successfully Sent Over Ocean

(By Associated Press)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 6.—Transmission of photographs and written documents in facsimilie across the ocean by wireless has been accomplished. Two recent successful tests of this epoch-making invention have been made at the powerful naval radio station here, a photograph and a written message having been sent to Malmaison, the French radio station.

Two French government engineers are now in Annapolis preparing for further tests which they believe will prove the invention a complete success within a very short time.

The first test of the invention was the sending of a photograph of the recent Dempsey-Carpentier championship fight from the Annapolis station to France for reproduction in Le Matin, Paris, newspaper.

While the reproduction was said to have been fairly good, was not as perfect as the engineers wished it to be. So Thursday another test was made.

This test was the sending of a facsimilie written message from C. V. Vanada, managing editor of the Times, to Le Matin, the Paris newspaper, word came back that the message was reproduced almost perfectly.

Mexico Offered Commerce Treaty With U.S., Report

Important Stipulations Made in Note Acceptable, Is Opinion.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—George T. Summerlin, the United States charge d'affaires here, delivered to the foreign office a note from Washington yesterday, declared the Excelsior this morning.

The information says that the demands of the United States incident to recognition had not been changed, but that the note contained certain important stipulations which are acceptable to the Mexican government. It was said to have insisted upon the signature of a treaty of commerce and amity, but that this convention should be negotiated after the present Mexican government had been accorded recognition.

Authorities at the foreign office have refused to make any statement. Summerlin could not be reached early today for confirmation or denial.

Farmers Advised to Ask Higher Prices

By L. C. MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. — "Don't sell your goods until you get your price."

This advice was speeding over the wires today to farmers all over the country. It was sent out by members of the House and Senate as a result of Senate approval of the administration's farm credits bill, which is counted on to boost prices of all farm products.

"Hold your cotton for a price of 20 cents a pound," was one message sent out broadcast over the southern states.

Western senators appealed to by constituents for advice, in view of the passage through the Senate of a credits bill, advised in like manner to ask for higher prices and to hold their surpluses until they got what they asked. The psychological effect will soon be a much higher general tone to the agricultural market, senators predicted.

Orchestra Strike in 100 N. Y. Theaters

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Managers of many vaudeville and moving picture houses felt first effects of the coming strike of musicians today, although the strike was not scheduled to go into effect until midnight.

In these theaters musicians failed to appear for the customary Saturday rehearsals at which music for the next week's program is gone over.

The strike, which, it was declared, would affect 100 theaters, was ordered last night by Musical Mutual Protective Union. About 1000 musicians are employed in the houses affected. The union maintains it is striking to forestall a lockout planned by the managers to enforce a wage reduction.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 6.—Owing to the dense smoke it is impossible to determine the extent of the two great areas which are burning thirty to forty miles north of this city in the Santa Barbara national forest. The Cuyama forest fire, spurred by a strong wind, already has burned 3000 acres. The Sisquoc Canyon fire will burn unchecked for several days because of the impossibility of a fighting force reaching it sooner.

Creole State Returns With Three in Brig

Members of Crew Held On a Charge of Putting Emery Dust in Machinery.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Arriving here on the last lap of a round trip to Manila in which she was for three days in a helpless condition due to crippled machinery wrecked by sabotage, the Creole State, U. S. Shipping Board steamer operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, arrived in port today.

Three members of its crew, including the second assistant engineer, made the trip from Manila in the ship's brig in charge of two deputies of the Philippine Constabulary, and on arrival here were turned over to the United States marshal to be tried for sabotage in connection with the crippling of the ship's machinery.

PUT EMERY DUST IN BEARINGS, IS CHARGE.

Those under arrest are: William Dunlevy, second assistant engineer; Joseph Wing and Joaquin Barrasino, oilers.

They are charged with having put emery dust in the bearings of the machinery.

On the Creole State were fifteen University of California students, who booked as crew during the labor trouble with the seamen here.

According to Captain H. E. Miller, trouble did not develop until they were two days out of Honolulu on the trip to Manila. Wing was suspected and placed in the ship's brig. After being questioned closely for several days, he confessed, according to Captain Miller, and in his confession implicated Dunlevy and Barrasino.

VESSEL DRIFTS FOR THREE DAYS.

The trouble in the engine room due to the emery dust became worse and worse, and for three days the vessel drifted helplessly at sea while repair work was done. According to the captain, had the vessel encountered a storm it would have been absolutely unmanageable and probably a total loss.

After extensive repairs conducted at sea, the vessel finally arrived at Manila seventeen days later, where it was necessary to have expert machinists go over the machinery, cleaning all the bearings and making permanent the temporary repairs effected at sea. It was while at Manila that Captain Miller after conferring with the Philippine Constabulary officials had Dunlevy and Barrasino arrested on the strength of King's alleged confession.

All three men were turned over to deputy United States marshals on their arrival here and will be arraigned Monday before United States Commissioner Francis Krull.

Newberry Seat to Be Strongly Contested

By FRASER EDWARDS,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Strict party lines may break in the approaching battle over the right of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan to his seat in the Senate.

Several progressive Republican Senators are ready to join the Democrats in their efforts to oust the Michigan Senator, it was learned today.

"Political morality," is the base of progressive opposition. Their attack will be centered upon the expenditure of $176,000 for Newberry in his campaign against Henry Ford in the 1918 primary election.

The report of the majority members of the elections sub-committee which investigated the contest has been submitted confidentially to the full committee, which is expected to approve the report of the majority members, and order it submitted to the Senate when the fight on the floor will begin.

John B. Kennedy, Los Angeles Insurance Man, Shot to Death While Entering Summer Home With Divorcee

Companion Says She Would Have Married Man Killed But for Objections of His Mother; Head Is Mangled

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—John B. Kennedy, 26, Los Angeles insurance broker, was shot and killed late last night as he was entering his summer cottage at Beverly Hills, an exclusive residential suburb. Mrs. Madeline Oberchain of Evanston, Ill., who was with him, was held as a material witness.

Mrs. Oberchain, who said she was formerly the wife of R. R. Oberchain, lawyer, of 645 University place, Chicago, from whom she had secured a divorce, told sheriff's deputies Kennedy was shot from behind. She said she afterward saw two roughly dressed men disappearing in some bushes. The shooting occurred shortly before midnight, but through some delay which had not been explained early today, no report was made to the county authorities until after 2 a. m. Deputies found the back of Kennedy's head had been blown off, apparently by a shot from a shotgun.

WOMAN RECEIVES MONTHLY ALIMONY.

Mrs. Oberchain, in a formal statement to Deputy Sheriff Cronin, said she was 20 years old, the daughter of Mrs. Emma E. Smart of Los Angeles. Her father's name was Connor, she said. Her former husband, she said, had been paying her $80 a month alimony.

"Our home was really broken up from my love for Mr. Kennedy," the statement continued. "Mr. Oberchain was willing for me to secure the divorce if it would make me happy, but said he would willingly take me back.

"I would have been married to Mr. Kennedy long ago, but he could not overcome the objections of his mother, who, he told me, disliked me. I have known Mr. Kennedy five years and was to marry him, but for some reason I married Mr. Oberchain. My relations with Mr. Kennedy have always been of the best.

SHOT WHILE LOOKING FOR "LUCKY" PENNY.

"He came to my room at the Alexandria hotel the other night. He kept pleading with me to marry him and to tell him, as he would leave California and go East with me. I finally induced him to leave the room and he said he would if I would promise him to meet him when he telephoned. This I did yesterday. I don't know who shot him or anything more than I have told."

Mrs. Oberchain, in an informal statement said she and Kennedy motored to a beach resort early in the day, returning late in the evening. They had planned to dine at a country club, but finding it closed went to Kennedy's cottage. They stopped, she said, at the entrance while she looked for a "lucky penny" she had buried there. As they were searching for the coin the shot was fired.

NEIGHBOR SAYS SHE HEARD TWO SHOTS.

Mrs. Lizzie Besenty, a neighbor, told the Beverly Hills police she heard two shots, followed by the screaming of Mrs. Oberchain. She said she saw an automobile disappearing down a drive near the cottage.

Examination of Kennedy's clothing showed he had a number of important papers and a wallet containing $56. Several articles of jewelry worn by him had not been disturbed.

Police records here show that Kennedy was attacked and beaten on the street about four years ago by two men who, he said, were strangers to him.

SAYS "GOOD NIGHT" BEFORE EXPIRING.

Investigators said the shot which killed Kennedy was fired from a distance of about thirty feet. A revolver, fully loaded, was found beside the body. Mrs. Oberchain said this belonged to Kennedy. She said the latter was not instantly killed, but said "good night, Madelaine" to her before expiring.

Officers found bushes trampled down in the place where Mrs. Oberchain said she saw two men disappear. The surrounding country was being searched today for the suspects.

Deputy Sheriff Cronin said the Chicago police had been asked if they could throw any light on the tragedy. He said he had been informed by a Chicago newspaper by telephone that an effort was made to inform Oberchain of the tragedy, but that he had not been located.

Mrs. Oberchain was detained at the sheriff's office while the investigation was proceeding this morning.

U. S. Seeks to Maintain 'Open Door' in Pacific and Far East: Would Aid Integrity of China, Safeguard Russia

TOKYO, Aug. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Japan has agreed to November 11 as the date for the beginning of the disarmament conference in Washington as suggested by the United States, according to this morning's newspapers.

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The United States government today apparently was basing its program for the Pacific discussion in the coming Washington disarmament conference on three cardinal principles. These are:

1—Recognition and firm establishment of the "open door" in the Pacific and the far East.

2—The protection and maintenance of the integrity, political and territorial, of China.

3—The safeguarding of the integrity of Russia, which principally involves Siberia.

The date for the opening of the conference, November 11, has been practically agreed upon.

FRANCE AGREES TO CONFERENCE DATE.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—France, replying to an inquiry made by the State Department at Washington, agreed to November 11 as the date for the conference in Washington on disarmament and far Eastern questions.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—In connection with the departure of Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, for Paris to attend the supreme council, the embassy issued to the English press quotations from the American Government's acceptance of the council's invitation to be represented and which will serve as a guide for Colonel Harvey.

The general effect of the statement is that the United States, while abstaining from European questions, considers that it is entitled to participate in economic questions arising out of the war.

WOULD EXCLUDE YAP AND SHANTUNG.

TOKYO, Aug. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—Replying to questions asked as to the scope of the agenda of the Washington conference, Premier Hara is quoted as saying at a meeting of the Seiyu-Kai party leaders yesterday that he believed such accomplished facts as the Shantung and Yap problems would not be included in the program.

The Nichi Nichi Shimbum says it understands the occupation of the Saghalien district on the East Siberian coast as a result of the Nikolaievsk massacre will be excluded from the negotiations with the far Eastern republic of Siberia.

It understands also, declares the newspaper, that Japan will strive for the exclusion of this question from the coming Washington conference because she considers the Saghalien occupation a separate matter, requiring a settlement later with "a responsible Russian government."

Spanish Troops Mutiny; Crown Council Called

Outbreak At Home Is Feared As Moroccans Crush Army of Madrid.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Alfonso, king of Spain, realizing the gravity of the situation in Morocco, where his troops have just suffered a crushing defeat, was scheduled to hold an important conference with his leading statesmen today. The king, mindful of the republican movement which has received powerful impetus by the Spanish reverses in Morocco, has called what virtually amounts to a crown council.

Meanwhile, according to the latest news from Madrid, the Spanish government and the various municipal authorities are fearing disturbances as the national sentiment is greatly aroused by the latest developments in Morocco.

The insurgent forces have been augmented by thousands of Moroccans who had been engaged in harvesting work in Algeria and who promptly returned to their native land to help in the long agitated "war of liberation." The chief reason for the rebellion given by spokesmen of the insurgents is the charge that the Moroccans have been treated badly in Spain.

Several mutinies are reported to have occurred among troops being sent to fight Raisuli's forces. One ship carrying Moroccan expeditionary troops was forced to call for assistance from destroyers.

MADRID, Aug. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—Graphic details of the sufferings and hardships endured by General Navarro, commanding the Spanish troops at Melilla, and his soldiers since their enforced retreat, which began July 22, before superior forces of Moorish rebels, are being related by the newspaper La Libertad.

General Navarro, when the attack was launched, had to fight his way back to the fortified positions on Mount Arruit, resisting the ferocious attacks continually thrown against him. With his 6000 men, Navarro had to cut his way through a cordon of rebels which were determined to wipe him out; and on every inch of ground over which he retreated he lost men and material. When he reached Mount Arruit Navarro had only 2000 men left. Water was lacking. The nearest well to the fortification was 500 meters distant.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Fewer than 200 survivors of the garrison at Mador, which surrendered to the Moorish, tribesmen, have arrived at Melilla, says a despatch to the London Times from Tangier. Among them are some women and children and many sick and wounded.

Geraldine Farrar And Lou Tellegen Now Far Apart

Husband Locked Out of House by Prima Donna, Sues for Separation.

By FRANK GETTY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The curtain fell today upon the second act of that little drama of home life, "Matrimony," in which Geraldine Farrar, world-famous American prima donna, and Lou Tellegen, he of the longest lashes in captivity, have been co-starred during a five-year run.

It fell upon the spectacle of the gorgeous matinee idol locked out of his wife's Seventy-fourth street home and his lawyer departing with "the papers" to serve them on the diva in an action for separation. Farrar's closing line was:

"Tell Lou if he'll leave his address I'll send around his clothes."

The next act will show a scene in the New York courts, to which the order probably will be transferred from Westchester county.

The first act in the Farrar-Tellegen comedy-farce-tragedy opened in 1916, when the couple were united in wedlock. The diva had many times expressed herself as holding the belief that real artists should not marry.

"I have locked the doors of matrimony long ago and thrown away the key," was one of her best lines.

The line recurred to Lou in the second act when the love comedy had become a farce and he shivered on the doorstep trying to gain admittance to her residence.

"Obey" was left out of the ceremony which made them one.

Five years are supposed to have elapsed during the intermission between the first and second acts. The second act opens late in July, 1921, with Lou vacationing at Long Beach. Here a mysterious stranger, who proves to be one of Mrs. Tellegen's lawyers, with a letter which says that "certain differences" have arisen and, that "under no circumstances are you (Lou) to enter Mrs. Tellegen's house or approach her in any manner."

LOU FAILS TO GAIN ADMISSION.

Lou's blood boils over at the suggestion and he makes a dash for the Seventy-fourth street residence where Geraldine is living. The blinds are down, but he thinks he catches sight of some one peeping out from behind them. Insmad of an audience he tries key after key in a vain effort to get in, but some stage hand has changed the lock during the summer.

Then he leans on the bell for three long minutes.

Nothing doing. And then, cruelest blow of all, he gets a note from Geraldine's lawyer.

"If you will advise Mrs. Tellegen as to your address or the address you prefer to use, she will forward to you your wearing apparel and personal effects."

With a hard laugh the great actor staggers off into the wings.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Tellegen could be interviewed between the acts. They both hate publicity.

Twenty-four Provinces Swept by Cholera Wave, 150,000 Dying in Two Towns Within 60 Days; Children Perish

Gangs of Looters Follow the Fleeing Thousands; Homes Burned; Fugitives Rush On Moscow; Are Driven Away

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

REVAL, Aug. 6.—The cholera death wave is sweeping five new Russian districts, taking a heavy toll of lives.

The epidemic has invaded Podolia, Vologa, Kieff and Smolensk, making twenty-four provinces in all now affected.

One hundred and fifty thousand victims were reported to have died in two towns in two months. Fifty-two thousand were children.

A description of the terror following the death wave was contained in despatches received here. Gangs of looters followed the trail of burning homes, which were fired by occupants when they deserted them. Armed bands entered the homes of those who might be suspected of having food and stole anything they could find.

A band of fugitives approached Moscow and was refused entrance. One report stated cordons of troops with poison gas surrounded them and drove them back.

Arrangements were being made today for departure from Russia of the new commission headed by Gorky and Kinshuk, president of the Co-operative Association, and Tsiperovich, labor leader. They will negotiate relief work abroad.

AMERICANS LISTED FOR RELIEF AGENT.

RIGA, Aug. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—American officials here have prepared, at the request of the Washington State Department, a full list of all American citizens in Russia, including those in Bolshevik prisons.

This list will be turned over to Walter L. Brown, European director of American relief, who will confer here with the delegates of the Russian Soviet government. Whether the United States will demand that all these Americans be sent out of Russia or that only the six or seven persons imprisoned be liberated, is not known.

It is certain that at least 100 claiming to be Americans are in Russia and are seeking to leave the country, and it is believed efforts will be made to facilitate their speedy return to the United States. The departure from Russia of Americans had not been reported up until late yesterday afternoon. The hospital car operated by the American Red Cross, however, went to the frontier to greet the prisoners when they had actually reached non-Russian soil.

AMERICAN PRISONERS CROSS LINE MONDAY.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—All the American prisoners in Moscow and Petrograd will be sent across the Russian border by Monday at the latest, according to a message received here today by Walter L. Brown, European director of the American Relief Administration, from Leon Kamineff, chairman of the Russian relief committee.

FRANCE OFFICIALLY TO IGNORE FAMINE.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—France will not participate officially in famine relief measure in Russia, it is declared by the Petit Parisien. She will leave the whole problem in the hands of the American relief organization and other American bodies. France unofficially has planned to help meet distress in southeastern Russia.

In making inquiry at Washington France is said to have declared she would be glad to join the United States in any plans. A reply was received yesterday thanking France for her offer of co-operation and it was stated the United States would be glad to see this country second the efforts of Herbert Hoover.

INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS URGES AID.

GENEVA, Aug. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—The International League of Red Cross Societies has issued an appeal to all governments, urging them to participate in a conference at Geneva August 18 in order to study ways and means of relieving the famine stricken areas of Russia.

Praise for the initiative already taken by Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Administration, was expressed.

KIDNAPED PRIEST IN PORTOLA HILLS CAVE, IS REPORT

Archbishop Receives Mysterious Messages Telling of Cleric's Whereabouts.

the priest was wanted on a sick call and when the stranger left the front of the house and began pacing up and down the walk she walked over and asked him who was sick. He turned away without reply, she said, and attempted to cover his face.

The man was a Japanese with a small pointed mustache, Miss Bianci asserted, and her statement was corroborated by Mrs. Andy Ceregino, who was walking up the street. She passed the machine as it drove away at high speed, she declared, and a glance at the driver revealed features similar to a Japanese.

Further evidence that the abductors might be Orientals, kidnaping the priest in retaliation for the anti-Japanese deportations two weeks ago, was disclosed in the information given the police by two schoolgirls, Alice Silicani and Erma Ver Linden, to the effect that on Tuesday morning about 11 o'clock while on the sidewalk on the main street, they were accosted by a Japanese who asked where Father Heslin lived. After receiving an answer the questioner started toward the parish house.

ROBBERY AS MOTIVE SUGGESTED.

According to personal friends, Father Heslin purchased a small amount of stock in a Mexican oil property which has appreciated in value until it is now worth about $6500. The stocks were paying him a small dividend. The authorities here suggested that a robbery clew might be built on Rev. Heslin's possession of the stocks.

The reported value of the stock held by Father Heslin is the same as the amount of the ransom demanded for him by the mysterious letter writer who advised the archdiocese in San Francisco that he was holding the priest.

On Monday the Board of Supervisors is expected to take up the matter of printing the charter. The date of the election will depend upon the time required to print and distribute the copies of the proposed charter.

STATUS OF IRISH PEACE PARLEYS AGAIN SHROUDED

By EARLE C. REEVES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—A deep shroud of mystery continued today to veil the exact status of the Irish peace negotiations. So uncertain has the situation become, owing to the consistent official silence as to what is going on behind the scenes, that the press began today to speculate upon what will happen if it is suddenly announced that the pour parlers have broken down.

The Daily Express, conceding that this is a possibility, states that the government is overhauling its organization with a view of doing one of two things if the epoch making peace attempt should be suddenly declared a definite failure:

1. To appeal to the country to secure the passing of a new "Irish act."

2. To ask the country's approval of a policy to be adopted in case the Sinn Fein definitely refuses to accept the British government's offer. Either alternative would involve new elections, it is believed.

The "new policy" hinted at in the second would doubtless be one of "blood and iron" for there is no doubt anywhere that a break of negotiations would be followed promptly by a resumption of hostilities on an unprecedented scale.

The Daily Telegraph today published an interview with an unnamed authority on conditions in Ireland, who has just returned from that country. He declares that he was assured by priests and others in Ireland that if hostilities are resumed it will take at least three times the number of troops hitherto employed to "deal with the rebels."

The Telegraph's informant added that he met many Australians who have joined the Irish republican army and who are experts in bomb throwing, which they learned in the great war.

SEEK DIRECT NEGOTIATION.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Lieutenants of Eamonn de Valera and Sir James Craig were reported in conference today blazing the trail for direct negotiations between the Sinn Fein and Ulster leaders.

These intermediaries were supposed to be working to bring about the long postponed meeting between de Valera and Sir James.

Outlining the present status of peace negotiations, the Daily News today stated de Valera was confronted with the problem of obtaining an agreement with Ulster for peace.

Serious developments were feared for Monday when the government control over Irish railways ends. The railway workers are faced with wage reductions, although they demand continuance of the present scale. De Valera has appealed to labor throughout the isle, but it is said he is strongly opposed to a continuation of the present arrangement. This, it was feared, might provoke a break between de Valera and the wage workers.

ONE WILL BE HELD.

DUBLIN, Aug. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—All members of the Irish Republican Parliament now in custody will be released with one exception, in anticipation of the meeting of the parliament called for August 16. Official announcement that the prisoners would be freed was made today. The exception is John J. McKeown, convicted of the murder of District Inspector McGrath.

WAGE CUT PROTESTED.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—The four big railroad brotherhoods in Canada announced today they would jointly contest the 12 per cent wage cut, which has been put into effect on the Canadian railroads. They have applied to the government for a board of conciliation and a ten-day conference in Montreal.

Former Parishioners Pay Missing Priest Tribute

TURLOCK, Aug. 6.—Turlock, the home of the Rev. Father Patrick Heslin until two short weeks ago, is mystified by the sudden disappearance of the beloved padre.

Speculation as to his fate is on every lip. Members of the Sacred Heart church, of which he was pastor for six years, keep the telephones ringing as they ask one after the other whether anything has been learned of the fate of Father Heslin.

The parishioners seem to depend for information upon four persons, regarded as most closely in the priest's confidence. They are A. E. Sollars, proprietor of the Turlock Soda Works; Mrs. P. Rayhill, Owen Duffey, garage man, and Mrs Fred Kline.

From these four persons the the United Press gleaned information as to the intimate character of the man who has been kidnaped and is held for ransom by desperate characters.

Father Heslin is a man of kind emotions but of sudden temper when the principles upon which he relies are unjustifiably opposed, according to these friends of his. He is tender-hearted and the soul of honor, they say. He is of great physical and mental power, despite his 65 years. His figure is powerful. His weight was estimated about 210 and his height about 5 feet 10 inches.

UNYIELDING IN OPINIONS.

"Father Heslin was always uncompromising on matters of duty or principle," declared Sollars. "He was quick tempered and very outspoken and would stand by what he said, but so far as I know he had no enemies. He had no conceit, and I don't believe anyone here has a photograph of him. Father Heslin was always absolutely devoted to his work here. He would go through fire and water to administer the last rites at a deathbed.

"The ones who kidnaped him, if that is what happened, must have known this noble trait. He must have hurried with all speed to go away with the man who said a person was dying. During the serious "flu" epidemic here he was a busy man and never hesitated to go to a sick bed."

Sollars said Father Heslin would be the man to put up a strong fight if an attempt was made to overpower him. This might account for the statement in the "ransom letter" that he was unconscious from blows on the head. He would not submit while strength remained, according to his friends.

METHODICAL HABITS.

Mrs. Kline told how Father Heslin when he went to the city, always returned either by motor or train by 8 p. m., making it a matter of pride never to be away from the parish overnight except at the time of the annual retreat. She declared her belief that he had been murdered.

Mrs. Rayhill spoke of him as a "straightforward" man. Her telephone is a busy one these days, kept so by those who want to know whether she has heard from the priest.

In Duffy's garage is the padre's automobile which he left here to be sold. He informed his friends that the Colma parish would supply him with an automobile. This machine is reported as having been taken from the garage in Colma since the priest disappeared.

One and all, the friends of Father Heslin are at a loss to explain why he has been chosen for kidnaping. "I should think they would have chosen a better known man," said Sollars. "Yet he was very close to the Archbishop, and maybe this was known."

Father Heslin was transferred to the Colma church by Archbishop Hanna, who is said to entertain the theory that a priest should be moved every five years.

$500,000 FUND FOR PUEBLO IS RED CROSS PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—An estimate of $500,000 was made today by the American Red Cross as necessary for adequate relief work in Pueblo, Colo., although that would not cover a building program for homeless flood sufferers. The announcement said $350,000 had been subscribed by various Red Cross chapters and the public in response to President Harding's appeal.

Move to Shift New Court Is Inaugurated

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—A movement proposing that the new Northern California Federal Court be located in San Francisco instead of Sacramento has been started by Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, according to news received here today.

That Superior Judge Thomas Graham of San Francisco has been suggested by Senator Shortridge to fill the new post was further stated on the wires.

A bill was introduced in 1919 by Congressman Charles F. Curry, calling for the establishment of the new court in Sacramento, but the bill died in committee. On June 6, 1921, Shortridge introduced a measure providing for a new Federal Court in Northern California, but this bill does not specify where the new Federal Court is to be held.

Meanwhile a $60,000 court room is being prepared at Sacramento for a judge who is slated to sit in San Francisco.

Father Shot by Son When Caught Robbing Garage

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Robert Schon, while guarding his garage against burglars, shot and critically wounded his father early today. The father was carrying away several auto cushions when he fired, the son declared.

Recently Robert missed many articles from his garage. Auto tires and other accessories were missing.

Last night he lay in wait for the burglar. Shortly before dawn, a window crashed in and a dark form stealthily moved into the garage. After picking up the cushions, the robber started out the window. Robert fired four times and then rushed forward, grappling with the burglar. As he turned the man around, a ray of light from the street lamp showed upon the man's face and Robert saw for the first time he had wounded his father.

The elder Schon was booked on a charge of burglary with his son listed as the complainant.

GUIDED BY RADIO, ARMY CAR STIRS DAYTON TRAFFIC

Dayton, Ohio., Aug. 6.—Dayton traffic policemen rubbed their eyes when a miniature automobile sailed past all semaphores. There wasn't a soul in it.

It was a driverless radio automobile from McCook field, controlled by a radio in a car 100 feet behind it.

The automobile itself contained no wireless, and is said to be the first of its kind publicly exhibited by the radio air service.

Court to Investigate "Fighting Peddler"

The case of Herbert L. Davis of 2016 Curtis street, the "fighting peddler," now in the city jail, will come up on August 10, when the court will investigate his troubles. He was taken from the emergency hospital to the jail today. He is charged with intoxication, battery and resisting an officer.

When George Freeman of 547 Twenty-fourth street objected to Davis delivering potatoes by the front door, it is alleged that Davis sought battle. Freeman called patrolman H. M. Denlis, but Davis was not overawed, and, it is said, knocked the policeman down and sighed for more policemen. Freeman, however, got into the fight, and with Denlis' help subdued Davis.

TAXES CAN'T BE REPEALED BEFORE JANUARY 1, 1922

This Decision Is Tentatively Reached by Republicans On Committee.

By HERBERT W. WALKER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—No taxes can be repealed before January 1, 1922, Republican members of the House ways and means committee tentatively decided today.

If this plan is finally enacted, it would mean that business and wealthy individuals during the calendar year of 1922 would have to pay the excess profits and high surtaxes on the profits of 1921. Previously it was planned to repeal the excess profits and reduce the surtaxes as of January 1, 1921, thus lifting these levies after corporations and individuals had made provision to meet them.

The main reason for the change is the great need for revenue as shown by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's outline of the government fiscal situation. If the taxes are not repealed until next January more than $500,000,000 can be obtained from these levies. The previous plan was to make the 5 per cent increase in the flat corporation income tax also retroactive to January of this year, but under the new program this tax may never be enacted.

Death Threat Employed to Intimidate Bay Drug Sellers

"If you double cross me, they'll croak you."

This is the way a San Francisco dope peddler threatened a 16-year-old boy vender of narcotics.

Somewhere among the pool halls, saloons and disreputable dance halls of Oakland, 16-year-old boys are hearing the same threat from the "narcotic kings" as they peddle their destructive poisons among the habitues.

The story of the schoolboy who learned how to peddle "dope" and of his arrest just as he was about to become a victim of the habit, is told in a series of articles on Narcotics written for the TRIBUNE by George C. Henderson.

Test Case Starts On Nine-Hour Drug Law

Interpretation of the intent of the state law which established a maximum working day of nine hours or fifty-four hours a week, for those engaged in selling drugs or compounding prescriptions, is expected soon as a result of the test case begun before the United States Supreme court yesterday

Writs of habeas corpus were granted in two parallel cases, to Jesse Twing and Walter A Hankammer, of Los Angeles, by the court The writs were made returnable on October 17 in Los Angeles when hearings will be heard in that city on the October calendar.

Twing employed as a drug clerk in the store of Hankammer, was arrested Thursday on the charge of working more than nine hours a day It is contended in the application for the writ that part of this time was devoted to selling articles other than drugs

The decision is expected to prevent the multiplicity of suits which would be filed to determine whether the inhibition operated against the employment of a clerks working time in selling stationery, soda and candies It is felt that the intent of the law was to protect the public health by not allowing clerks to work on prescriptions for more than nine hours

IT KEEPS HIM IN FINE TRIM, SAYS THOS. JOHNSTON

"I'm a great believer in Tanlac. It's my old standby and I expect to always keep a bottle handy," said Thomas J. Johnston, 221 Farallone St., San Francisco, recently. Mr. Johnston has been a member of the San Francisco Fire Department, Station 33, for twenty-three years, and is undoubtedly one of the most efficient and popular men in the service.

"For nearly six years I was bothered with chronic indigestion," he stated, "and at times would have severe attacks. A peculiar thing about these attacks—they got to coming on at the same hour every afternoon and I just lived in dread of them all the time When they came on my stomach would turn sour and gas would form and I would be bothered awfully with water brash I quit eating a bite for breakfast and lunch to see if that would help, but those spells came on just the same and I became alarmed at the way I was going down hill.

"I tried everything I knew of, and finally, about a year ago, I ran across Tanlac. Well, I hadn't taken half a dozen doses before my stomach seemed to be soothed and I began to eat better. Those spells stopped and by the time I finished my fourth bottle I was feeling fine and could eat anything put on the table. Since then I have made it a rule to take a bottle of Tanlac every now and then and it keeps me in fine trim. I can't speak too well of Tanlac and if my experience will be of help to others I am glad to pass it along."

Tanlac is sold in Oakland by The Owl Drug Company and by leading druggists everywhere. — Advertisement.

WEBB TO TAKE CHARGE OF POLL TAX TEST CASE

State Attorney-General Will Personally Conduct the Prosecution.

State Attorney General U. S. Webb has written District Attorney Ezra Decota that he will personally conduct the prosecution of Heikichi Terui, Japanese, who is resisting the alien poll tax law, when Terui's application for a writ of habeas corpus comes up for hearing before the State Supreme court on September 6.

Terui, secretary of the Oakland Japanese Business Men's association, submitted to arrest for failing to register or pay the poll tax, in order that a test might be made of the constitutionality of the statute enacted by the last legislature.

ATTORNEYS ATTACK LAW.

Attorneys for the defense say the law is unconstitutional because it seeks to overrule a provision in the commercial treaty between the United States and Japan, in violation of the fourth article, and also the Fourteenth Amendment to the constitution of the United States. This article specifically says that all treaties between the United States and other nations shall stand as the supreme law and shall override state laws. The Fourteenth Amendment guarantees to aliens "within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws" of the United States.

The treaty with Japan specifically declares: "They (citizens of both United States and Japan) shall not be compelled, under any pretext whatever, to pay any charges or taxes other or higher than those that are or may be paid by native citizens or subjects."

PLAN TWO TEST CASES.

Attorneys for the defense say that two other test cases may be necessary to finally determine the status of the alien poll tax act, one test case to involve citizens of nations with which the United States has no treaty, and one test case involving citizens of nations with which the United States has treaties that do not contain the "favored nation" clause. Under the "favored nation" clause in a treaty both parties to the treaty may claim from the other all the privileges accorded any other nation by treaty or other agreement.

Same Funeral Ship Conveys Buddies Home

The hope that they would return home from France together has been fulfilled for Dennis Crowley and Ralph L. Dingman, Crockett youths, who had been boyhood chums and who were "buddies" during the war. But the voyage home was marked by none of the gay comaraderie of soldier pals, for the two chums, who had fallen on the field of battle within a day of each other, were brought back in a funeral ship, and later on the trip across the continent the caskets were side by side.

The circumstances of this remarkable war story were revived in Crockett today with the burial of Crowley, who died in the Argonne October 2, 1918. The body of Dingman, Crowley's lifelong chum, is lying in state at the Presidio, San Francisco, awaiting burial on August 17.

The two lads entered the service together in January, 1918, shortly after Crowley's marriage to Miss Helen Winkler. The young bridegroom and his chum were sent to Camp Lewis together. They were assigned to the same regiment and went through the same trials and perils in France. Dingman was killed October 1. Crowley made the supreme sacrifice the following day and when word reached Crockett of the double loss, the entire town went into mourning.

Even in death the two pals remained side by side. The arms of the white crosses that marked their resting place in France almost touched each other.

Later, when arrangements were made to bring home the bodies of America's soldier dead, the coffins that contained the bodies of Crowley and Dingman were returned on the same ship. They were side by side on the long train trip across the continent. The two boys, chums in life and, up to that moment, chums in death, separated at the Oakland pier. Crowley's body was sent to Crockett and Dingman's to the Presidio in San Francisco.

Today Crowley's funeral was held under the auspices of Crockett Post of the American Legion and the whole town turned out to honor his memory. His boyhood pal and wartime "buddy" was to have been laid to rest at almost the same time, but the funeral was delayed to allow relatives to come from the East.

ANOTHER MURRAY HEIR.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 6.—Another name to be added to the already large list of relatives contesting the will of the late James A. Murray, multi-millionaire mining man, developed yesterday when counsel involved in the case were notified that J. Ray Murray, a staff writer on the Exhibitors' Herald, Chicago, as a nephew, will seek to share in the division of the property. J. E. Murray, Butte lawyer, said he does not know J. Ray Murray, but believes he is the son of Tom Murray, a deceased brother of the late mining man. Murray left an estate estimated at $15,000,000.

SUSPECT IS HELD.

NEWMAN, Aug. 6.—Fred W. Hilbert, in jail at Modesto facing a robbery and attempted assault charge, is suspected of looting the H. C. Fries hardware store here a year ago, in which a number of revolvers, some shotguns and other articles were taken. All but a shotgun and a revolver were later found where they had been hidden in a lumberyard and a box car. Fries will go to Modesto in an effort to identify Hilbert.

The passage of a resolution urging the supervisors to appropriate $25,000 as the county's share of the proposed fund for advertising Alameda county and the pledging of the heads of various organizations present to individual as well as organization support in helping to get the money, were developments of the meeting of the Alameda county advertising committee at the Merchants' Exchange last night. A committee, headed by J. C. Downey, was also appointed to visit the various organization officials throughout the county for the purpose of inviting them to go in a body before the supervisors to urge the appropriation at a date to be fixed later.

PLANS ARE OUTLINED.

The passing of the resolution favoring the county's appropriation followed outline of the plan for advertising the county in the East as a home, industrial, educational and agricultural center. The details of how it is proposed to spend the money were told by Irving H. Kahn, chairman of the sub-committee on finance, who declared that unless the $25,000 which the supervisors is asked to appropriate is given it would be inadvisable to go ahead with the campaign. In urging action to secure the appropriation, Kahn said:

"We are faced with an unusual problem in Oakland. Our school population is growing faster than the assessed value of our property. Therefore a big percentage of our income from taxation goes for educational purposes. To overcome this we must bring in industries that will furnish employment; we must bring in more industries and increase our land values. At the present time one industry is more valuable to us than 300 families.

"Oakland has fared better than any city of the Pacific Coast, yet we are now on the decline in manufacturing. When shipping again becomes normal our shipyards will have plenty to do, but in the meantime we must increase our land values with the bringing of new industries, new plants and new businesses. When we have secured sufficient industries to supply work to every man in the county, then our land values will increase. And to secure these industries we must advertise. There is no limit really to what we should do if we but could.

TOURISTS AS BOOSTERS.

"The best advertisers of California are the tourists we bring here through our pamphlets and folders. It is these people who find out for themselves that California is really a wonderful place. They go home and tell their friends. Their friends come to look and thousands of them stay here. They bring with them wealth and the purchasing power of their money only helps to increase our real values. To get the needed industries and to bring these people here, we must let them know what we have to offer them. And the sooner we wake up to the fact that the sooner we tell them what we have the sooner we will begin to grow and expand, the better off Alameda county will be.

"We actually need this money. It isn't much we are asking the county to give for this cause. The man who pays taxes on $3000 would have to pay about 30 cents more, while the big taxpayer would probably have to pay $400 as a result of the appropriation. But the big men realize the necessity of expending this money, and they are not the ones who will complain. The man who would complain is the man who does not understand the real values of advertising.

COUNTY TO START FUND.

"If the county will give $25,000, the city $10,000, the rest can be raised through the various organizations. The last $10,000 we will not have to worry about. It is the initial amount that we must have in order to get the other amounts. Without it we might as well give up. The budget can be carried out in full if the $45,000 or $50,000 is raised."

The most needful thing, Kahn declared, is printed literature with which to answer hundreds of queries that come in each week concerning facts about Alameda county. The Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Exchange have received the burden of this work and find it impossible financially to take care of it properly.

"Advertising as a business is done, first, because it pays," said Kahn, "and, second, to compete with a competitor who jumps in and does a lot of advertising right when the more conservative man is trying to cut down expenses. Naturally we must advertise if we hope to keep up with the competitor.

ACTIVE COMPETITORS.

"San Francisco and Los Angeles are our competitors, and they are going the limit on advertising. When Seattle's shipyards closed and that city faced a loss of population, it spent $100,000 advertising. With the competition of other coast cities, Oakland can not afford to remain silent. We must make ourselves heard afar, and we can make our voice heard with $50,000. There should be concerted action to lay this matter before the Board of Supervisors and before the Oakland city council to secure the appropriations required to make this proposed campaign a success."

Fred Reed, real estate dealer, explained the law governing county appropriations for advertising purposes. Two cents out of each dollar is the amount allowed by law. This amount has never been spent by Alameda county.

"No institution can advertise as profitably as a community can," said Reed. "First a city must have what the average investor wants, and then that city must tell the world what it has to offer. Oakland only has to tell her physical assets to sell herself. In no other place in the world is there to be found such inducements to the average home builder as right here. Our mean temperature is 58 degrees. Scientists have found that the degree of perfection is 59. We have the lowest death rate of any city our size in America. One lives longer in Oakland and has better health than in any other place in America. We have the facts to prove that. Give those facts to the people outside and they will flock here. They have never been told that. It is the greatest selling point we have, and one that no other city can boast.

"We need a realization of the truth ourselves. That is the trouble with us; we don't realize what we have and many do not even take the trouble to find out."

Others who urged that the plans for the campaign be carried out were E. K. Taylor, of Alameda, and Carl Strom, president of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce. The passing of the resolution, calling upon the various organizations to visit the Supervisors in a body to urge the appropriation, and itself urging the Supervisors to act, followed.

IRVING KAHN, Oakland merchant, who told the Alameda Advertising Committee of the reasons for advertising a community

CAINE MAKES PLEA.

The resolution was offered by Joseph Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. In asking the delegates to adopt it, he said:

"It is our own fault if we do not get this appropriation."

Some of the money it is proposed to spend in the preparation of a series of pamphlets descriptive of the county, its various sections, and of the entire county from the various viewpoints, as agricultural, industrial and educational possibilities. The remainder will be spent to buy advertising space in newspapers outside the state and in trade and technical publications appealing to the builders and managers of industries that may be looking for sites for western factories.

The executive committee of the Alameda County Advertising Committee which has had charge of the plan for advertising includes: J. C. Downey, Oakland, chairman; A. W. Beam, Hayward; E. K. Taylor, Alameda; T. W. Norris, Livermore; A. S. Weaver, San Leandro; F. H. Thatcher, Berkeley; Louis Aber, Oakland; Charles Gale, Pleasanton, and Nelson N. Scotchler, Berkeley.

PLANS FOR FINANCE.

Tentative plans for financing the campaign have been worked out by the sub-committee on finance of the general committee. This committee consists of J. H. Kahn, chairman; F. Bruce Maiden, Harry G. Williams, George Meredith and George E. Sheldon, of Oakland; Frank Naylor, Roy Long, Hall Blther and F. H. Thatcher, of Berkeley; Carl Strom, D. A. Eberly and Albert Latham, of Alameda; C. L. Crellin, of Pleasanton; William T. Knightly, of Hayward, and J. E. Faustina, of San Leandro.

Under this plan the board of supervisors will be asked to appropriate $25,000 toward the fund. Of the balance $14,576 is to be raised by the various cities of the county according to population, and $10,425 by subscription of firms and individuals.

Cities of the county have been assigned quotas as follows:

	Population.	Quota.

FOUR VICTIMS OF AUTO CRASH WAIT HOUR FOR RELIEF

Girl in Car That Falls Over Dublin Highway Embankment May Lose Life.

Four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in an automobile accident on the Dublin highway last night which occurred when the automobile in which they were riding crashed over an embankment and off of the road.

They were treated at the county hospital and two of them removed to Providence hospital today.

The injured are:

Miss Violet Sinclair, 3617 Twenty-third street, San Francisco, possible fracture of the skull; now at Providence hospital, under care of Dr. Farley Musser.

Albert Fragner, 340 Nineteenth street, Oakland; suffering from a bad cut on the face; also at Providence hospital under care of Dr. Musser.

Walter Fragner, brother, same address; minor cuts and bruises.

Julia Jones, San Francisco; minor cuts and bruises.

After their automobile crashed off the road the injured lay more than an hour before they could summon aid and finally be removed to the county hospital in an ambulance.

The accident occurred on the Dublin road just a half-mile west of the long hill.

BASE METAL IN GOLD NOW FOUND BY PHOTOGRAPH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Perfection by the Bureau of Standards of a spectroscopic analysis of gold has given the U. S. treasury a method which, it is declared, will measure the fineness of the metal "more accurately than one part in a million.

"The method is described as consisting of "small electric sparks leaping between two sticks of gold," photographs of the sparks taken through a "diffraction grating" showing at once the presence of the most minute particles of baser metals. Tests just completed showed that the 1,000 "fine gold" of the San Francisco Mint, the highest grade, was only 99.997 pure. Specially minted samples were passed by the new device as 99.999 per cent pure.

THIEF CARRIES AWAY 150 TREES FROM ORCHARD

HAMILTON, Ohio, Aug. 6.—The police today sought a thief who stole an orchard of 150 trees. The only clews police have are a criss-cross of footprints in the place where the saplings were.

Vaccination Held Not Compulsory

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — No child may hereafter be excluded from the public schools of California by the authorities because of failure to show a certificate of successful smallpox vaccination, according to a ruling made yesterday by Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood, on legislation passed at the last session of the legislature repealing the vaccination law of 1911. Wood's ruling was made in reply to inquiries made by members of the San Francisco City Board of Education and others concerning the present status of vaccination in the public schools.

In the ruling Wood cites that under the new law the control of smallpox in any locality is left under the supervision of the State Board of Health.

ADVERTISING AS THING OF BEAUTY, SPEAKER'S TOPIC

Optimistis' Club Hears Plea for Esthetic in Every-day Life.

"Beauty in the world is our one great compensation for living," declared William H. Duncan, sales manager for Foster & Kleiser, an outdoor advertising firm, yesterday, in an address before the Oakland Optimists' Club at Richards' cafe.

The speaker holds a brief for beauty in business in general and in particular in advertising matter. In this connection he paid tribute to the newspaper advertising of the bay region, declaring it to be on the whole the most beautiful in all the newspapers of America.

"Advertising was built by the public. Paid publicity was an experiment 100 years ago and the experimenters learned the lesson that advertised goods would sell much better than unadvertised goods. Up until ten years ago advertising was a horrible monster; it was the ugliest thing in the world.

"Now all newspaper and magazine advertising is designed from an artistic viewpoint by a trained artist with a view to creating something of simple, attractive design which it will be a pleasure to read.

"In some magazines the writers who write the ads and the artists who design them are often of higher standing in their profession than the writers who write the stories and the artists who illustrate them."

Duncan declared that the modern trend in art is for a greater appreciation of the role of color, reflecting "a love of color for color's sake."

Bradshaw's Wife Asks Probation; Offers to Help

Accused Bank Teller Fails to Plead Guilty, in Absence of His Attorneys.

MARTINEZ, Aug. 6.—Lester J. Bradshaw did not plead guilty yesterday to embezzling $10,000 from the First National Bank of Richmond, as he had announced yesterday he would do. Failure of his attorneys to arrive here was given as the cause, and it was announced his appearance in court probably would be postponed until Monday. Bradshaw, who formerly was paying teller of the bank, was captured in Australia.

His wife, who accompanied him to Australia, came here yesterday from Oakland and told the police that if Bradshaw was released on probation she would help him earn the money to reimburse the bank for its loss.

Mrs. Bradshaw said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Becker of Seattle, were en route here to attend Bradshaw's trial, not having heard that he had withdrawn his plea of not guilty.

"STRANGER" IN WANDERER CASE IS IDENTIFIED

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. — The "Ragged Stranger," who is alleged to have been duped into a fake hold-up by Carl Wanderer, convicted of the murder of his wife, her unborn child and the "stranger," was given a name today. Edward Ryan.

The identification was made several months ago, but Mrs. Ryan said she was unable to bear the expense of burial and so remained silent. Edward, she said, found a home in Redfield, S. D., after his father died.

Wanderer was reprieved last Friday for a month to allow a sanity commission to examine him.

Only in Sunday's Edition of Oakland Tribune Will These Features Appear

Edwin N. Hurley, former head of the United States Shipping Board, one of America's most successful business men and a keen observer, has been in Europe several weeks making a study of the economic and industrial situation. Before sailing he consulted at some length with President Harding. Some of his conclusions set forth in his cable to the Sunday TRIBUNE throw an illuminating light on international questions now uppermost in the public mind. His views as to the coming disarmament conference in Washington are of striking interest.

Maximilian Harden, Berlin publicist, sees numerous dangers ahead for Germany, not the least of which is the possible overthrow of the Wirth government by a combined force of monarchists and capitalists who may seize the whole state apparatus at any time. Threatened famine, due to shortage of crops and hatred of France are also regarded as a menace to the nation.

Last Sunday; it was Tardieu writing from Paris, who declared that France and England were drifting apart. This week, George N. Barnes, from his seat in the House of Commons, cables The TRIBUNE in a similar vein. He says that differences in interest and temperament between the two peoples are cropping up all the time but he asserts that France's fear and hatred of Germany is responsible for the disturbed condition of affairs in Europe.

Moved by America taking the lead, European premiers have agreed that the Russian famine situation shall be taken up at the meetings of the allied supreme council next week, says William Bird. There are many pitfalls in the way of a concerted plan of relief, the chief one of which is that Germany would have to play a major role and probably reap the major benefit and this is displeasing to some European statesmen.

A settlement of the dispute between France and Great Britain over the Silesia affair is not entirely pleasing to Andre Tardieu, former French high commissioner to America. He defends his country against the charge of false motives and states the position of France, based on the terms of the Versailles treaty.

The big interests of the country, producers, manufacturers, distributors and retailers, according to Harden Colfax, have formed a club at Washington. Their purpose is to tackle, in an informal way, all industrial and economic problems.

Easier credits have been granted the farmers by a bill just passed in the Senate, says Ralph Burton, but what agriculture most needs is relief from the burdens imposed by high transportation rates. In some instances, he cites, it does not pay the producer to ship his wares to market.

While Congress is struggling with the tariff bill, the problem that is giving administration leaders real alarm, says Robert T. Small, is the matter of reducing taxes. Every effort to make the promised cut meets with some obstacle and it will require real political skill to comply with the demands of the people of the nation in this respect.

Commercial and commodity rather than the financial market furnish the significant developments of the week affecting Wall street, says Stuart P. West. The situation regarding sugar, cotton and copper is bad, he says, and rails are practically the only stocks that have shown any advance.

The magazine section of The Sunday TRIBUNE will contain an unusual number of excellent features. "The Dope Plague—30,000 Victims in the Bay Cities," by George C. Henderson, will prove an eye-opener to the citizen who has not kept in touch with the deluge of narcotics flooding our shores.

"Kit Carson and the Trail He Blazed," by May S. Corcoran, gives a record of the famous trip to California made by Captain Fremont when he was guided to the summit of the Sierras and beyond by the intrepid Kit Carson, greatest of all the scouts.

"The Days of His Youth," by John Peter Toohey, is a fascinating short story, complete in the Sunday issue. Stage folk and their joys and griefs form the background for this entertaining tale.

"The Bride of Mission San Jose" takes one into a new episode in the novel. Dr. Cull has here written some of his finest passages.

Frederick O'Brien in "Mystic Isles of the South Seas" throws interesting light on some of the seafaring characters who haunt the southern ports.

Geraldine discusses "Passing the Buck," in the course of which she airs some of her views on modern psychology, which she calls "mental dynamite."

The Knave has gleaned from the events of the week some of the rare gems of human thought and action, which he passes in review for the edification of his numerous readers.

War Veterans to Have Big Day at Eden Show

HAYWARD, Aug. 6.—One week from today will be Veterans' Day at the big Eden Township Farm Products Show which opens here on the 11th of August. Fifty wounded war heroes from the Letterman hospital in San Francisco are expected at the fair on that day. They will be the guests of the local post of the American Legion and the executives of the Farm Products Show Association.

Many special feature stunts have been arranged for the Saturday of the show. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon 500 pigeons belonging to members of the Pacific Homing Pigeon club in Alameda county will be released at the show grounds. Prizes have been offered the first, second and third pigeon "homed" in this race. Arrival of the pigeons will be telephoned to the fair grounds and the returns posted on the bulletin board to be maintained by The Oakland TRIBUNE.

At 2:15 Saturday afternoon the Mary Jane and Buster Brown program which immediately preceeds the annual baby show, will be given under the direction of Mrs. T. L. Kelly and her committee. The baby show will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon. The first of the twins' entries was registered by acting Secretary J. E. Welsh at the show headquarters on Castro street, today. The children are George Edward and Richard James Bell, seven-months-old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Bell of Hayward. They are entered for sweepstakes in the duet class and, according to Welsh, are "sure enough winners."

TENTS ARE UP.

Today at the show grounds the erection of the giant tents is complete. Work on the interior decorations and lighting is being rushed by the committee in charge of Jacob Harder. Great stress will be laid on ornamental lighting of the coming Farm Products Show. Illuminated name plates for the exhibitors' booths in the industrial tent will be one of the features planned by the arrangements committee. Scientific arrangement of the flood lights both within the tents and on the grounds will insure a perfect night exhibition at the coming show, states Harder.

The work of allotting space for the concessions and marking off the ground for the "big tops" once completed, the interior decoration will be rushed and everything will be in readiness for the receipt of entries by Tuesday night, according to the committee. A new entrance to the industrial tent will be created by the committee this year, states Harder. This entrance will be on the Hayward end of the tent. A special car stop will be made. The concessions entrance and the main entrance to the dance pavilion, the live stock exhibition and the pageant grounds will remain at the upper end of the park, where the regular entrance to Laurel Grove is now situated. The concessions will be situated between the main entrance to the grounds and the dancing pavilion. The live stock tent will be placed farther up the park toward the grove that gives this particular spot its name. Beyond the live stock tent lies beautiful Laurel Grove canyon, an ideal place for picnic parties. No automobile parking will be allowed within the fair grounds on account of the congestion created by the enormous tents and numerous concessions on the lower grounds.

There will be plenty of room on adjacent lots and spaces selected by the committee for automobile parking purposes, for a great percentage of the cars expected at the coming show, state the committee.

On the left of the upper gate to the fair grounds will be one entrance to the industrial tent and a little beyond the main entrance to the canvas house of the poultry and pigeon show. Both entrances will face the concession booths across what has been named by the publicity committee "Fatima Alley." The Mardi Gras planned by this committee for the last day of the show, Sunday, August 14, will be held at this point, according to L. Howard Rogers, chairman of this committee. Many other special stunts have been prepared by this committee for every day of the show.

In accordance with the ruling of the executive committee of the Eden Township Farm Products Show made at their last regular meeting Thursday evening, August 4, the big outdoor pageant to be held on the fair grounds the Friday evening of the show, will be free. It had been the intention of the committee to charge an additional twenty-five and fifty cents for this feature. Under the present ruling all expenses connected with the pageant will be born by the executive committee. The pageant is to be the main feature of Oakland Day. A large delegation from Oakland is expected at the show that evening.

Special street cars will leave the Chamber of Commerce headquarters at the Hotel Oakland at 7 o'clock Friday evening, according to the committee in charge. The Oaklanders will arrive at the fair grounds about 8 p. m. and will take in the pageant and the big show in general. Dancing in the park pavilion will follow the pageant. An eight-piece jazz orchestra has been hired by the show association. The dances will be held under the supervision of a special committee acting in co-operation with the local authorities.

BIG STREET PARADE.

The 1921 Eden Township Farm Products Show opens with a gala street parade and band concert Thursday afternoon at 1 p. m. The show will open at 10 o'clock in the morning on the following Friday, Saturday and Sunday, closing at 12 midnight, the final closing of the big four days' fair being midnight of Sunday, August 14. There will be "something doing every minute" up till the very last second, states the general committee in charge. Season tickets to the fair are being sold for $1.00, the gate charge will be 25c, children under ten years free. Charges for auto parking space will be made by the private concerns operating this service, according to the arrangements committee.

INJUNCTION LIFTS POLICE BAN UPON 'CLANSMAN' FILM

Theater Plans to Show Race Picture Despite Fears of Disorders.

Armed with a court injunction which will prevent police from interfering with his theater, J. J. MacArthur, lessee of the MacArthur theater, at noon announced that "The Clansman," which he has booked for an indefinite showing at the theater, would go on today.

Since the announcement a week ago that the Griffith picture was to be shown at the theater, a large number of colored citizens of the city have protested to Chief of Police James E. Drew against the exhibition. They contended that the picture would tend to cause high racial feeling which might result in serious disorder here.

As a result Chief Drew this morning, less than two hours before the scheduled time for the theater to open, announced that he would not allow the picture to be shown.

MacArthur went to the Superior court and applied for an injunction to stop police interference, which was granted him by Superior Judge Joseph P. Koford. Armed with the injunction MacArthur announced his determination to show the picture, but at 1 o'clock started a private showing of the picture with an audience including local colored citizens, and Chief Drew, with a view to editing objectionable portions of the film.

Relentless Hunt, Murder of Man, Told by Women

Nurse Tells Court How She Hounded Victim; Exults Over His Slaying.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The story of how she hunted and hounded Ellis Kinkead, prominent Cincinnati lawyer, was told today by Miss Olivia Stone, who shot and killed him on a street corner in Brooklyn late yesterday.

She declared she forced him to resign from the Cincinnati Law School, hired detectives to pursue him when he tried to flee from her, that she "showed him up to his friends," lay in wait for him at his office in New York, continued the relentless chase for months, indefatigable in her determination to confront him, and finally met him face to face near his home in Brooklyn.

"When I saw him crossing the street I approached him and said 'How do you do, Mr. Ellis Kinkead, you dirty rat,'" she declared.

"Then an awful chill came over me. I don't know what I did. I was so excited. I felt as if I could jump from New York to Mexico without any difficulty."

NURSE TELLS STORY.

Miss Stone told her story after she had been arraigned in a Brooklyn court on a charge of homicide and held without bail for hearing Tuesday.

"Don't you regret the shooting?" she was asked. The woman smiled and waved her hand.

"Regret it—no. I'm the happiest woman in the world.

"Ellis Kinkead is not in the place where the dawn comes up like thunder."

She described how she met Kinkead in Cincinnati, where she was a graduate nurse, and how she accompanied him to Atlantic City, where he made love to her.

GIRL HIRES DETECTIVES.

"Oh, my, but Kinkead was a very fast worker when he began to make love to me," said Miss Stone. "He asked me for $1000 to invest. I gave it to him and never saw it again. I believe he spent it on the Gormley girl. (Now his wife.) I could see his love was waning and decided he must marry me. The dean of the Cincinnati Law school, where he was on the faculty, said he must marry me or be discharged. I got him discharged all right. This was in 1920.

"Then he married and disappeared. His friends said he had gone to England. I hired the best detectives and they located him in New York in ten days.

"I retained Theodore Horseman, Cincinnati lawyer, to represent me in a divorce action, as Kinkead had made me his common law wife. I got a judgment of $5000 for alimony, but never got a cent of it.

"Then I followed him to New York."

WOMEN WORKERS IN CITY SHOW SMALL INCREASE

Gain During Past Ten Years Is But 2.1 Per Cent; L. A. Unchanged.

Increase in the number of working women in the past ten years is statistically presented in a preliminary bulletin of the Fourteenth Census, taken early in 1920, which indicates an increase in the number of women engaged in gainful occupations in 1920 as compared with 1910.

The figures contained in the bulletin cover the status of all persons over 10 years of age with regard to "gainful occupations."

In 1910, 20.9 per cent of all women in Oakland more than 10 years of age were employed. In 1920, the percentage had risen to 23 per cent. It was said today by observers that the percentage increase was rather lower than was expected.

Oaklanders during the decade as a whole became more industrious, for while but 45.5 per cent of the city's population was working at gainful occupations in 1910, the new census indicates that 53.3 per cent of it was working in 1920.

MANUFACTURING HIGHEST.

The type of occupation predominating is the manufacturing and industrial lines, showing this city to be definitely a manufacturing city.

Of all the workers employed in 1920, numbering 98,417 or 53.3 per cent, they were divided according to type of occupation as follows:

	Number.	Pct.
Manufacturing	38,715	39.3
Transportation	9,753	9.7
Trade	15,682	15.9
Public service	1,887	1.9
Professional service	7,651	7.8
Domestic service	11,216	11.4
Clerical operations	11,606	11.8
All other	2,107	2.1

The census bureau has also made public preliminary analysis of this kind for the cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The percentage of total population employed in 1920 in San Francisco was 53.5, as compared with 53.7 in 1910, showing a decrease of 1.2 per cent.

L. A. IS UNCHANGED.

The percentage of total population employed in 1920 in Los Angeles was 46.1, which is exactly the same as the percentage for 1920.

The class of occupation by percentage for San Francisco and Los Angeles in 1920 is as follows:

	S. F. Pct.	L. A. Pct.
Manufacturing	30.0	31.7
Transportation	10.1	8.6
Trade	16.5	18.6
Public service	5.8	2.
Professional service	7.5	11.
Domestic service	12.4	12.2
Clerical	14.2	11.4
All other	1.8	4.5

S. F. TO OPPOSE REDISTRICTING OF STATE PLAN

L. A. Senators Declare They Will Force Measure Through.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Senators and assemblymen of San Francisco, following a luncheon meeting yesterday, refused to consider any reapportionment of the senatorial and assembly districts at the special session of the legislature this fall. This decision was reached when Senator Charles W. Lyon of Los Angeles and Harry Hill, representative of the Better American Federation, came to San Francisco to propose a compromise in the matter of redistricting the state. They were informed by the local legislators that the San Francisco delegation would not enter into any bargain on reapportionment and most likely would oppose any plan for redistricting the state.

According to members of both the San Francisco and Los Angeles delegations this means that a real fight will develop when the special session of the legislature opens this fall. Lyon's proposition contemplated giving to Los Angeles two additional senators and taking away from San Francisco one representative in the upper house.

When Lyon was informed as to the stand of the San Francisco legislators he said:

"All right. If San Francisco won't join with us in making up a reapportionment program we will go out into the interior counties of the state and get enough votes to put through our own reapportionment bill."

It was decided after the meeting to get in touch with all senators and assemblymen who stood with the San Francisco delegation last winter in the fight to beat the Boggs redistricting bill and agree upon a campaign to beat the proposed reapportionment measure. The local legislators favor giving Northern California the balance of power in the legislature if the reapportionment bill cannot be defeated.

The proposed reapportionment bill would give Los Angeles 20 assemblymen instead of 21, as provided in the Boggs bill, defeated in the last legislature, and San Francisco would keep its present 13 assemblymen instead of the 12 provided in the defeated bill. The Los Angeles offer would increase the Los Angeles senatorial delegation from eight to ten and reduce the San Francisco delegation from seven to six.

CARD AND DICE SHARKS DISPLAY SKILL IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Walter Logan, expert card manipulator, and Sheridan Taylor, dice thrower, each ignorant of the other's accomplishments, met yesterday and determined to play a game. Logan encountered Taylor and the latter suggested that they go to his hotel and shoot craps. En route Logan persuaded Taylor to play cards instead. Before they had a chance to begin Detectives Hoertkorn and Harrison encountered them and took them into custody. Today they were before Police Judge Jacks. Logan demonstrated for the benefit of the court that he could deal from the deck any hand that might be called for and otherwise mystified magistrate and spectators. Taylor threw a seven or an eleven or any other numeral demanded of him in skillful fashion. It was he, however, who said after the court had dismissed the case and he had watched with open eyes Logan's demonstration:

"Oh, boy, how he would have taken me into camp, if the detectives hadn't saved me."

Lowney, who confessed to the holdup of the Pacific Oil and Lead Works plant following his capture, 24 hours after its perpetration, was released on probation today by Superior Judge Harold Louderback. Members of the concern joined with his counsel, Attorney Charles Brennan, in asking for leniency, declaring that he had been a faithful employee of the corporation and in a few years more would have been superintendent had he continued to give his usual valuable service. It was shown that he had committed the robbery on impulse in order to satisfy creditors in an importing and exporting venture that had gone wrong.

SECRETARY DAVIS, ROOSEVELT MOVE TO AVERT STRIKE

Labor and Navy Heads Seek to Conciliate Oil Men of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Telegrams from Secretary of Labor Davis and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, saying that every effort will be made by their departments to compose the differences which threaten a general strike in the oil fields and oil refineries of the state, were received here today by Walker J. Yarrow, counselor for the district council of oil workers. The vote of 15,000 of the 20,000 oil workers in the state to go out on strike on September 1, if some of the operators persist in their refusal to meet the government and the men to effect new settlements, is in Yarrow's hands today and is "almost unanimous for the demonstration," Yarrow announced.

"We are willing to consent to a reduction of wages if it is economically justified," Yarrow said. "Our chief points of difference is the refusal of some of the operators to meet with the government."

Yarrow said he was advised today that one of the biggest companies, employing one-sixth of all the workers involved, had agreed to meet with the government and men.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 6. — Nine hundred members of the Kern River local No. 19 of Oil Workers, unanimously voted to strike on September 1, if the oil operators persist in refusing to accede to the demand of the government for a tripartite conference on the question of wages and adjustment in working conditions. During the meeting R. H. Fraser, member of the district council from the local union, which met in San Francisco Tuesday and Wednesday announced he had received telephonic advices from San Francisco from Walter J. Yarrow, adviser to the spokesman for district No. 1 of the oil workers, saying that there had been a break in the oil operators' ranks and that "more than one of the most important operators" had announced their intention of entering a wage conference with the government and the oil workers.

Jack Griffin, veteran automobile man, who is now associated with the management of the Los Angeles Speedway, tells a good story on himself and Al Waddell.

Back in 1915, when Cap. Waddell was automobile editor on a Los Angeles paper and Griffin was publicity man on the coast for the Maxwell, under Tom Toner, the pair promoted a tour up the coast from Tia Juana to Canada. The object of the trip was to have their car confiscated by the Canadian government for publicity purposes mostly. This was accomplished with ease and the Maxwell car became an international issue. For weeks the papers all over the country were full of the stories of the action of the Canadian government in the case of the Maxwell car and the boys, Griffin and Waddell.

Before checking out at Tia Juana the boys stepped in to try their luck at the wheel. The result was rather hard to take and Griffin decided to recuperate on the African golf course. The result here was also disastrous and the boys had to travel on short rations all the way up to Eureka, where aid was received in the form of a check from the Maxwell plant in the East.

The time of plenty followed the time of famine and for a week the town of Eureka saw a lot of the Maxwell and its crew, but when time came to move on the bank account was again low and there was no more relief in sight until they reached Seattle, where another expense check was to be on hand.

With but $7.50 between them, Waddell and Griffin alternated at the wheel until Waddell hit a huge redwood log which had fallen beside the fern-fringed highway through the forest. The front axle was knocked out of line and for almost twenty miles the front wheel dragged and it was almost impossible to steer the car. At last the travelers came to a small blacksmith shop in the mountains beyond Crescent City.

The car was jacked up and the front axle removed. It was heated and straightened; then placed back in the car.

With fear and trembling and wondering how much the smith would allow on his watch, Griffin asked the price of the job. He fingered the small capital of the party as the smith figured.

"Lets see" said the smithy, as he looked at his watch and figured the time. "I make it just about three hours and three hours at two-bits an hour is six-bits. Think that's too much?"

Griffin almost fell over and Waddell steadied himself against the car. At least they would eat once or twice before reaching Seattle as the gas tank was full and in those days gasoline was not as high as it is today.

Griffin didn't want to spoil the smith so he gave him one dollar and he said it was the easiest dollar he ever made.

MECHANICS TAKE DOLLAR-DAY CUT

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 6.—The building trades mechanics of Bakersfield will accept a wage cut of $1 a day on September 1. Stimulated building activity, amicable relationships between employer and employe, and the launching of a movement for reduced living costs in this city were factors announced by the Kern County Building Trades Council as having been considered by them in formulating the agreement under which the wage cut will be accepted, and which was approved by the Bakersfield Builders' Exchange.

The agreement affecting 750 workers will be effective for one year. If other agencies dispensing living commodities follow their lead, the building workers announced, and the cost of living decreases here in proportion to their wage cut, they will continue working under the new scale, but if the cost of living does not come down, they will demand additional compensation.

Statistics compiled by the Trades Council showed that a family of five live here $4.43 a week cheaper than it could one year ago. The workers lost $5.50 a week by the wage cut.

FERRY COMPANY GETS ULTIMATUM

After a conference with the entire membership of the city council and a visit to the western waterfront officials of the Six Minute Ferry Company today began considering whether they will seek a terminal at the end of the future Fourteenth street, where Mayor Davie wants them to go, or whether they will try to build their slip at the end of the Albers wharf, where Commissioner Soderberg granted them a month-to-month lease.

Mayor Davie says the ferry company will build its slip at the end of Fourteenth street or not at all.

The conference yesterday afternoon came at the end of several others, the ferry company having expressed a desire to know just where it stood. Mayor Davie and Commissioners Carter, Colbourn and Baccus met the representatives of the ferry company at the mayor's office and then viewed the whole waterfront.

The ferry officials said that while they might consider the Fourteenth street project, the street is now a marsh and it is a question of how long before it can be made a street. The officials said they expected to have the work done by the time the company's boats are built.

"Here is the situation," said Mayor Davie. "Seventh street will not do. There are too many railroad tracks, grade crossings and other impediments. Seventh street is crowded with traffic. West Fourteenth street can be an auto boulevard to the ferries."

"Seventh street will not do," agreed Commissioner Carter.

PRESS REFLECTS DISTRICT SPIRIT, SAYS BRISBANE

If You Don't Like What You See in Papers, Change Community, He Urges.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The modern newspaper is a mirror reflecting the community in which it lives declared Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Evening Journal, in an address here yesterday before the Commonwealth Club.

"You will say there are different kinds of newspapers. There are also different kinds of classes of people in the community. The 'Police Gazette' is a mirror, so is the 'Christian Science Monitor,'" Brisbane continued. "If a man looking in the mirror does not like what he sees, he should change his face, or at least his expression, not break the mirror. So, when a community looks upon the news pages or editorial page of a newspaper, if it does not like what it sees it should change the community.

"The daily newspaper is today what the public square was in ancient Greece. All the hundred millions of Americans able to read meet together every morning in the columns of the newspapers. They see at the same time the same news, they know what has happened, they know what men in office have said and done.

PAPERS REPLACE SQUARE.

"The people of this country could not meet in a public square, but through the newspapers having all the facts before them at the same hour every morning and every evening, they are able to think as a unit, and despite our bigness that spreads from ocean to ocean, they are able to govern themselves."

Brisbane also spoke before the B'nai B'rith at 149 Eddy street, paying tribute to the three great Jews of later times—Rothschild, Disraeli and Spinoza.

"Rothschild," he said, "represents the stability and permanence of the Jews. The Rothschild family stands today the mark of energy, conservatism and commercial ability.

"Next comes Disraeli, a greater Jew. He appeared in the House of Commons in fancy waistcoats and was hooted down. But he declared that the House of Commons should listen to him, and it did. He had not time to make money for himself, but he got the Suez Canal for England. There is romance in the story of Disraeli. His ancestors came to England from Judea, when the barbarous islanders were painting their stomachs blue. Later Disraeli made Victoria Empress of India.

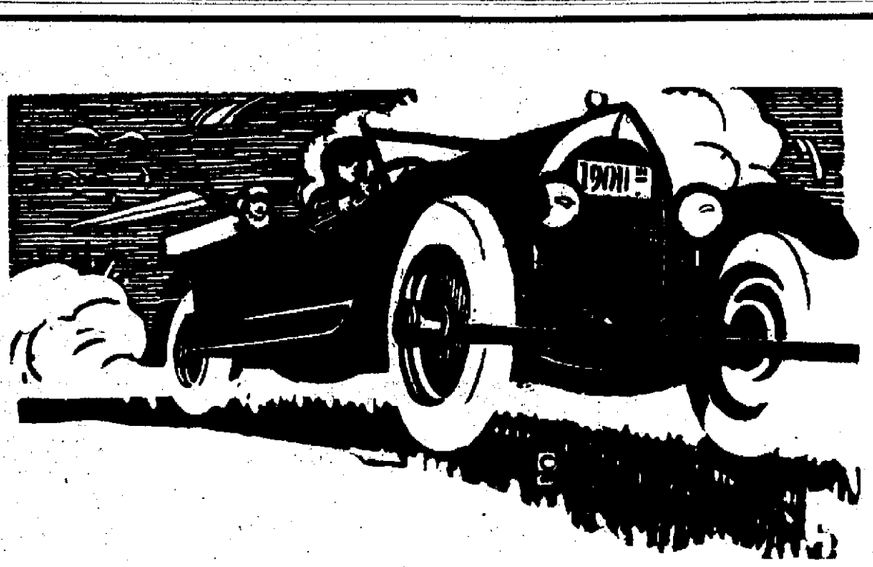

"Spinoza, greatest of the three, is known least. Although living in Holland, a country of considerable toleration, he risked his life each day because he wrote philosophical treaties concerning truth.

"He was very poor, he made his living by grinding lenses. When he was old, a rich Englishman wanted to leave Spinoza his fortune. 'No,' said Spinoza, 'leave me fifty cents a day and give the rest to your brother. He's used to spending money; he'll like it.'"

Speaking before the San Francisco Center, he paid tribute to women, and said that every man who amounted to anything was influenced by some woman, and in most cases that woman was his mother. He paid especial tribute to the work of newspaper women in the journalistic profession.

WOMAN FINED $50.

Lola Ryan, arrested recently on a charge of immorality, was fined $50 today by Police Judge Herbert Wise, and Archie Dalton, a woman arrested on the same charge, was allowed to leave the city when her brother promised to take her to her Los Angeles home.

No reply has been received from Dr McGinley as yet, but a telegram of acceptance or refusal is expected within a few days.

Sunday Schools In Korea Adopt Extension Plan

Sunday schools in Korea are aiming to reach the children of non-Christians through the establishing of what are called "extension" Sunday schools In that country they are not satisfied to have every member of the church in the Sunday school but are eagerly going after those who are not now members to the church. Related to the Kwangju mission station are no less than twenty of these extension Sunday schools, with an attendance of about 1500. It is stated that in three months after one of these schools was established, a mile from Kwanju, twenty of the children could recite the entire catechism Through these twenty Sunday schools at least one-tenth of the population in that district is under Christian instruction

At a Sunday school institute in Kwangju a practical demonstration was given which contrasted the old and new style of teaching in a Sunday school The teacher first had just a mixed lot of young and old in the class, as is often done in a country church He read the printed lesson helps in a stammering way, skipping about and paying no attention to the class.

While he was doing this, one old man was asleep, the boys were playing, others giggling and having a good time They all acted their part well, and the Koreans are natural actors Then the school was classified properly according to age, and the leader taught one class in a most attractive and up-to-date way, showing that he had prepared the lesson, leaving behind all books and papers.

REV. E. A. FRIDELL, who was recently ordained to the ministry, and who as assistant pastor will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church tomorrow.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. John Snape, who is away on his vacation, the pulpit of the First Baptist church will be occupied tomorrow by the assistant pastor, Rev. E. A. Fridell. His subjects for the day will be: A. M., "Christian Growth and Power;" P. M., "Chasing the Stars." As a boy Rev. Fridell had a varied career, having been newsboy, newspaper reporter and editor. In 1916 he served for nine months on the Mexican border in Y. M. C. A. work and later was state student secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Iowa. In the World war he enlisted as a private in the field artillery. He was ordained to the ministry last spring and will graduate from the Berkeley Baptist Divinity school next year. Dr. Snape says: "Rev. Fridell is one of the choice spirits of the young men of our day."

In the evening Charles Lloyd and Hugh Williams will sing a duet entitled, "High in the Heavens," and the Baraca quartet, consisting of Burleigh Sprague, Reuben Munroe, J. D. Adamson and H. L. Allen, with Winfield Brace at the piano, will also sing.

"Soldier for Christ" To Be Pastor's Topic

Rev. Benjamin F. Abner, pastor of St. John's Baptist church, Thirty-second and Linden streets, will preach tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock on the subject, "A Soldier for Christ." Christians and Pagans Will Be Compared

At the morning service in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow, Dr. Robert Donaldson, secretary of the extension board of San Francisco Presbytery, will speak on the subject "The Shaft of Faith and Dynamite of Prayer."

In the evening service, Rev. Paul Holsinger will speak on "Confessing Christ." The message will be illustrated by many heroic incidents from the lives of loyal Christians. How did the Christians, under the persecutions of Bloody Mary, confess Christ? How have the recent converts from heathenism confessed Him? Are the Christians from paganism as true and loyal as those of our own race? The speaker will answer these questions tomorrow evening.

To obtain power from tides an Englishman catches the rising water in basins and makes it operate turbines connected to electric generators when it falls.

M. E. DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION TO BE APPOINTED SOON

The official board of the First M. A salary of $2000 has been authorized and made an item in the church budget, which was outlined at the meeting.

According to Charles H. J. Truman, a member of the board, no applicant has yet been considered, and it is probable, he states, that no appointment will be made until after the annual conference of the church, which takes place this month.

Rev. John Stephens, pastor of the church, will preach tomorrow morning, on "The Crucial Test." In the evening he will deal with the question "Is Our Civilization Doomed?" In treating the latter subject, Dr. Stephens will point out the requisites of a safe civilization and show how the church must be called upon to play a major part in influencing and maintaining the civilization that is now ours.

Dr. Walker, who was widely known as the "Black Spurgeon of America," had the unique distinction of having preached in the Spurgeon tabernacle in London, England. President McKinley appointed the eloquent Georgian, chaplain of the Ninth U. S. immune regiment that did service in Cuba under Colonel Charles F. Crane. Among the prominent supporters of the well-known pastor was John D. Rockefeller.

Unitarian Pastor Returns Following Absence of Years

REV. CHARLES W. WENDTE, formerly pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Oakland, who, with his wife, has returned here to make this city his permanent home.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Wendte Come From East To Make Home Here.

Rev. Charles W. Wendte, accompanied by Mrs. Wendte, returned to Oakland last week to make their home here. Dr. Wendte was pastor of the First Unitarian church of Oakland for ten years. It was during his pastorate that the large building now used as a meeting place for the congregation and various societies which the church sponsors, was erected.

After leaving Oakland, Dr. Wendte was pastor of Parker Memorial church in Boston. For fifteen years he was secretary of the International Relations department of the American Unitarian association. In that capacity he made twelve trips to Europe in order to arrange the meetings of the international congresses of Religious Liberals that were held in London, Amsterdam, Geneva, Berlin, Paris and Boston. Dr. Wendte served as the secretary of several of these meetings. He is now helping to make arrangements for a meeting of the congress next summer in Europe.

In addition to his duties as pastor Dr. Wendte has found time to write several books, one of which, "Life of Starr King," has recently been published in Boston. Critics have called the book one of the greatest of the year.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Wendte will be given an opportunity of greeting them when Dr. Wendte occupies the pulpit of the First Unitarian church at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. His sermon will be based on the subject, "The Gospel of Human Kindness."

'GOOD NEIGHBORS,' TO BE USED AS PASTOR'S THEME

That the pledge of social reform and general good will is found in one's own conception that our neighbors are perfect, is the belief of Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles, pastor of the First Universalist church. If the belief were general, according to Dr. Ruggles there would be less strife in the world and less need of social reform. To illustrate this point, he tells of a telephonic conversation that he had this week in which one of his friends called up and asked what subject he would deal with in the weekly sermon tomorrow. "'My Neighbor Is Perfect' is my subject," said Dr. Ruggles. "[illegible] you've got to show me" was the reply. As a result [illegible] ings sermon [illegible] given in an effort to [illegible] the truth of the statement.

The sermon is one of a series which Dr. Ruggles is giving during August on the five supreme factors in the science of living. He spoke last Sunday on "That Unfailing Something," showing in his sermon how a man might live happily and successfully. On Sunday, August 14, he will speak on "The Kingdom Around the Corner."

The various departments of the Sunday school are being reorganized to begin intensive Sunday school work on August 21.

On September 22, a grand concert for the benefit of the church building fund will be given in the Municipal theater. Efforts are being made to enlist the best musical talent in the bay section in the worthy cause.

ALAMEDA ELKS' BASEBALL TEAM WILL ATTEMPT TO STOP RUSH OF SAN FRANCISCO HERD

BUSH FLINGER USED BY MITZE AND GAME DEVELOPS INTO JOKE

Absence of Ray Brubaker At Short Is Being Greatly Felt by the Oakland Club.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Thursday afternoon the Oaks looked like a lot of champions when they defeated the Los Angeles club in a double-header, but yesterday afternoon at Recreation Park they reminded us of how Walter McCredie's Beavers looked in most of their ball games this season. They played very ragged baseball to allow the Angels to even up the series by handing them a 12-to-1 beating. It might seem unfair to say that the Oaks looked like the Beavers yesterday, for fans know that the boys who earn their bread and butter from the local club owners are capable of putting up a far better brand of ball than those Beavers. But it is the truth that they actually looked bad yesterday—probably it being one of those "off days" that every club suffers now and then. Al White has shown the fans that he is a flashy infielder when playing at second or third base, but the little fellow, although hustling all the time, appears to be very much out of place around the short patch, and until Ray Brubaker is able to return to the lineup, the Oaks are going to be weak around short.

The Angels showed White a good time around the short patch, and several balls got by him that Brubaker would have easily fielded for putouts. We are not out to make Al White the "goat" because the Oaks lost the ball game, for it would be unfair to the little infielder who can field as well as the average infielder when around positions he is accustomed to. They will never rule Al off for not trying, for he was out chasing everything hit in his direction.

Alten Gets Bumped, While Aldridge Baffles Oaks.

It is doubtful if the best fielding the Oaks are capable of putting up would have done much good yesterday, for those Angels hit many a ball where the fielders could not get in reach of them, and the Oakland sluggers were almost helpless before the pitching of Vic Aldridge, who decorated the hilltop for the Angels.

Ernie Alten was again selected by Foreman Mitze to do the chucking for the Oaks, and he lasted into the fifth inning, when two were out of the way and Mitze decided to yank him when the Angels already had a four-run lead. The Angels got eight hits off Alten the short time he was on the mound, and while some of them were of the scratchy variety, there were plenty of healthy ones that would land safe in any ball park.

Fans Wondered Why Mitze Called On Valentine.

Whatever put the idea into Foreman Mitze to send George Valentine to the mound as a relief man for Alten is more than a good many of the fans could figure out. Valentine had not shown in his previous starts that he was a fellow capable of stopping an attack such as the Angels were making, and it looked like Foreman Mitze had figured the game as good as lost and was just giving the young pitcher a chance to work out. The Oaks came from behind in many a game this season to overcome larger leads than four runs, and they might have done likewise yesterday had some pitcher been sent in who could stop the attack. The first batter to face Valentine was Oscar Stanage and he belted out a single to left that scored two more runs. The young flinger, after allowing another hit, managed to stop the Angels' attack until the sixth and then there was a lot more fireworks. The first batter to face him in the sixth got a walk, and the next four batters connected for singles that put three more runs over. Then Earl Hilton stepped in and stopped the Angels, but only until the seventh inning when three more runs were made.

The Oaks got but three hits off Aldridge until the ninth inning when a single by Pinelli, his steal of second and advancement to third on Stanage's wild heave, and Hack Miller's single robbed him of credit for a shutout. Knight also got a hit in the ninth, a double.

Alten Has Got Bumped In His Last Six Starts.

Ernie Alten is the latest pitcher to enter the Mysterious Club of flingers. Russell (Buz) Arlett was a member of that club early in the season when he had almost as much trouble winning a ball game as has Rudy Kallio with the Salt Lake Bees, but now Buz is pitching as well as any member of the club. Harry (Socks) Seibold has belonged to the "Mysterious" bunch ever since the start of the season. The way Ernie Alten started out for the Oaks, nobody had reason to suspect that he would also become a member of that club, but he has gone ahead and done it.

Since he won his last game for the Oakland club over Seattle on July 13, Alten has been able to go the full route in only one ball game and that one he lost by a 4 to 3 score to Seattle last week when he blew up in the ninth inning and allowed the winners to score two of their runs. Alten has started six ball games since winning his last one, and five times he had to be taken out of the box. He started Thursday and yesterday against the Angels, and each time he was bumped. The big fellow put everything he had on the ball yesterday, but it just did not seem possible for him to fool the Angels. A couple of weeks ago, before the club went on the road, Trainer "Scotty" Finlay said that Alten was having trouble with his arm, and it probably would be best if he was given a good rest until he gets right again.

NATIVES HAMMER THREE PITCHERS.

The Hayward Natives easily defeated the P. G. & E. Co. piling up twenty runs and nineteen hits off three moundmen.

Chubby Richmond hurled a wonderful game for the Natives, being touched for four hits and fanned twelve Gas boys. He paved the way with four out of four and crossed the plate twice.

Al Wagner and Bill Bernard contributed homers and Curley Gardner and Richmond smashed out extra base hits with runners on. Score:

Three Games Scheduled in Elks' League

Many Other Contests to Take Place On Bush Lots Tomorrow.

The Northern California Elks' Baseball league will again put on the feature games for the bush fans of the bay district tomorrow, but those fans who want to take in the main attraction of that league will have to get out of their beds early and cross the bay to Recreation park in San Francisco. The San Francisco Elks, who are leading the league with five wins and no defeats, are to entertain Fred Krumb's Alameda Elks at Doc Strub's ball yard, and many of the Isle City fans as well as some from other Eastbay cities will go over to root against the leaders.

The San Francisco team now looms up as the pennant winner, as it has met and defeated them all, with the exception of Alameda, and unless Krumb's lads stop the leaders tomorrow, those on this side of the bay interested in the fight for the flag will be ready to call the transbay outfit the champions. Herbie Gerlach trotted out a fast team against the San Francisco Elks last Sunday to represent Oakland, but the leaders with their former Coast and major league stars were too fast for the speedy local outfit, who admitted that the best team won. But Fred L. Krumb says he has the club that will stop the leaders, but seeing is believing, and there will be a lot of surprised fans even on this side of the bay if the Alamedans bring home the bacon.

The Oakland Elks will make the trip to San Mateo, where they will tangle with the Elks' nine of that place, while the Berkeley team will go to San Jose.

Charley Sullivan, former major leaguers, is doing the chucking for the San Francisco team and getting along fine for an old-timer. Frank Woodward, chairman of the league, announced last night that he has barred Joe Kelly, an ex-Mission leaguer from playing with the San Francisco Elks, as there is something about the rules which will not permit him.

NEWBAUERS VS. TRACTORS.

Out at San Leandro the baseball fans are going to be out in force tomorrow afternoon to see the C. L. Best Tractors tangle with the Newbauer team of San Francisco. A week ago last Sunday the transbay club traveled to San Leandro and stepped all over the toes of the Tractors. The Tractors had not lost a game in fifteen played up to the time they met the Newbauers, so their defeat was taken very much to heart and now they are out after revenge! Manager Bill Wagner admitted that the team which played the better ball the last time won, but he thinks his boys were a bit off form, and expects them to step out and get revenge. Heinie Lay is one of the Tractors who is bent upon getting revenge, for Heinie comes from the other side of the bay and he has been the victim of a lot of kidding ever since the Newbauer club beat him. The game starts at 2:30 sharp and promises to be a hot one.

MAXWELLS AT SAN RAFAEL.

Manager Al Vogel will lead his Maxwell Hardware club to San Rafael, where he expects his boys to have one of their toughest games of the season. The Maxwells have built up quite a rep for themselves this summer and are hopeful of landing a place in the class A division of The TRIBUNE Midwinter League.

NATIVES AT FT. McDOWELL.

The Oakland Natives No. 50, who furnished one of the surprises of last Sunday's play by defeating the crack Avon club on the latter's home lot, will travel to Fort McDowell to play the soldier nine. Chester Case and Bill Crosby, who are handling the Natives, have arranged to take a crowd of supporters and a jazz orchestra along. The team will leave from the foot of Van Ness avenue at San Francisco tomorrow morning at 10:20 sharp. Van Houtte, the young Oakland chucker who recently returned from the Mendocino County league, was on the mound for the Natives against Avon, allowed only two hits, fanned nine and won by a shutout. So he has landed a steady berth with the Natives and will be on the mound for them tomorrow.

The Halton-Didiers of Alameda will tangle with a team known as the Alameda Club at Washington Park at 2:30.

The Less Smarr Tailors will play at Livermore. Manager Charles Baker requests that his players meet at Thirteenth and Broadway tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Fans in the neighborhood of Emeryville are looking for an exciting game to result from the meeting which the Poplar Candies and the Zenith Millers will hold at the Key System diamond, Fortieth and San Pablo, at 3:30. Manager "Copper" Bettencourt, of the Poplars, is all het up over the way that "Big Jawn" Healon is pitching, and claims him to be the best pitcher working around here outside of organized baseball. The Zeniths hail from East Oakland, are managed by Roy Dreisbach, and have easily won the majority of their games this summer.

AL KARASICK IS IN SOUTH LOOKING FOR MATCHES.

Al Karasick, local wrestling pride, and his manager, Joe Khoumrian, leave for Los Angeles and other southern points this evening in the quest of new laurels. Having cleaned up all the local contenders for championship honors, Karasick is issuing a defi to some of the noted southern wrestlers, among them Bull Montana, Mike Yokel and Romanoff.

Joe Khoumrian announces the organization of the East Bay Athletic Club for the purpose of staging wrestling and other athletic shows in this community. Khoumrian expects to bring to Oakland some of the most noted mat artists during the coming winter months. Khoumrian is the president and general manager of the new club.

Reality---Not a Dream

The 23-pound rainbow and the 45-pound bass will kindly step to the rear and let a regular fish get its picture in the papers. This is a real photograph of a real fish. It is a member of the well-known Sturgeon family and resided in the Pitt River, British Columbia until an angler made it acquainted with the game of "Net." An Indian drift net was used in the capture. The poor little minnow is only eleven feet nine inches long and weighs a trifle of 1,261 pounds. It is big enough to be the ship that Jonah took passage on.

TIMELY HITTING GIVES SEATTLE EASY WIN.

SEATTLE, Aug. 6. — Timely hitting aided the Seattle Indians to hang an 8 to 3 beating on the Sacramento Coyotes. Manager Rodgers of the visitors used three pitchers against the locals, but they all looked alike in the pinches. Manager Kenworthy of the Indians got three hits and scored as many runs. The Coyotes got eleven hits off Roy Francis, but they were not very timely. The score:

PORTLAND, Aug. 6. —Russell Ellison, the University of California chucker, was given a fine bumping when he represented the Portland Beavers on the hill against the Salt Lake Bees yesterday afternoon. The Bees landed on him for seven runs and eleven hits in seven innings. The final score was 8 to 3. Jack Bromley worked for the Bees and allowed nine hits. Babe Ruth Is At Bottom of A Steep Grade

Bambino Has Fallen a Bit Behind His Record of Last Year.

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Babe, the big bam, is now at the foot of a steep grade on the way to a new home run record.

For the first time this year, Ruth is actually behind his 1920 run of clouts.

On August 5 last year, the Bam had connected with the ball in his noted bamming manner for 39 homers. His count today is 38.

Dauss, the Tiger hurler, is the champion furnisher of homers for the Bam, as he has served up ten that have been devoured by him.

Many of the players charge that the ball has been changed again. They maintain that ti is losing some of the hop and life that resulted in an orgy of homers earlier in the season and placed the hands and faces of the infielders in jeopardy.

The players still complain though that the lively and less lively balls are being mixed now. They say one ball will come at them in regular fashion and the next one will knock them off their pins.

VERNON HURLERS WALLOPED HARD BY SEALS.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6. — The Vernon Tigers landed hard and often on the shoots of Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, chucker for the San Francisco Seals, but they could not make many of their hits count, while every Seal who faced the four Vernon pitchers got one or more hits and when the final tally was made they had fifteen hits and twelve runs to their credit. The Tigers could get only three runs out of thirteen hits.

McGraw started the chucking for the Tigers and was not scored on until the third, when a couple of triples by O'Doul and Schick helped in scoring two runs. Five runs were made off Love in the fifth and in the seventh inning, with Cross on the mound, Willie Kamm picked on a lobbed ball and hit it for a home run when the bags were full. The score:

Boxing Notes

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Benny Leonard has perfected a defense for the left hand jobs of Lew Tendler, who will attempt to take the world's lightweight championship away from him in Philadelphia next Friday night.

Close friends of the champion passed this tip around town today as Leonard finished training in a local gymnasium preparatory to leaving tonight for Philadelphia, where he will do only light work next week. Though he has faced boxers of nearly every style and type Leonard has never yet fought a real left-hander, and as Tendler is one of the very few good "southpaw" boxers developed within the memory of present-day fans, the champion will take no chances of being surprised.

English Fighter Gets His From Gibbons

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul easily defeated Gus Platts, middleweight champion of England in a ten-round bout here last night. Gibbons was too fast for the Englishman and took practically every round.

Vallejo Golf Club Has Leased Course

VALLEJO, Aug. 6. — The Vallejo Golf club is reported to have leased some land east of Vallejo and will arrange to stage a number of tournaments during the fall months.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Ruth made his fortieth and forty-first homers off Dauss in Detroit.

The Athletics traded Thomas to Washington.

Judge batted two home runs in succession, the second tying the score, but the Browns beat the Senators.

Hornsby made four hits in four times at bat. The Braves scored seven runs in the seventh.

TY COBB GAINING ON HARRY HEILMAN FOR THE BASE HIT HONORS

Heilman Drops a Few Points, While Ty Cobb Gains; Tris Speaker Is in Third Place.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, today is creeping up on Harry Heilman, the hard-hitting Detroit outfielder, in the race for batting honors of the American League with only 25 points separating them: Cobb gained nine points during the week for an average of .398, while Heilman suffered a loss of seven points, his average dropping to .423. Tris Speaker of Cleveland remains in third place with .398. The averages include games of Wednesday. The New York Yankees lead the league for circuit drives with a total of 79, 38 of which were cracked out by "Babe" Ruth.

The tail-end Athletics are second with 59. Ruth, who smashed out a brace of circuit drives during the past week, has registered 106 runs for his club. The big slugger also increased his lead in total base hitting to 274, made on 120 hits, which besides his home runs include 24 doubles and eight triples.

The Washington Club is out in front in stolen bases with 79, 19 of which were pilfered by Harris, who is showing the way to the base stealers of the league. Other leading batters of the league who have participated in 55 or more games are: Tobin, St. Louis, .368; Williams, St. Louis, .368; Ruth, New York, .364; Severeid, St. Louis, .358; E. Collins, Chicago, .354; Veach, Detroit, .350; Sisler, St. Louis, .348; Stephenson, Cleveland, .338.

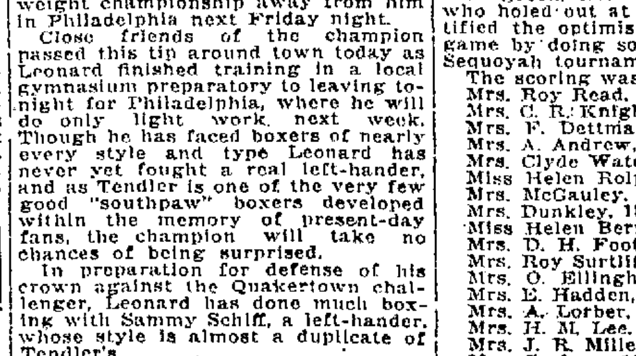

Hornsby Leading in The National League.

In the National League, Roger Hornsby, of St. Louis, is hitting .415 for the batting leadership. Twombly, of Chicago, is the runner-up with .370; while Nicholson, of Boston, is third with .364.

The Philadelphia Club is out in front for home run honors with 62. George Kelly of the Giants is the leading four-base hitter of this circuit, with 18 to his credit.

Frank Frisch of New York added three bases to his string of stolen bases and leads with 31.

Other leading batters: Young, New York, .362; McHenry, St. Louis, .356; Cutshaw, Pittsburgh, .351; Cruise, Boston, .349; Meusel, New York, .341; Fournier, St. Louis, .341; Mann, St. Louis, .341; C. Williams, Philadelphia, .340; Maranville, Pittsburgh, 338.

Mrs. Clyde Waterman and her committee believe in introducing novelty into their tournaments, so yesterday at Sequoyah a flag tournament was played and it created quite a lot of interest to over a score of players, who endeavored to be as economical as possible with their alloted handicaps plus par 83. Mrs. Roy Read, the winner, had still sufficient strokes left after holing out on the 18th green to take her to the 20th, where she holed out and planted her flag in the hole. Mrs. Read had to play good golf to hold first place, as Mrs. C. R. Knight was hard on her trail and actually reached the 20th green, but did not have the stroke or strokes left to hole out, so had to take second place. The third and fourth prizes went to Mrs. F. Dettman and Mrs. A. Andrew, whose flags were planted on the 20th fairway. Mrs. Clyde Waterman and Miss Helen Rolph holed out at the 19th, representing good golf. Mrs. McGauley, by reaching the 19th fairway, did better than par with her handicap. Mrs. Dunkley, by holing out on the 18th green, did what the handicapper wanted the other twenty-two players to do, but with the fairways on the fast side, better than average scoring must be looked for. Miss Helen Bernart, who reached the 18th green, and Miss Helen Rolph, who holed out at the 19th, have justified the optimistic reports of their game by doing so well in their first Sequoyah tournament.

The scoring was as follows:
Mrs. Roy Read, hole of 20th.
Mrs. C. R. Knight, green of 20th.
Mrs. F. Dettman, 20th fairway.
Mrs. A. Andrew, 20th fairway.

Duluth Rower Sensation at Buffalo Races

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Walter Hoover of Duluth was the sensation in the opening contest of the two-day regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen on the Buffalo harbor course yesterday. Carrying the colors of the Duluth Boat club, Hoover captured the quarter-mile dash and wasfi rst in the association senior singles, the latter victory giving him the right to compete in the championship single sculls today.

Hoover's chief competitor in the association senior singles was Hilton A. Belyea, the St. John fisherman, who won the Canadian Henlay singles last week. Belyea is a favorite, despite tha fact that Hoover beat him in the first heat of the race in the morning.

The Canadian contingent suffered another setback when, in the intermediate fours the West Side Rowing club of Buffalo defeated the crack Argonaut crew frfom Toronto.

In the intermediate singles Edward McGuire, al ocal policeman, captured the event from A. D. Steacy of Brockville.

Vesper B. C. of Philadelphia won the senior international four-oar event.

The international eight event, the University of Toronto crew won by a half al ength from the New York A. C. and the Duluth B. C. boat was another half-length back in third place.

FANS MAKE ORTEGA AND M'KAY QUIT THE RING AT OGDEN

BILL JOHNSTON AND MRS. FLORENCE SUTTON BUNDY DEFEATED, BUT OTHER WESTERNERS WIN

By BOB SHAND

The fans of Ogden, Utah, suffered through eight and a half rounds of alleged fighting by Battling Ortega and Gordon McKay last night and then they went home. A cushion shower and near riot was a feature of the third round and the scrappers were chased from the ring for stalling. They came back later, but the customers couldn't stand it and went home. Here is the Associated Press report of the happenings:

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 6.—Battling Ortega of San Francisco and Gordon McKay of Pocatello, Idaho, fought eight and a half rounds without a decision of their scheduled twelve-round bout at Lagoon, near here last night.

In the third round the crowd hurled cushions into the ring, jeered the fighters and prevented the progress of the fight when the men refused to mix matters at a speed to please the audience. Ortega and McKay left the ring when the crowd threatened a near riot, but returned in about twenty minutes after the promoter of the bout and the referee assured the audience that the men would be made o do their best. The bout proceeded for six more rounds, but in the meantime some of the crowd began to leave the arena. At the end of the ninth round the bout was called a draw.

Now listen to the mysterious F. Benjamin, who is managing Ortega. Here is the "collect" telegram he had the nerve to send:

"Ortega won a twelve-round newspaper decision over Gordon McKay of Ogden here tonight. Bat Ortega chased McKay all over the ring for twelve rounds.

F. BENJAMIN.

Probably Benjamin did not realize that the Associated Press would "cover" the fight and thought his telegram would be accepted as correct. It just goes to show how foolish some of these alleged managers of fighters are. Ortega is not doing very well. In his last five fights his record looks like this.

Lost on a foul	2
Chased from ring	1

Teddy O'Hara has started training for his return bout with Roy Sutherland at the Auditorium next Wednesday night and his friends declare Teddy will be a little more careful this time and not get his chin in the way of a right-hander. Despite his defeat his pals are sticking by him and will back him next time out. The ypoint to the fact that it was Sutherland who was doing all the holding in the final round even after he had his man dazed and groggy. It looks like a bear of a battle.

Louis Espen, who will battle Jim Farrell in one of the heavyweight attractions next week, held Johnson to a draw across the bay lately and is said to be an aggressive fighter with quite a kick.

Ernest Lundgren, who meets the Fighting Florist, Eddie Denny on the same card learned to box at the Olympic Club and has scored seven knockouts in eight battles. Eddie Diggins, a clubmate, is the only boxer to score a victory over Lundgren.

Jerry O'Keefe, Battling Jerry, is coming back to tackle Jack Davis. This should be one of the real fights of the evening.

Zeider Claims He Has Option On Portland

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—"Rolly" Zeider, veteran infielder and one of the most widely known ball players in the country, has an option of the Portland franchise of the Coast league, it was reported here today. He is said to have ample eastern capital behind him.

Zeider stated he has the promise of the McCredies for the purchase of the Beavers if they decide to let go of their interests.

In case he is able to put over the deal, it was stated to be Zeider's plan to live in Portland and manage the club himself.

Amos Rusie Is With the Giants After 25 Years

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. — Amos Rusie, star pitcher for the New York Giants, 25 years ago, has come back.

Not as a ball player, but as assistant superintendent of the polo grounds. Rusie put in his appearance yesterday and saw his first league game in 20 years. The post was created for him by Manager McGraw, of the Giants, and Rusie came from Oregon to fill it.

"Yes, things have changed considerably since then," Rusie admitted. "In the old days the Polo grounds stands were wooden affairs, not nearly so large as the steel ones now. The L trains were drawn by steam engines then, and there was not any subway. Instead of taxicabs the sports used hansom cabs. But—it's the same old game."

Golfers Plan Tournaments Everywhere

Big Season Ahead for Many Devotees of R. and A. Pastime.

By B. H. LA LANDE

Many are the tourneys local golf devotees are anticipating and it would seem from announcements made by local organizations relative to the dates for their tournaments, that this will be the greatest year in the history of "cow pasture pool" in the bay section.

The Elks are starting today at Santa Cruz in the statewide meet which promises to surpass anything that the B. P. O. E. have given in the line of golf since that body started fostering tourneys. About 200 Elks are on deck, according to the announcement of Bob Jones, who is in charge of the affair.

An effort is being made by local men to stage an open tournament for northern Californians. Many of the enthusiasts from hereabouts are planning to enter this affair and from the amount of interest being manifested there is no doubt but that it will be a successful undertaking.

The Rotary Club of San Francisco also is making arrangements for a tournament at Del Monte and have set aside September 16-18 as the days for the competition. This will be the Rotarians' second annual championship and a great effort will be made to wrest the title from I. L. Mott, the present holder. The affair is being managed by Pete Gergart, chairman of the organization's golf committee.

Another tourney which will draw on local enthusiasts for its entry list will be staged at Lincoln Park, San Francisco's municipal links, under the auspices of the American Legion. J. R. Klawans is preparing the affair and though the exact date has not as yet been set it is understood that August 26 and 27 are the days looked upon with the most favor by the Legionaries. It will be remembered that last year some pretty good golf was displayed in the Legion's championship and that Al Espinosa was forced to get a score of 67, one point above par, to win the tourney. If the handicapping committee are in a mood of justice and accuracy stiff competition is assured, for some of the bay region's best golfers are Legion members.

Another annual championship which is being planned on now, though it is over a month away, is that of the Shriners. W. H. Worden having announced that arrangements have been completed and the date set for September 23-28. This affair always brings out some real class and as the entry list is extremely large several days are utilized in its completion.

San Francisco women have decided to stage a novice affair over the Lincoln Park course starting on August 22. Mrs. M. Hamilton, the noted golfer of the San Francisco organization, is in charge of the tourney and she announces that about half a hundred members of the weaker sex have signified their intention of entering.

'Round the Sport Circle

With Jack Veiock
International News Sporting Ed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Miracle managers of the last few years have come from behind the bat. And the National League has had all of them.

Starting back in 1914 George Stallings, a catcher, though never a great one in his playing days, led the Braves from the ruck to the world's championship. Stallings was haled as a "miracle man" right off the bat.

In 1915 Pat Moran took a handful of cast-off players and drove the Phillies to the National League pennant, and the following year your Uncle Wilbert Robinson raised the Dodgers from the trailing class to National League champions, repeating with them last year. Robby brought Brooklyn back into the spotlight after sixteen years of obscurity. In his day he was one of the greatest of catchers.

Fred Mitchell, who aided Stallings at Boston in 1914, made champions of the 1918 Cubs. He had a big money bag back of him, yet it was his managerial ability that landed the pennant. And Mitchell was a catcher in bygone days.

The 1919 Reds, under Moran, won the first National League pennant flown at Cincinnati in something like half a century and emerged from the clouded world's series champions of the universe. Regardless of the cloud cast over that now infamous series, Moran was something of a miracle man in Redville and, like his predecessors in the miraculous business, Moran came up from catching ranks.

Will 1921 produce a miracle man in George Gibson? Pittsburgh fans believe it will. Gibson, of course has a nicely balanced ball club, but he has been performing miracles with it in the way of morale and considering the opposition he has to contend with the winning of a pennant by the Buccaneers will be something of a miracle after all.

NOW THAT JOCK THE HITCH AND LONG JIM BARNES HAVE COPPED THE CUPS, WHAT ARE THEY GOING TO DO WITH 'EM IN THESE ARID DAYS?

Cunningham, the Giants' new outfielder from Seattle, certainly has a big incentive to make good with New York. The kid has the fans with him, and this means everything, especially to a youngster.

This lad is a little fellow, smaller than Kauff. He is fast as an antelope and a corking fielder. He stands up to the plate nicely, too, and has the earmarks of a good hitter. But there is doubt about his readiness for a regular job in the big show. For one thing his throwing from the garden is off color. He may have a good arm but in the games he has played so far he hasn't proven it.

Pegging to the plate or the bases is an art that young outfielders should pay more attention to. Many of them come up with nearly everything else but the ability to peg and the baseball sense to throw to the right sack with men on the bases. There's no excuse for an outfielder making the wrong peg, as a rule. It is just as much an evidence of bone as it would be for a catcher to peg to third to catch a man stealing second.

JOE HUMPHREYS, DEAN OF METROPOLITAN ANNOUNCERS FROM THE RINGSIDE, ALWAYS HAS A COMEBACK FOR THE BOYS. JOE RECENTLY HAD OCCASION TO APPEAR IN SOUP AND FISH.

"OH, JOE," PIPED A PROFESSIONAL KIDDER, "TAKE GOOD CARE OF IT; I WANT TO RENT IT TOMORROW NIGHT."

"I WISH TO ANNOUNCE," HUMPHREYS WENT ON, "THAT THE TRAIN FOR THE WISE CRACKERS LEAVES IN TEN MINUTES."

The Yellow Jackets, at Georgia Tech, are going to be minus the services of Coach Joe Guyon next fall.

Guyon, whose ability as a coach can scarcely be rated second to that of his class as a player, has given up the coaching job at Atlanta because he could not keep it and play professional football with Jim Thorpe's Canton Bulldogs at the same time.

Last year Guyon used to travel back and forth between Atlanta and Canton, or wherever the Bulldogs were playing, over the week-ends. But the traveling wasn't a pleasant thing and the expense was so great that Thorpe suggested he get a coaching job in the Middle West, where he could be nearer the stamping ground of the famous Bulldogs. Guyon agreed to the plan. The Yellow Jackets then agreed that geography is all wrong.

Stickney put a damper on Marshall Allen's winning streak, beating the Seattle star 6—2, 2—6, 6—3. Gardner defeated Irving Weinstein, a young player also from California, 1—6, 6—3, 6—3. In both matches better court generalship was a deciding factor.

GLENCOVE, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, woman's national tennis champion, defeated Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, of Los Angeles, former titleholder, in the semi-final of the Metropolitan championship tournament yesterday, 8-10, 6-2, 6-2. In the other semi-final Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., outplayed Mrs. Robert Leroy, of New York, 12-10, 6-1.

The California star displayed spectacular tennis in capturing the first set from Mrs. Mallory, who was slow in her real game. Mrs. Bundy appeared tired from her exertions thereafter, and Mrs. Mallory was not pressed in the next two sets.

Racing Yachts Start on 300 Mile Journey

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The most spectacular event in Pacific coast yachtdom was on today.

With a spanking breeze at their heels, four San Francisco cruising and racing yachts, the schooners Seaward and Katenda, the ketch Shawnee and the sloop Mah-pe, were off early today on their 300-mile race to Santa Barbara.

With a strong blow in prospect the Seaward was the favorite. The run will require between 30 and 50 hours. Arriving at Santa Barbara, the yachts will participate in the regatta to be held there the coming week.

Among Skipper Lowe's crew on the Seaward are Captain Francis Betts, "Drydock" Smith, former owner of the yawl Mollilou; Captain Joseph Townsend Pugh, at one time commodore of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, and officers from the navy who have been most eager as observers.

"Skipper" Norris of the Shawnee has as guests Captain Leb Curtis and Bill Morrow. Sailing on the Katenda with Skipper Edgar N. Van Bergen are James Lanagan and Billy Henderson, famous as an expert in the use of an oil gun in stormy sailing, manager, Armand Vibcent.

Kinseys Lose Doubles in Straight Sets

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 6.—Watson M. Washburn and [illegible] N. Williams II won the doubles championship of the ninth annual invitation tennis tournament here today. They defeated Robert and Howard Kinsey in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4, 6-4.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 6—The Kinsey brothers, Robert and Howard, Pacific coast doubles champions, were the sole survivors of the Western players in the Casino invitation lawn tennis tournament, which will go into its final rounds in both singles and doubles today. William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, former national champion was defeated by Washburn, of New York, in the semi-finals of the singles yesterday and later paired with Willis E. Davis, of San Francisco, succumbed to the attack of Washburn and R. Norris Williams II, of Boston, in the doubles semi-finals. The Kinseys easily defeated Nat Sane, W. Niles, of Boston, and Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia.

Washburn and Williams won from the Western pair by the score of 3—6, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2, 6—3. It was a battle from start to finish with many thrilling rallies. Davis was the weak point in the Pacific coast combination and the concentrated fire of the Easterners drove him into repeated errors. Johnston showed an improvement over his form in the singles match against Washburn.

WASHBURN VS. WILLIAMS.

The Kinsey brothers had no difficulty in disposing of Niles and Johnson in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3, 6—3. Both were at the top of their game and proved themselves wonderful ground-getters.

Washburn will meet Williams in the singles finals. Williams advanced today through the default of Zenzo Shimidzu, the Japanese star, who was taken ill late yesterday. Shimidzu is better tonight, but still weak, and will not play at Seabright next week, reserving his energies for the Japan-India Davis cup match at Chicago.

Washburn's great steadiness and frequent change of pace gave him the victory over Johnston in a long-drawn out match, 4—6, 6—3, 6—2, 1—6, 6—4. Johnston's only flash of his old-time form came in the fourth set, when his placements and hard drives put the Easterner at his mercy. Both players made numerous errors.

Maurice McLoughlin Trying Come-Back

DEL MONTE, Cal., Aug. 6.—Maurice McLoughlin, well-known tennis star, returned to the Del Monte courts yesterday, where he first won the Pacific Coast championship in 1907. SATURDAY, AUGUST 6.

Bushy Run—Oriskany—Hanging Rock. All of them battles, and all of them fought this date, various years. Gulian C. Verplanck, who served New York as one of its famous literary men, born August 6, 1786. That there were trials, tribulations and reform in the young nation, is heralded by the announcement that in 1817 Zeralda G. Wallace, reformer and advocate of woman suffrage, first claimed her rights on this day. And you may or may not be surprised that it was George T. Maxwell, born in 1827, who first used the laryngoscope. Cyrus Cobb, sculptor, and his twin, Darius Cobb, artist, were born in 1834. In 1863 a national Thanksgiving was observed for victories in the Civil war.

THAT'S WHAT THEY'D BRING HER, ANYWAY.

Dear Sir:

It may lighten the burden of your task and lend an air of enchantment to your column if you will allow me to tell you that my little girl, ordering her meal in a restaurant, asked for ham and eggs without the ham.

ONE FOND PARENT.

o o o

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS.

"A rose by any other name?"
Ah, he who reads and knows a Book that made N. Webster's fame,
Doth brand it "genus rosa."

"A modest violet? Ah, me!"
(A botanistic quitter.
He dubs it, scientific'lly
A "calcullata" critter.)

"A primrose by the river's brim?"
Why, he who studies lends it
An academic patronym—
He "primula praenitens" it.

o o o

To him who hath shall be given an income tax blank.

o o o

LOVE SONG.

Tell me, dear, in mournful number,
Whisper gently, o'er and o'er:
Are the Oaks still deep in slumber?
Tell me, darling, what's the score?

Our favorite newspaper, printing a report that intoxicating liquors valued at $5,000,000 were imported into this country in a year, lends itself to the argument that the dailies do not confine themselves to the truth. No proof exists that one dollar's worth of real and intoxicating beverage has been brought to this land of ours, let alone $5,000,000. We challenge the editor of our f. n. to produce the proof. He cannot do it. It doesn't exist. Our nose knows. With a cold in our head, it would know. Come on breathe for us.

The deplored increase in divorce court records seems to indicate, does it not, that charity no longer begins at home.

o o o

UNLESS HE BRINGS US A MESS OF TROUT.

Dearest, dearest Archie:

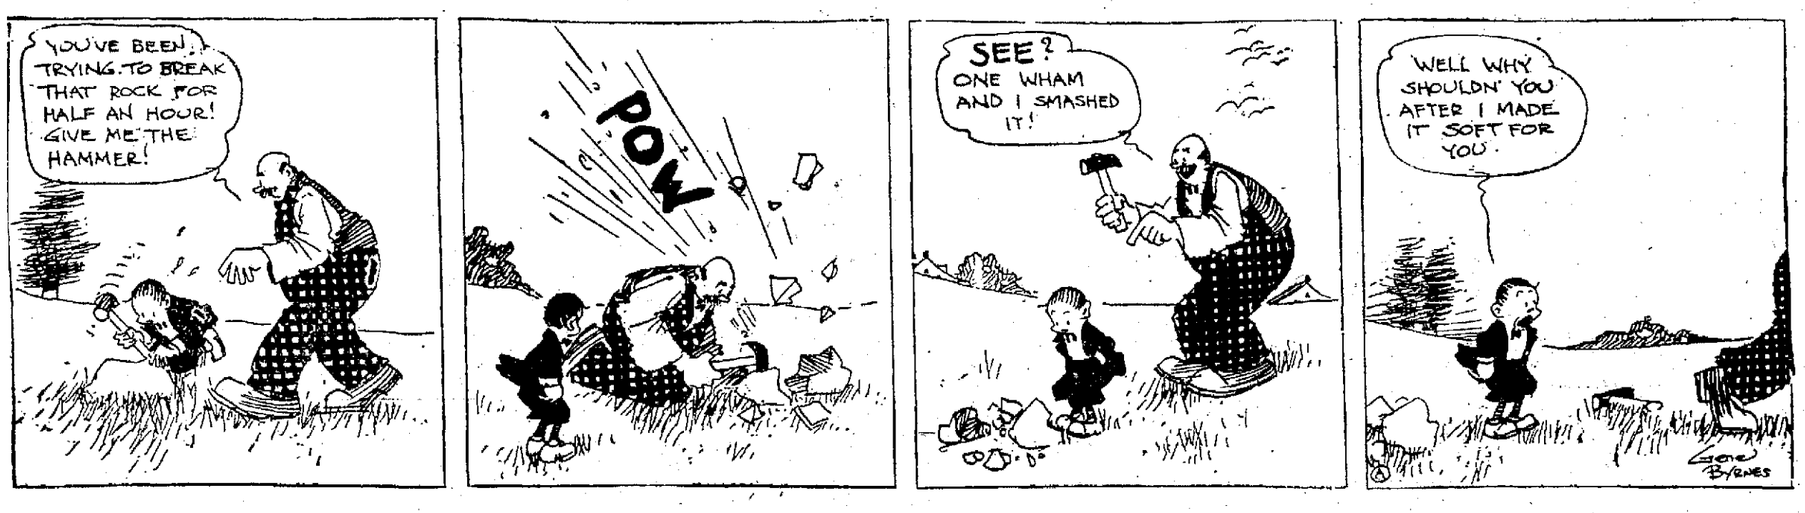

(Never would I presume such familiarity toward the Boss). However, to continue, anticipating the imminent return of our Nimrod laden with—ahem! the inevitable (and veracious) tales of piscatorial achievement, could not we, the helpless and unorganized readers of this valued column, band ourselves into a League for the Suppression, Torture and Imprisonment of Prevaricating Fishermen?

Humanely yours,
CORISANDE.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S POPPER.

"Gurr-gup!" snarled the Bob Cat

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, he met Billie Wagtail, the little boy goat. Billie looked rather sad and forlorn, shuffling along and kicking his hooffs in the dirt, and Uncle Wiggily knew, right away, that something must be the matter.

"What happened, Billie?" he asked the little boy goat

"Oh, I—I had to—er—now—sorter stay in after school," spoke Billie, slow like and unpretentious.

"You had to stay in after school! cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why, how was that? I didn't know you had school during vacation."

"This is summer school. We don't go every day," Billie explained. "But when we do go we have to behave just like in regular school. It's real nice, Uncle Wiggily, summer school is. The lady mouse teaches and we don't have to study very hard and maybe you'd like to come and—and —er—and—"

"Yes, I know, that's all very well," interrupted the bunny. "But why did you have to stay in?"

"Oh—er—I—I—was sorter hoping you'd forget that," stammered Billie. "Well, I had to stay in for making a popper and popping it."

"Do you mean pop corn?" Uncle Wiggily asked

"No," and Billie shook his horns sideways. "I made a snapper, or popper out of some birch bark, which was as thin as paper. I made the popper and I popped it, like when you blow up a paper bag and burst it, you know."

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "I know. But you shouldn't have popped the popper in school."

"Yes, I know that, too," bleated Billie with a half laugh. "I won't make any more poppers, for it isn't any fun to be kept in after school when the other fellows go swimming."

"Well, suppose you come for a walk with me," said Uncle Wiggily.

So Billie did, and, as the two friends trudged through the woods, the goat boy told how he took a smooth piece of birch bark, and, by folding it as you do to make soldier hats and boats, only a little differently, he made the "poppers" as he called them.

"But never again!" bleated Billie.

He and Uncle Wiggily were having a good time in the woods, eating wild strawberries, and Mr. Longears was thinking of giving Billie a penny on account of the goat boy having felt badly at being kept in when, all of a sudden, out from behind the sassafras bush jumped the bad old Bob Cat.

"Gurr-gup!" snarled the Bob Cat, as he grabbed Uncle Wiggily by the ears. "Now for some good chewing."

"Chewing!" cried the bunny. "Chewing? Why, you haven't any gum to chew, have you?"

"I don't need gum! I don't need gum!" snickered the Bob Cat. "I'm going to chew your ears!"

"Oh, will you please let me go?" begged Mr. Wiggily as he noticed, out of the corner of his eyes, that Billie was sneaking away through the bushes.

"Nope! I'll not let you go until I chew and nibble your ears!" snarled the Bob Cat.

"Well, perhaps my little goat friend will run off and get Policeman Dog Percival," thought Uncle Wiggily. "If he doesn't—goodby to my ears. That's all, I guess," he thought sadly.

"Get ready, now, I'm going to nibble!" howled the Bob Cat.

"Well, don't nibble very hard at first, until I get used to it," begged the bunny. Uncle Wiggily shut his eyes, for he didn't want to see his ears chewed, and, just as the Bob Cat was drawing him close, all of a sudden there sounded:

"Bang!"

"What's that?" cried the Bob Cat.

"Sounded like a gun," said Uncle Wiggily, hoping it was. "Maybe it's a hunter man after you!"

"Pooh! Nonsense! Of course not!" laughed the Cat.

"Pop! Poppity-pip-pop!" went the noise again.

"Oh, I guess you're right! It is a man with a gun!" howled the Bob Cat. "I'd better run! I'll nibble your ears some other time!" And away ran the bad chap, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all.

"I wonder who did that shooting?" said Uncle Wiggily to himself, half out loud.

"I did!" bleated Billie, the goat, coming from the bushes. "I sneaked off and made a popper out of birch bark, and I popped it and scared the Bob Cat."

"I'm glad you did!" laughed the bunny. "I guess, after all, it's a good thing you were kept in after summer school, Billie. Now come on and I'll buy you an ice cream sandwich." And he did and Billie ate it.

So if the doormat doesn't try to fuss through the keyhole in the door and tickle the knob with the fuzz, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Floppy's bicycle.

A TASK TO DO

A task to do and a bite to eat,
A coat to wear and a bed at night,
These four make up this life complete,
All else is sham if you view it right.
A task to do and a home to keep,
A wife to smile and a child to love,
A place to play and a place to sleep—
What more shall be in the Heaven above?

One task is all that a man can do,
One coat is all that a man can wear,
He who has eaten a dinner through
Could eat no more of the costliest fare;
Gold cannot sweeten a baby's smile,
Fame cannot better a good wife's kiss,
Sleep doesn't come to the couch of style,
So rest content as you think of this.

Work is the father of appetite—
Better the dinner that's truly earned
Than the silvered table that glows at night
Where little is eaten and much is spurned;
Better he sleeps at the close of day
Who weary comes to his humble bed,
Than the man who putteth no care away,
Better he wakes when the night is sped.

The humble home and the castle wall
Shelter men's happiness, yours and mine,
And God has given the same to all
And strengthened them by His love divine;
A task to do and a bite to eat,
A coat to wear and a bed at night,
These four make up this life complete,
All else is sham if you view it right.

TRADING PLACES.

Dolly Green traded lives with Mildred Gardner. They both married somebody, and now they're both divorced—and the whole story has come out.

Dolly Green was traveling with a New York theatrical company and down in Dallas, Texas, she met Mildred Gardner. They looked so much alike and liked the same colors and the same ice cream and the same shape in hats that they thought they must be twin soul-mates.

And they both wrote out a full history of their lives—mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, school teachers and school chums—so that there couldn't be any mistake—and off they went, each traveling her separate way, with a brand-new start in life.

And—the new Dolly Green married the old Dolly Green's sweetheart—and the sweetheart didn't care for the new Dolly—and there was trouble and the whole story came out in the papers the other day.

And then people tell us the movies are too theatrical and that no one ever acts like a movie heroine in real life.

DID YOU EVER TRY?

Trade personalities—did you ever try to do it?

I used to trade dresses at school. I had a gray dress trimmed with blue, and my best chum had a red and black plaid dress, and it was our delight at recess to trade frocks and hair-bows and see who'd be the first to notice it.

We never went any further than that—but dear me, I believe I do wish I had traded personalities with my chum—and gone home and been a minister's daughter and gone to college and settled down in New England and lived in a big, white house with pillars to it and chimney cupboards in the best room.

Maybe I'd be planting lavender this very minute and looking up my great-great-grandmother's recipe for quince jelly so as to be sure to have it ready by the time the quinces were good and green.

I wonder if she would have liked trading personalities with me.

Whatever would she have done if she had had to live in the midst of a cyclone?

Maybe there wouldn't have been any cyclone—for her

Who would you trade places with, if you could?

No, not some perfectly beautiful blonde, or some ravishing brunette with ropes of raven hair and flashing black eyes—and all the men desperately in love with her, from the millionaire stockbroker to the hallboys in the apartment—but just some regular woman whom you know.

Not some imaginary woman with all the money in the world and a perfect disposition and a beautiful singing voice and the ability to tell fortunes and read the stars, and play the ukulele and make perfectly elegant fudge, and drive a big car and paddle a birch canoe—not one of these paragons, but just someone you really know.

The woman in that limousine that just passed, for instance. Smart hat she was wearing, wasn't it? And those looked like real pearls around her neck. I wonder if she's as happy as she ought to be.

WOULD YOU CHANGE?

Would you be happy in her place? What if you had to live with her husband and listen to those dull stories of his, at least three times a week—the same stories over and over again? Wouldn't you have to keep thinking of your pearls all the time to be able to bear it?

The beautiful actress you admire so much—would you like to change places with her? With her tendency to tuberculosis and her managing mother and her jealous friends and her spiteful enemies—would you, honest now?

No, no—you are you, and I am I, and she is she—we all belong right where we are.

Let's make our own little nests just as feathery and as comfy as we can—and let it go at that. That's my philosophy. I wonder if it's yours?

The Home Kitchen

by JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

DELICIOUS GREEN CORN.

Cooks who like to try new corn dishes may find some of these recipes new to them and well worthy a trial. The corn must be young, fresh and left in the husks until ready to use, to insure the best results in cooking. Boiling corn should be husked, then dropped into fast boiling water and allowed to cook rapidly for twelve to fifteen minutes. Then lift it and serve in a napkin. Do not add salt to the water, as it makes the corn tough and spoils its color.

Corn Chowder.

Cut corn from a sufficient number of cobs to yield three pints. Slice and dice a thick slice of salt pork, and put it in the bottom of the chowder pot to melt. Put in a thinly sliced onion, a layer of sliced potatoes, a layer of the corn, a dessertspoonful of soft butter, salt and pepper. Proceed with the layers until the corn is used, then dredge with flour. Add a pint of rich milk and a pint of water in which the corn cobs have been boiled for fifteen minutes. Cook gently for thirty minutes, being careful it does not burn. Place four broken pilot crackers, which have been soaked in milk, over the top, and cook ten minutes longer.

Corn Mousse.

Grate five ears of corn, then mix it with a cupful of rich cream sauce. Season well, not forgetting a little sugar and a grating of nutmeg. Add a tablespoonful of soft butter and three well-beaten eggs. Mix and pour into a well-greased mould. Set the mould into a pan of water and bake three-quarters of an hour. Serve with a cream sauce.

New England Succotash.

Cut the corn from a dozen ears, being careful not to cut deep enough to get the husks, and scrape down the milk with the back of the knife. Put the corn into an enamel saucepan with a lump of butter, salt, sugar, pepper and three-quarters of a pint of rich milk. Stew gentle for fifteen minutes, being sure it does not burn. In the meantime cook a pint of young, fresh lima beans in fast boiling water until done. Dice a slice of salt pork and fry it. When the corn is done, drain. Add the lima beans to it, also add the pork and a tablespoonful of the fat. Let all come to the boiling point and it is ready to serve.

Corn Omelette.

Boil three full ears of corn, then cut it from the cob. Add the usual seasoning and two tablespoonfuls of tomato paste. Prepare a six-egg omelette in the usual way. When it is ready to turn put in the corn mixture, which should have been kept hot. Fold and set under the broiler flame or in the oven, to brown a little on top.

Three cupfuls of prunes chopped fine. Put them to simmer with one cup good syrup. Stew about one-half hour. Add one cup of nice seedless raisins and stew a few minutes. When cold add two and one-half cups of flour, one cup butter, three eggs, one cup sugar, one-half cup sour milk, one teaspoon each of soda, mace, nutmeg and cloves. Rub butter and sugar to a cream, beat eggs light, stir the soda in the sour milk, mix and bake in a moderate oven. If sweet milk is used, add baking powder.

The COUNTRY of UPSIDE DOWN

By Jack Burroughs

Chapter 49.

The Board of Cherry Trees.

"THERE'S not much use of your trying to give your money away to passersby," said Phil Osiphar on his arrival. "You can't beg people to take your money until you have taken out a beggar's license, and it's hardly worth while to do that, because it would take fully a century to give it all away, anyhow."

"What would you advise me to do?" Corporal queried.

"My mighty intellect tells me yours is a plain charity case," Phil Osiphar returned. "I will call up the Conglomerated Board of Cherry Trees and see if we can't persuade the board to take the money off your hands."

The Board of Cherry Trees was called, with the assistance of the Gingersnap Phone, and in the course of time sent a man over to look into Corporal's case.

"Name and address, please," snapped the member of the Conglomerated Board of Cherry Trees, taking out notebook and pencil.

"My name's Corporal, the Roly Poly Pup, and my permanent address is Wall street unless someone detaches me from this sack of gold."

"Hm-m! Ever been in trouble before, my good dog?"

"Lots of times," Corpdral admitted, "but this is the first time I was ever mixed up in this sort of a mess."

The member of the Conglomerated Board of Cherry Trees asked upwards of a hundred questions relative to Corporal's past and present and his prospects for the future.

"I will present this report at the next regular meeting of the board," the board member promised. "If you are found deserving, a further investigation will be made and definite action eventually taken."

"Dear me!" Alex broke in. "Things certainly move slowly here in the Country of Upside Down! To my way of thinking, charity should suffer long, be kind and get a move on."

So impressed was the man by Alex's remarks that he decided to hold a meeting of the board without a moment's delay. The other members were summoned by phone, and the following poetic decision was reached:

Since Corporal's a kindly dog,
The legal wheels we shall not clog.
Without just cause he's never yelped,
Therefore, we feel he should be helped.

Famous Wits of History

The Way General Grant Became a Hard Smoker

The quality of whimsicalness is delightful. It has lightened many a life and shed its often witty charm upon others. When it is encountered in a ne'er-do-well it may excuse many backslidings, but it reaches its highest attractiveness when it is found in one who has reached a position of greatness. It is this particular quality which often pleased the friends of U. S. Grant.

These friends delighted to "rag" the general in the most respectful way about his habit of smoking. It was said, with some degree of truth, that Grant was never seen without a cigar. In reply to the good-natured comments made upon the large number of cigars he had smoked the second day of the battle of the Wilderness, Grant—we learn in Horace Porter's "Campaigning With Grant"—told the following story:

"I had been a very light smoker previous to the attack on Donelson, and after that battle I acquired a fondness for cigars by reason of a purely accidental circumstance.

"Admiral Foote, commanding the fleet of gunboats which were co-operating with the army, had been wounded. At his request I had gone aboard his flagship to confer with him. The admiral offered me a cigar which I smoked on my way back to headquarters.

"On the road I was met by a staff officer, who announced that the enemy were making a vigorous attack. I galloped forward at once, and while riding among the troops giving directions for repulsing the assault, I carried the cigar in my hand. It had gone out, but it seems that I continued to hold the stump of the cigar between my fingers throughout the battle.

"In the accounts published in the papers I was represented as smoking a cigar in the midst of the conflict. Many persons, thinking no doubt that tobacco was my chief solace, sent me boxes of the choicest brands from everywhere in the north. As many as 10,000 were received. I gave away all I could get rid of, but having such a quantity on hand, I naturally smoked more than I would have done under ordinary circumstances, and I have continued the habit ever since."

When the doctors warned Grant that he must give up smoking entirely he resignedly did so. But even to his last days he sometimes remarked that it was a deprivation grievous in the extreme. He considered it a martyrdom, and often invited his friends to smoke in his room, declaring he would enjoy the smoke of others. On one of these occasions he whimsically remarked that if he was not permitted to be a little wicked himself he had a melancholy comfort in pitying the weakness of others.

Holding a Husband

by Adele Garrison

"Of course, child," she said, magnificently. "In fact, I never intended anything else. I only wished to bring Richard to a realization of the enormity he had committed. But, however are we going to manage it? We'll have to go North at once."

My heart sank. She was in no condition to leave the balmy spring weather she was enjoying and return to the treacherous April winds of New York. But I knew her obstinacy, so I cast about for some effective method of combating it.

"There's only one obstacle to our all going," I said slowly, "and that is Junior, provided, of course that your own health will stand the change. You ought to be very careful, you know."

"Never mind me." She brushed the question of her own illness aside as if it had been a trouble some fly. And all her grandmotherly anxiety was in her eyes. "What's the trouble with Richard Second?"

"Why, nothing down here," I said slowly. "But you realize what a hurly-burly we shall be living in the next three weeks, with the house upset and movers running in and out. We cannot hope that he will not take cold, even if he weathers the decided change from the climate down here to that up there."

I stopped short, waiting breathlessly for her reply. Would she take the bait I had so carefully prepared?

What Madge Did to Placate Mother Graham.

If the end for which I had been working with such Machiavellian tactics had not been designed to protect my mother-in-law from her own imprudence I would have been heartily ashamed of myself at the eager credence she gave my remarks concerning Junior.

As Dicky would express it, "she swallowed the bait, hook, line and sinker," and I felt myself turning a little red as she rushed into eager excited speech.

"The blessed lamb!" she exclaimed. "Of course he must not go North until settled weather. It's a wonder you had sense enough to think of it," she added caustically, and I was glad of the verbal slap, accepting it as a bit of deserved punishment for the way in which I had played upon my mother-in-law's anxiety for my small son.

"That means, of course, that you and Richard will have to move without me," she went on, "for, of course, I shall stay here with Richard Second. And a fine mess you'll make of it, you two! But I suppose it can't be helped. Now, look here. Get a notebook and pencil, and jot down these instructions. If you follow them you may be able to get through the job without breaking more than half the china and wrecking most of the furniture."

MOTHER GRAHAM DICTATES.

I rose with every outward aspect of meekness, brought the notebook and pencil, and sat down as she had commanded. I was determined not to flinch nor to show any sign of uneasiness or irritation during the ordeal which I saw in front of me. That it was to be an ordeal, no one knew better than I. There have been many such in my life with Dicky's dictatorial and irascible mother. She is never so happy nor so irritating as when she is in charge of some troublesome household emergency, and issuing orders concerning it. But, to do her justice, she is a housekeeper and manager par excellence, and I knew that though I could not possibly follow her plan—for I had my own methods already outlined even while I listened to hers—yet I would be able to profit by many of the points contained in her homily.

"Now, in the first place," she began didactically, "if these things were going to be put into a storage warehouse or were going a long distance, you would have to pack in a very different manner. But as they will probably go only a few miles in a van, you won't have to be quite so particular."

A MESSAGE FOR DICKY.

I wisely kept to myself what I feared: that our belongings would have to be put into a very inferior warehouse, or moved a long distance on account of the housing situation. A letter from an acquaintance in a suburb near New York had given me a glimpse of the conditions, but I had not mentioned it, because I had never dreamed that anything in the situation could matter to us, secure in the ownership of our own home.

"But the thing I wish to impress upon your mind most," Mother Graham declared, "is that those old mahogany pieces of mine simply must have every bit of their surface covered or they will scratch. Put that down and underscore it."

I repressed the desire to tell her that I had seen and had cared for old mahogany before I ever met her. My mother had a few choice pieces which I brought with me to my new home. But Mother Graham, I think, all the years has been actually jealous of them. She never refers to their existence, speaks only of her own.

What Does Your Wife Do?

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World!

"Let the other fellow do it."

"Don't you let 'em kid you, Bill, into doin' nothin' you ain't paid for," said the Peach Buck Suit to the Chance Chaplin Mustache. "Just put in your 'ill ole eight hours and let some other poor fish carry the responsibility."

And in so saying, he voiced the slogan of his generation. Let the other fellow carry the responsibility. How smart it sounds and how tragically silly it really is! The richest birthright of manhood sold for a mess of pottage. You can train a White Rat to run in a circle, but only a MAN is capable of seeing the job through without the carrot of a whip. To only MAN is given the divine right to share with the gods in carrying responsibility.

If you let the other fellow carry the responsibility which should be yours, you pay for it out of the zest of life and the time of your immortal spirit. You may have easier working hours, and flabbier sleep—but you've put yourself into the white rat class.

Take the responsibility for your own decisions, your own acts. Realize how shameful it is for adult man or woman to lean on another Human. What if you don't know exactly how you're going to manage? Pretend you do—and find out. What if your knees are shaking? Bluff it through. Invent methods. Don't ask questions. Get out and get under and CARRY ON! And yours will be the bacon.

I was calling on a friend the other day and we were in the midst of a discussion of divorce and marriage when we heard her 15-year-old son approaching the room. "Hush!" she said instantly, "we mustn't let J—— hear what we're saying. Thank goodness, the dear youngster never dreams there are such problems in the world."

We hushed but my thinker didn't hush. For I know the 15-year-olds of today. I know that there are very few of the "big life problems" that they are not aware of and discussing. I know, too, that it would be well for their parents to hear a few of those discussions.

For that reason I am printing the following amazing document. It is the sincere expression of a 15-year-old boy's thoughts. Those thoughts are somewhat jumbled and his conclusions are not always correct. And of course being 15, he is very sure of himself, just as you and I were at 15. The main point is that a 15-year-old boy DOES think this way and that the greater number of his contemporaries of 15 and 16 are also thinking the same way. What are you going to do about it? Are you going to try to "put the lid" on them, Dads? Or are you going to make chums of these young wise ones, and help them sort their thinkings out?

The Letter.

Dear Geraldine:

I'm not craving a little place in the sun. I am writing this with the intention of waking up some of the—to my mind—simpletons who are daily airing their bent and twisted views on life in your columns. Perhaps you may think my views "bent and twisted" in one way or another—that is your privilege; but if you think it will do any good along the line mentioned, I hope you will use it. From all indications some of them never think, I may honestly say that I try to, though I may not succeed.

I am only a 15-year-old boy, a junior in high school who has never kissed a girl. But I am not sorry for it, not that I say that I do not like girls. I do. And not that I am a mamma's boy. I sincerely wish to marry and have children—when I am older—but I hope to give myself to "her" absolutely, and would wish the same of her.

But after I knew that she loved me, and I her, I should forgive—anything. For there are no perfect human beings in the world, so it is foolish to expect perfect conduct from any of them—has it not been said that to err is human? I am not saying there are no persons who have never fallen, but circumstances did not force them down—they were fortunate.

The other night I heard a man—a man who is held up to people as a model—a minister, say:

Yes, if there were more women in this world like Sister ——, there would be less sin."

Where the Sin?

Well, I won't deny him that. Assuredly this would be a fine old world if there were more good women in it, but—he has only to go and look at the different varieties of lizards classed as men to see where the sin in this world comes from.

Man always has led the way, more or less, and because a few, or perhaps many, fools and devils of men have led trusting girls and women into the paths that they now traverse, a multitude of vain men with their mock-modesty, shout about the lewdness and sinfulness of woman.

These half-wits that write all the funny jokes about man's troubles starting with Eve and lasting till now—well, the person who said "There's one born every minute" certainly struck the nail on the head.

Concerning this fuss about women smoking, let them do it if they wish to—is it not their privilege? There are foolish and silly women as well as men, I contend, though there are none that are bad by nature except perhaps a freak once in a while.

It is my belief that there would be no "bad" women if it were not for the so-called "men" that in one way or another cause their badness.

Custom is a bad thing when the real truth is said, for look at the mobs of weak-minded humans who are made the goats of it.

Another thing—socalled indecent dressing—why do these fool reformers rave so much, or rather at all, about indecent dress?

Clothes for Protection.

Weren't clothes originally intended for protection rather than covering? I'm not advocating a policy of discarding clothes; but why make so much fuss when a woman wears a skirt one inch or one foot shorter than this imbecile "Volivia" says is correct?

The Greeks didn't worry if a shapely—or otherwise—limb was exposed to public view. But then, perhaps there were "Volivas" in Greece then, too—somebody is always taking the joy out of life.

Fashion is very elastic, which can easily be shown. The view of a calf encased in a rolled stocking causes little or no comment now, but when the fad started—everybody stared. And if fashion goes far enough this time it will soon be perfectly proper to appear in the best society clad in a string of beads.

One of the troubles of this world is that fashion has too strong a hold on the majority of people. There are too many sheep and too few people who think. Those who have the price pay the thinkers to think for them, and those who haven't the price—just follow the crowd.

I don't say that the present generations aren't greater and better than former generations; not much; we have greater thinkers, more beauty and culture; but there is a chance for vast improvement on every hand; let "Progress" be our watchword.

L—— S——.

MAXINE—Dear little mother, half of the community property is yours, and your story, I think, would prove to the judge that you were entitled to the entire care of the child. That you may find the happiness in the future that has been denied you in the past is Jerry's most loving wish.

B. B.—I don't remember the particular case you refer to, but I am sure that I never intended any such meaning as the one you took from my answer. The kiddies who get the warmest sympathy from me are the ones with no mothers and fathers to guide them.

GINGER—I am so glad for your happiness and the wonderful "beaming" letter you wrote. You are the best little "Gloom Killer" I know and every time I get a "dose" of the deep blues I'll think of you.

TAX QUESTION VEXES.

Congressional leaders, having been all set to decree a reduction in the national tax burden, naturally are not delighted with the warning from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that expenses must be reduced or there will have to be an increase in revenues. Mr. Fordney, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, already had confidently predicted that it would be possible to effect a reduction of a half billion dollars in the tax burden, and, because of the pleasure it gave, nearly everybody has believed him.

Secretary Mellon will encounter very strong opposition to any proposal to increase the internal taxation. It is not practicable yet to make an estimate of the revenue the new tariff law will bring in, but certainly it will not be less than the tariff has produced during the last three years. Therefore Congress will argue that if domestic taxation is kept at its present rate it will be sufficient, and if there is a reduction in expenditures there should likewise be a reduction in domestic taxation. The logic of this reasoning is so simple and straight to the point, and supported by an administration pledge to reduce taxation, Mr. Mellon will have much difficulty in getting around it.

Mr. Harding has dwelt upon the subjects of expenses and taxation in several of his public addresses. We quote three sentences from his recent message on soldier bonus legislation, with especial emphasis in this connection:

"It is unthinkable to expect a business revival and the resumption of normal ways of peace while maintaining the excessive taxes of war."

"Decreased expenditure is the most practical assurance of diminished taxation."

"The only way to diminish the burdens which the people must pay is to cut the outlay in which public moneys are expended."

There is no reason to believe that the Secretary of the Treasury is not in agreement with the President on the government's fiscal program. The apparent purpose of Mr. Mellon's warning to Congress is to prevent any unnecessary new appropriations or to abandon its hope of reducing taxation.

One other cause is at the bottom of the secretary's dark outlook. He does not believe that any of the major sources of taxation can be closed without substituting other sources. The excess profits tax has practically broken down this calendar year, and the yield for the fiscal years of 1922 and 1923 will be very much diminished, a condition due to the fact that excess profits have all but disappeared from American business and industsy. Not permanently perhaps, but certainly for an indefinite period which began last fall. For the same reasons the income tax, especially the surtaxes on income of the higher rates, is in an uncertain stage, and the yield for the later half of the current and the first half of the next fiscal year is problematical.

There must be readjustment of the schedule of domestic taxation, and the Treasury Department fears that some of the items which Congress proposes to eliminate or greatly to reduce are about to eliminate themselves. The main danger which seems now to confront the country is the substitution of other taxes for those that have dwindled or are about to be abandoned. There has been much depression because of the burden of existing taxes on certain processes and certain classes of business; the fear is pretty general that new taxes, the sales or turnover tax, for instance, would depress in another direction without bringing compensation relief in quarters already depressed.

The whole aim of Congress should be to stabilize, not to disturb. If present day tax rates could be reduced uniformly, with abolition of several items of the so called luxury tax that merely harass the people and business, and without imposing serious new tax burdens, that would be the most agreeable as well as the most beneficial way. Congress is naturally reluctant to impose new taxes, and it will consider the various propaganda with which it has been besieged very carefully before it makes a decision. And this disposition will cause any proposal for new taxes which the Treasury Department may submit to get a cold reception.

Congress had planned to get through with the tax revision matter speedily, and alloted only four days for public committee hearings. It will find, however, that progress in both chambers will be tedious and that the date when the new revenue bill will be finally enacted is a matter of the widest speculation.

MODERATE FRANCE.

France has often been charged with being hard-fisted and steel-hearted in her dealings with her enemies in the great war. Her critics say France should be magnanimous and relent a bit of her severity: that she should forget and forgive and trust her enemies again with the opportunity to harm her.

Let us read the story of a few figures. Attention is called to them by the Weekly Review of New York.

The population of France (Alsace and Lorraine not being considered) is now approximately 36½ millions, having decreased by some two millions since 1911. The population of Germany, despite territorial losses, is well above 60 millions. A German authority states that there are in Germany over 29 million men and women capable of working, in France not more than 18 millions. Moreover, the number of workers in Germany increases by 500,000 yearly: the number in France tends to decrease. There are said to be 1,900,000 tuberculosis invalids in France: their death rate being 20,000 per year.

These are a few of the vital facts. There are others equally distressing. But they only fortify the friends of France and the unprejudiced student that they constitute a story of magnanamity, moderation and faith of the highest quality. If selfishness is a motive of French action, it is remarkable for the small place influence it exerts when compared to the provocation. If fear is a motive, it is a miracle that it is so small a motive.

A trustworthy authority premises that if a realization of the moral tone in governmental and industrial affairs does not come through such revelations as those in the shipping board, the State scandals in Illinois, the municipal scandals in New York and Chicago and disclosures that have been local to almost every State and community in the past two years, "then we have reached a discouraging level in public morals." It is a favorable time to indulge in pessimism; but those who can hark back any distance will have difficulty in remembering a time when dire prophecies were not made as to the decadence of the world's moral fibre. The world has come through a new experience, but if we could justly gauge everything, probably we would find it still held by the same old anchorage.

General Charles G. Dawes expresses his impatience with the New York State civil service commission for its rating of world war veterans as less than 100 percent American citizens. "The commission apologizes and declares it meant well," he says, "but when it rates a war veteran with a wooden leg as eighty percent American and a slacker gets rated at 100 percent, all explanations sound flimsy." We are not thoroughly informed as to how the civil service commission formulated its rating but what General Dawes says goes for us also.

Obregon's success in suppressing rebellions indicate that it will not be so easy to restore normalcy south of the Rio Grande.

MAKING AMERICA SHIP-MINDED.

At a dinner given to the advertising manager of the Shipping Board, on Thursday evening, Admiral Benson, in a tribute to the guest of honor, described him as "the man who made America ship-minded." The admiral is not chary of praise, but weights his approval word by word. Mr. Laue must have been a handy man to the Shipping Board as a publicity agent. While the diners were applauding and "Mr. Laue modestly listened to the praise bestowed upon him, news came that the new chairman had put somebody else in the shoes of "the man who had made America ship-minded." It was mercifully withheld from Admiral Benson and his audience.

If Mr. Lasker has found a better publicity agent than the object of Admiral Benson's encomium, the Shipping Board is to be congratulated. One of its greatest needs is to make the American people think in terms of ships. If they want successful merchant marine they can have it, but they must take interest in trade routes, voyages, earnings and dividends. It is not enough to wish for a first-class merchant marine. Ships and trading in the Seven Seas must be brought home to the people, and they must put their money on the Shipping Board's 1,400 vessels to win. It will be the concern of the Shipping Board to substitute private for government operation by a gradual and effective process. Ships will be turned over to responsible companies on an equitable arrangement, and in the end the companies will own the ships.

In thrifty Norway, one of the leading trading nations, everybody is interested in ships, cargoes and balances. Stock in shipping companies is widely distributed. It is the pride of the prospering Norwegian to take shares. Otherwise Norway would not be the successful trading nation it is. Private operators in the United States can borrow money from the banks to pay for the ships they take over from the government, but unless they can sell their bonds their business will not flourish. Investors must go into partnership with them when satisfied that there are profitable cargoes for the merchant fleet to carry. Publicity, therefore, must be a concern of the Shipping Board. The American people must become "ship-minded." Chairman Lasker is himself an advertising expert.—New York Times.

NOTES and COMMENT

Secretary Fall's expression," that if he had his way the Interior Department would be moved out here, is significant. It suggests that the West is beginning to weigh in the national scale, so that the preponderance of the East is not as overwhelming as it was. Whether the department is ever to be moved from Washington or not, Secretary Fall has let loose an idea.

The case of the woman with seven children just arrived from the country and, "facing starvation with a smile," is illustrative of a modern phase of life. The woman isn't worried. The worry, probably, has been passed on to the societies organized to meet such emergencies. Sometimes it seems that those who get stranded do not worry about it as much as they might have done, or as might have been advantageous if they had begun early enough.

THE FORUM

The Editor of The TRIBUNE disclaims responsibility for opinions and statements expressed in this column. Brief contributions on current topics of general interest are welcome. They will not, as a rule, be printed unless accompanied by the name of the writer, which, if desired, will be withheld from publication.

"THE KNOCKER."

To the Editor of The Tribune:

All through the seven ages of man he has been taught to knock, for the sake of finding some door of opportunity where he might enter and find success.

Many, however, in looking for success overlook the real things of life, and becoming discouraged, become knockers spelled with a capital K. A few days ago the writer was obliged to share a table at one of the local cafeterias with an elderly gentleman.

Oakland and the Eastbay section of California prides itself in casting out all hindrances to the welfare of the commonwealth. However, I think first of all the knocker, the professional knocker, who deliberately goes about preaching discontentment, should be supplanted by the Booster or thrown out bodily. This gentleman of whom I am speaking began by his version of the weather conditions in this section, the faults of the people at large, Oakland's business slump, etc., etc.

Now this knocked was quite unaware of the present business and financial conditions of other sections or he would have thanked his lucky stars that he was in Oakland. Instead of in an eastern or southern soup line. People of the "Big Bear" state little realize the full meaning of "panic," but the writer was in one of the large industrial cities of the east when the first signs of an approaching calm settled over it.

In Akron, Ohio, a city which I take for comparison because it is nearer Oakland in size and because most automobile owners know of it as the "tire center," of the world. Thirty-nine rubber companies are located there. It is a city whose 1920 census was 205,000.

During a certain Sunday in August of 1920 railroad tickets numbering 20,000 were sold to home going employees who were hit by the closing of the large industrial plants. Just following this the writer was visiting in Indianapolis, Indiana, another city a trifle larger than our own fair city. One evening in January the Indianapolis News carried an ad. for "a handy man to work in a store" at 7 o'clock a. m. of the following day. Pedestrian traffic in front of the store was blocked and also all alley entrance ways. One man out of curiosity counted something over 400 men in the bunch who were applying for the job.

Many employment bureaus here and in Frisco are not able to get men to fill the little jobs like that.

When we hear the professional knocker, the faultfinder, don't listen to him or give him a listener; rather give him the idea that if he isn't satisfied to move elsewhere. If he can't "do as the Romans do," go somewhere else where he can.

Be a booster, first, last and all the time.

C. ATKINSON.

THE PROGRESS OF EVE.

"But these are Parisienne!" cried the French archaeologist when he came upon the graven images of the women who adorned the Cretan court at least four thousand years ago. The marvelous tombs just brought to light in France, though but half the age, teach the same lesson.

About YOUR HEALTH

What You Can Do to Help One Rescued from Drowning

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"Suspended animation" is a term used to describe the condition in which the victim is to all appearances dead, and yet the spark of life still lingers.

Perhaps no better example can be mentioned than the profound effects of drowning.

Here is a body from which life appears to have fled. To all appearances we are gazing at a dead man. Yet life may be coaxed back, and once again the man may function as a living being.

In drowning, before death actually takes place there is a brief suspension of animation and, if treatment is properly and vigorously applied during this period recovery is certain.

What would you do if you were called upon to assist in the resuscitation of an unconscious friend rescued from the water, but apparently dead?

The first thing to do is to strip off his clothes, leaving him bare to the waist.

Then force his mouth open, wipe out any mucus or saliva found in the mouth and throat, and pull the tongue forward. For this purpose a dry handkerchief may be used.

Next place him on the ground, face down, with a roll of clothing, a block of wood or some other substantial object under the stomach. Then carefully but with firm pressure, on the sides of his chest, squeeze the ribs together.

This procedure is intended to force out any water which has found its way into the throat and lungs. This is why it is important to have the head, neck and upper part of the chest lower than the bottom of the lungs. Sometimes it is recommended to roll the victim over a barrel, but this seems to me pretty rough treatment.

Having drained the air passages, roll the victim on his back and begin applying "artificial respiration."

In suspended animation, whether from drowning, from suffocation from gases, or from electrical shock, the breathing muscles fail to act. To restore life the lungs must be made to work, and since this is accomplished by outside help, the act is called "artificial breathing" or "artificial respiration"—merely another name for the same thing.

You must kneel at the head of the victim, take hold of his arms between the wrist and the elbow, and carry them out and upward until the hands meet above his head. At the same time keep his mouth open and his tongue pulled forward.

If you will put your body and arms in this position you will find your chest expanded and filled with air. This is exactly what you are trying to do for the drowned man.

Hold his arms above his head while you slowly count two.

Then carry his arms back, bending his elbows, and firmly press his arms against the sides of his chest. In this way you squeeze the air out and empty his lungs.

Hold this position while you slowly count two.

Then repeat the movement, trying to make a complete circuit fifteen or sixteen times per minute. Since you are sure to be nervous and inclined to go too fast, have some one time your actions by the watch.

Don't stop; keep at the work. Take turns with others present. It may be an hour or even two hours before signs of life return. A human life is at stake. Don't give up. Keep at it.

Success will be your reward.

AN IMPORTANT PARADOX.

BIG PROFITS CHARGED TO COAL MEN

Alameda Housewives' League Sends Wire to Congressman Elston in An Effort to Secure U. S. Investigation

ALAMEDA, Aug. 6.—The first step in a campaign which the Alameda Housewives' League is planning against the coal dealers was taken when the executive committee appealed to Washington through Representative J. A. Elston asking a government investigation of coal prices here.

The following telegram was sent Representative Elston:

"Congressman J. A. Elston: We have documents proving that three kinds of coal at $5 per long ton at the mine, transportation here with war tax $7.20 per ton, our dealers all quote exactly same price, which is from $18 to $20 per short ton No reduction for our 100-ton order. All make same excuses for high prices. Is not this profiteering? Unable so far to get action. Appeal to you to save situation. We believe that our coal dealers are in close combination to keep up prices. They publish threats to increase present prices. (Signed)

"MRS. MATILDA NOTTERBOCK, "Secretary Alameda Housewives' League."

According to Mrs. Harry L. Tenney, acting president of the league, the women pooled their order and asked the price of 100 tons of coal. They refused to sell at a price less than $18, with no reduction on amount purchased.

According to Mrs. Tenney, although the dealers pay $5 for all varieties at the mine, they grade their coal into three prices, ranging as high as $20 per ton.

$25,000 Damages Are Asked for Man's Death

The Southern Pacific Company and the Rolph Navigation and Coal Company are made joint defendants in a suit for $25,000 filed today by Mrs. Hildur Haglund and the Moore Shipbuilding Company for damages suffered by reason of the death of Ernest Haglund, on February 24, 1921.

The complaint charges that while Haglund, an employe of the Moore Shipbuilding Company, was employed at carpenter work on the ferry "Enterprise," floating in the estuary and attended by two Rolph tugs, the ferry "Thoroughfare" collided with it, through alleged negligence of the crews of the tugs and the "Thoroughfare," and Haglund was crushed to death.

Two Little American Girls Rated Versatile Linguists of China

MADELINE AND EVELYN BANBURY, little San Francisco girls whom Provisional President Sun Yat Sen has recognized as the most able girl linguists of all China. They talk English, French, Cantonese and Mandarin.

Madeline and Evelyn Banbury of San Francisco Civen Unique Distinction by President Sun Yat Sen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. — Madeline and Evelyn Banbury, 9 and 11 years, respectively, and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Banbury, Hampton Court Apartments, San Francisco, and who sailed for the Orient on the Tenyo Maru, are officially recognized by Provisional President Sun Yet Sen as the most able girl linguists of all of China

The parents have lived in China for many years and both children were born in Canton. They have made frequent visits to the United States, but in the meantime have accumulated thorough efficiency in French, English, Cantonese and Mandarin. The latter dialect is so difficult even for scholars to acquire, that in recognition of the accomplishment, both Madeline and Evelyn were publicly commended by Dr. Sun.

"The fact that we speak Cantonese is a decided advantage during our frequent trips across the Pacific," explained Evelyn. "The majority of the stewards on the ships are Chinese and when they realize that we can speak their language quite as well as they do, every one of them proceeds to serve us and we always receive more attention than we are entitled to As it seems probable that we will spend many years in the Orient it has been decided that we must now attempt to master Japanese."

Coating of Starch Will Remove Blood Stains

B-r-r-r! Bucket o' blood! A blood curdling query came in to the TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau today. Looked at first as though it were a problem for the police department instead of the information department. "Dear Query Editor," the missive began "Will you kindly tell me how to take out blood stains?" The TRIBUNE informant's corpuscles contracted a case of chills until the remainder of the note revealed that it was not a case of manslaughter. "Was cleaning a fish today," the letter continued, "and I got some of the blood on my white blouse."

Here is the formula: Blood stains may be entirely obliterated from almost any substance by laying a thick coating of common starch over the place. The starch is to be mixed as if for the laundry and laid on quite wet.

Another reader desires information as to how to clean brass beds.

There are many substances and mixtures which will clean brass. Oxalic acid, muriatic acid, and several other acids, will clean brass very effectively; oxalic acid is the best but the acids must be well washed off, the brass dried and then rubbed with sweet oil and tripoli, otherwise the brass will soon tarnish again. Mixture to clean brass is: Soft soap, 1 oz.; rotten stone, 2 oz.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

When Wifey Hits First Blow She Gets No Balm in Court

BERKELEY, Aug. 6. — Wives who strike the first blow and then later have their husbands arrested for battery cannot expect any sympathy from Judge Robert Edgar, who today dismissed the charges against Clarence L. Goekler, plumber, 3196 Adeline street.

Goekler was arrested yesterday on the complaint of his wife, who alleged that he struck her with a chair. It developed in the police court that Mrs. Goekler struck the first blow in the battle, which lasted twenty-four hours and which began Thursday night.

"A woman who strikes the first blow is just as guilty as her husband," said Judge Edgar today. "I cannot find this man guilty as charged. The case is dismissed."

The couple departed from Judge Edgar's office arm in arm.

"Lamplighters of History," Is Subject

ALAMEDA, Aug. 6. — "Lamplighters of History" will be the subject of a new sermon course which Rev. C. C. Wilson will start at the Alameda Congregational church tomorrow evening. St. Francis will be the first culture hero to be talked of by Dr. Wilson. Then in succession he will take up such beacon lights as Savonorola, Dante, Milton, Goethe, Hugo, Emerson, Ruskin, Browning, Tolstoy and Tagore.

Police Aid Asked to Find Berkeley Visitor

BERKELEY, Aug 6.—Leaving Berkeley at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for San Francisco, Carl Grable, 18 years old, has failed to return, according to Mrs. M. Conn, 1845 Berryman street, whom he was visiting. Grable is a stranger in Berkeley and may have lost his way, according to Mrs Conn, who has asked the police to find him.

TURNS GOOD PROFIT.

OAKDALE, Aug. 6.—To own a 10-acre ranch for two years and then sell it at a profit of $12,000 is what G. B. Crosby has just accomplished. He disposed of his property in the Leitch colony to P. Anderson of Modesto for $12,000. Two years ago Crosby paid $100 an acre for the land, built a home and improved it, spending altogether $5000 on the property.

Reward Offered for Heir to Big Estate

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—For the person who finds W. B. Morgan there is $600 waiting. For Morgan himself there is even more money.

Aid in finding Morgan, who is an electrical worker, was asked today of the Berkeley police by the Johnson Law company of New York city. Morgan, according to the lawyer, is heir to a large fortune in England. He is known to be somewhere in California and was last heard from in Berkeley.

The estate of which he is heir is a large one, according to the attorneys making the search for the missing man.

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—A woman driver of an automobile who knocked down Bruno Lauri, 1732 San Pablo avenue, as he was crossing the street in front of his home, is being sought today by the police.

Lauri declared that the woman drove away without stopping. He furnished the police with her license number and asks that she pay damages for a torn coat caused by the accident. His back was bruised by the fall

MORE CARS ON 18TH ST. ARE ASKED

New Request Made to Council to Amend S. P. Franchise and Permit Operation of Longer Commuter Trains

Hearing nothing from a petition of several months ago, asking that the Southern Pacific Company be permitted to furnish additional cars on its Eighteenth street line, H. M Lee of 855 Calmar avenue today asked the city council to press this matter, on behalf of the commuters who must cross daily to San Francisco.

Lee cites that on March 4, 1921, some 2881 commuters signed a petition to the council asking that the Southern Pacific be allowed to operate during rush hours as many cars per train as necessary without splitting the trains into units of two cars or less.

"There is no evidence that any action has been taken," says Lee, "and we request relief from congestion of these cars."

The original franchise to the Southern Pacific by the city specifies that not more than two cars per train be employed on this line. This was made necessary by the limited trackage length at the Fourteenth and Franklin depot, where it was feared that longer trains might cause their blocking street traffic.

In order to allow the longer trains, which is a debatable policy, according to members of the city council, the franchise terms would have to be changed On the other hand, it is admitted that commuter traffic is increasing every year and better facilities are constantly needed

Would Name Union Street Rickenbacher

BERKELEY, Aug 6 Union street adjoining the University of California campus would become Rickenbacher Road in honor of the famous American ace if members of the Allied Fliers Club have their way.

A request to the council that the name be changed was made yesterday by the club and was referred to the City Planning Commission for action. A hearing will be held before any change is made in the name

The Fliers' Club also points out that there are several Union streets in the bay region thereby causing confusion Headquarters of the club are also on the street under discussion

That Haste street be given a new name was the request of former Mayor Beverly Hodgehead, who said that the name was confusing on the telephone and declared also that it had no significance as all of the other south of University avenue were named for illustrious men The request was also filed with the City Planning Commission

CZECH TO PLAY.

ALAMEDA, Aug 6 — Anton Hok will deliver an address and exemplify the music of his native Czecho-Slovakia at the First Baptist church, Santa Clara avenue and Stanton street, Monday evening. MISSING BOY KIDNAPED IS POLICE VIEW

Playmate of John Perez, 11 Years Old, Says Stranger Offered Him Candy to Go With Him: Lost July 31

Not seen since July 31 little John Perez eleven-year-old son of L. Perez of 537½ Myrtle street, is believed by the police to have been the victim of a kidnaper.

The father did not report the disappearance until today He said he thought his boy would soon return home but after the long absence he decided to do something The father first made inquiries in the neighborhood and yesterday found the boy's playmate, who said he was with John Perez when a man approached, offered him candy, and induced the lad to go with him.

The motive for such a kidnaping cannot be found, says Perez, as he is not a wealthy man and could offer no ransom.

Ball Park Laborer Is Killed by Train

Walking along the Key Route tracks at Forty-second and Linden streets and apparently confused by many passing trains, Charles O. Vercelli, aged 70, a laborer at the Coast League baseball park, was struck by a train last night and instantly killed.

Dollar Mark Is Design on Church Door

NEW YORK Aug 6. — The New York World today disclosed a startling jest that it says was perpetrated by architects of the million dollar St Thomas Episcopal church on the dozens of fashionable brides who have gone to the altar through the famous Bride's Door since the church was completed ten years ago. Carved into the granite capital over the door says the newspaper is a huge dollar sign—slightly conventionalized, but unmistakable A photograph of the door reproduced to bear out the story, shows a beautiful and finely chiseled decoration surmounted by a double panel, on one side of which is carved a conventional true lovers' knot and on the other side was similar but strongly different dollar mark

A Donald Robb architect who was head draughtsman on the Goodhue and Ferguson firm of the church, is quoted as having admitted designing the dollar mark, saying it was done in fun and asserting he could not see that it was a subject of newspaper comment.

Mrs. Bertha Lemcke, Society Woman, Dead

NEW TRUCKS FOR GARBAGE ARE LEASED

Householders Are Asked to Have Patience While Rerouting of City for Collection Is Made Complete

BERKELEY, Aug 6 —Two new trucks were added today to the garbage collection system.

By a resolution passed yesterday by the council, Commissioner Heywood was authorized to hire not more than ten trucks a day at $2.16 per hour which sum includes the pay of the driver

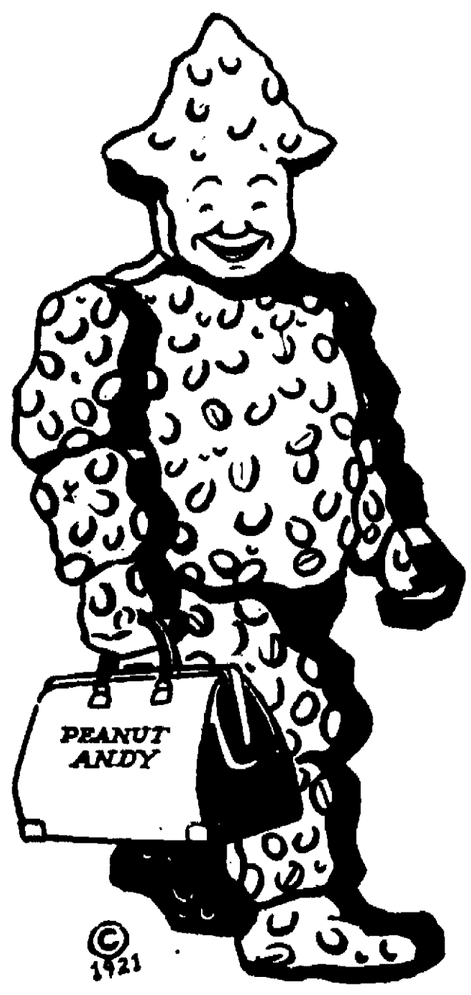

The complaints of householders whose garbage has not been collected is flooding the city hall was the statement of Heywood.

"If the people will exercise a little patience we will have the entire system working in good order in a week," he says. "It has been necessary entirely to reroute the city and for this reason there is some delay in certain sections in handling garbage."

SPITTER, 10, INJURED.

ALAMEDA, Aug 6. — Robert Schlossel, of 1130 College avenue, is a 10 year-old speedster who came to grief yesterday afternoon Robert is the owner of a new tricycle. Yesterday he started on a tour of his avenue Hitting it up along the pavement his front wheel collided with a rock. The tricycle upset. A big gash was cut in his chin, which was treated by Dr. Sheafe at the Emergency hospital.

FIVE, WHO ATE TOADSTOOLS BY MISTAKE, DIE

WINNIPEG, Aug. 6. — Toadstools, eaten in the belief they were edible mushrooms, yesterday killed five persons in one family at Stuartburn, near Dominion City.

According to the story told by the father, Fred Huska, just before his death, the fungi was gathered by the children Sunday, cooked and eaten. Late Sunday night, one of the children became ill and died Monday morning.

Monday the other members of the family became ill and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Russ Farm Machinery Is of Little Avail

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 6 (By The Associated Press)—All Russian news sources, Bolshevik and anti-Bolshevik alike, paint a dismal picture of Russia's economic condition this summer.

Soviet newspapers themselves admit that the famine which threatens the country may be worse even than in preceding years of the Bolshevik regime. On the other hand, the Bolshevik government contends that, notwithstanding the great difficulties attending the change of Lenine's policies during what it terms as the present period of transition from civil war to peace, Russia is slowly, yet steadily advancing on the road to restoration of her economic life.

The agricultural machinery which has arrived from abroad will be of little assistance this year, it is admitted. The crop failures in many governments have affected so large a proportion of the area sown that the machinery already on hand will be ample to harvest this year's crop. In fact, there are more machines than live stock to draw them and because of the drought the already depleted supply of draft animals is threatened with further extinction because pasture lands are drying up.

Refugees On Way to U. S. Puzzle Officials

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. — More than 1600 Assyrian Christians fleeing from persecutions by Mohammedans, are on their way to the United States on small sailing vessels, Secretary Davis said. According to information reaching the Department of Labor, he added, they are part of 75,000 refugees who started to march from the interior of Persia to ports, 45,000 of whom died on the way.

The thousand coming here, the secretary said, will be far in excess of the quota for Persia, against which country they should be charged under the percentage immigration law, but he added that no decision had been reached as to what would be done with them.

Dive Into Cold Water Kills Woman

REDDING, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Eva Colar, 25, of Red Bluff died almost instantly of shock when she dove into the cold waters of Trinity river at Lowden's ranch near here where she and her husband were camping. The woman was rescued from the stream within a few minutes after she dived in and it was stated her death was not caused by drowning.

LAW TO CHECK BOOTLEGGERS OFF U. S. COAST FOUND

Ships With Foreign Flags May Be Seized in 12-Mile Limit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—"Rum running" off the American coast by vessels flying foreign flags can be stopped without international difficulties, it was announced officially at the department of justice yesterday.

Officials of the department and other government agents having to do with the enforcement of prohibition frankly were jubilant over the discovery of a law which is not hindered by the three-mile limit or by the fact that the rum smugglers seek the protection of a foreign flag on the high seas to cover their operations.

When the seizure of the British schooner Henry L. Marshall was threatening to develop into "an international incident," there was the gravest apprehension in official circles here.

KEY TO SITUATION.

A telephone conversation yesterday between Acting Attorney General Guy D. Goff and United States District Attorney William Hayward of New York, however, not only presented an apparent solution to the Marshall case but gave "dry" officials what they believe to be the key to the whole liquor smuggling problem.

It lies, Acting Attorney General Goff explained, in a provision of the revised statutes against customs violations.

Sections 2866-2874 impose penalties, he said, for a vessel unloading her cargo without a permit up to "four leagues," or 12 miles, off the coast, while similar restrictions were placed on any cargo transfers or even throwing cargoes overboard with intent to evade the law.

WILL SEIZE SHIP.

It is under these provisions that the department of justice will proceed against the Henry L. Marshall and any future case of liquor ships attempting to operate outside the three-mile limit.

There is no possibility even that the law may be evaded by rum runners going out beyond the "four-league" limitation, Goff believes, for then proceedings could be taken against them on the grounds of conspiracy to evade the law. The law is equally operative against foreign as well as American vessels, he asserted.

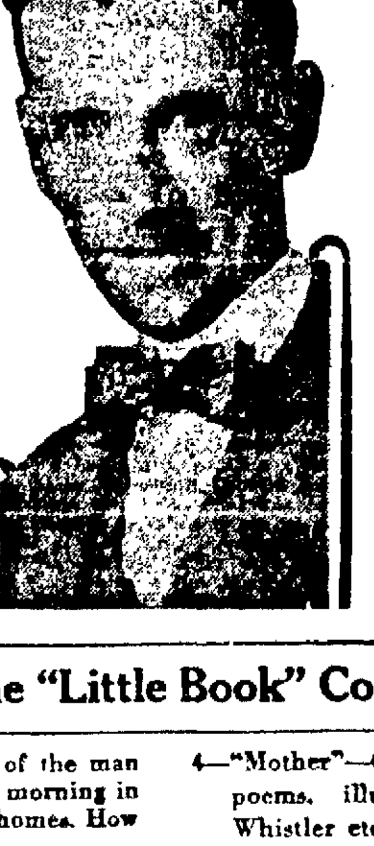

Forfeiture of the ship and cargo and fines on the ship's officers responsible are imposed by the statutes, and District Attorney Hayward has been directed by the department of justice to begin immediately the libel proceedings against the Henry L. Marshall, it was stated.

SHERIFF DIES.

LIGGETT HOLDS CONFERENCE IN TRADE REVERSE

Example of Sound Business Tripped Up in Securities' Market.

By HOLLAND.
Exclusive to Oakland TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Louis K. Liggett has furnished another demonstration of the fact that it sometimes happens that a man may be possessed of unusual business ability and yet is overwhelmed by conditions in the securities market which he did not foresee and could not control. A considerable company of men who have succeeded admirably in their business activities but who were tripped up after entering the securities market could be shown to Liggett, teaching him that he is not an exception.

Another feature associated with the assignment to trustees of Liggett's personal assets, is the fact that notwithstanding the almost unprecedented drop within a few days in the market price of the stock of the corporation which Liggett created and developed, this corporation is undoubtedly perfectly sound. Its creator may have collapsed in a business point of view but he had abundant faith in the United Drug Company. He was familiar with its condition. He had what is sometimes called inside information. His confidence in the financial and business soundness of this corporation led him to buy its stock continuing his purchases notwithstanding a drop within a few days, of some forty points and a drop of thirty points within two days.

HAD CONFIDENCE.

If Liggett had not been confident that this corporation was abundantly strong and if he had not felt certain that however the market may have played with the stock of this company, nevertheless the company is so strong that it will regain its market prestige, he certainly would not have bought many thousand shares upon a falling market. Had he been so disposed he might have followed the example set occasionally by executives of corporations who had reason to know that the market price of the stock was too high and who therefore secretly unloaded as much of the stock which they possessed as it was possible for them to unload.

Liggett, however, continued buying and this necessitated the obtaining of large loans from banks which accepted the stock as collateral security. Apparently he has been called upon to pay these loans or greatly to increase the margins and this he was unable to do.

WHAT HUNTINGTON DID.

Liggett's embarrassment reminded some of the veterans in the financial district, of the experience of C. P. Huntington at the time of the money famine which followed the panic of 1893. Some of the banks at that time were carrying large loans for Huntington and behind these loans stood securities of the Southern Pacific. Of these securities Huntington was the owner. The banks called upon him to make good the loans. One of these banks sent a note to him containing a pre-emptory command. It took the form of a demand for the payment of the loan within twenty-four hours with a further statement that if this were not done the bank would throw the securities upon the market.

Huntington called at the bank an hour or two after he had received this note. He said that he observed that the bank purposed selling the securities if the loan was not paid. "I shall be very glad to learn where, when and how you sold these securities, for I have got a good many of the same kind for which I have been trying to find a market and have been unable to do so. If you sell these securities I will consider it a favor if you let me know where you sold them and how much you got for them." Huntington's obligation was not paid. Not because he was bankrupt but because he would not market any securities of which he had millions. The bank was, however, unable to sell these securities and therefore carried them until at last Huntington was able to take up the loan.

LIGGETT'S EMBARRASSMENT.

Liggett might have imitated the example of Huntington. Instead of that he has turned over all of his personal assets to three responsible men of Boston and these trustees will undertake to make satisfactory agreements with the creditors.

Liggett, while still a very young man, gained a fine reputation as a salesman. He not only earned a reputation as a seller for a certain patented medicine but he also gained experience and a hint of the lurking possibilities which lay in a combination of various drug stores and factories. He could financial support based largely upon the confidence in him which he had gained. The combination was speedily made and in a little while it attracted attention because it proved to be one of the largest and most successful growing businesses in the United States.

In co-operation with one of the [illegible] John H. Flagler the drug company took over another successful drug company of New York and a little later went to England. There he was able to complete somewhat protracted negotiations for the purchase of the Boots Drug Company of England. This was one of the largest concerns of the kind in the world. It ranked among the first business houses of Great Britain. Its acquisition increased the business carried on under the name of the United Drug Company so that at last the aggregate yearly business was considerably in excess of a hundred million dollars.

FLOATED BONDS.

Liggett could not have foreseen the sudden and disastrous depression in the securities market or have understood that it would be difficult to secure continued aid from the banks in carrying his stocks. But he did foresee apparently the temporary depression which was to affect almost all business. He was able with his associates to float a large issue by the company of notes or bonds early in the spring. The very fact that he was able to do this proves that the confidence of the bankers and the public in the soundness of the great business which Liggett founded.

Whatever be the outcome of his assignment of his personal assets to trustees who will handle these assets for the benefit of his creditors Liggett's reputation as a business man will be unimpaired. He will be numbered among the considerable list of Americans who began with no capital but with energy, foresight and great business constructive ability by which they were able to build up very large industries in the course of a few years. Liggett's assignment is [illegible] some of the depressing business influences which have greatly embarrassed many men whose ability had brought wealth to them.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

In the absence of direct information from Washington, it was assumed in financial circles here today that plans for the new Federal Farm Loan bond issue, on which directors of the Federal Farm Loan banks, including Willard D. Ellis, governor of the Berkeley bank, have been meeting in the national capital, already are arranged and will be announced at once.

Ellis is expected to return to his Eastbay office about next Wednesday, according to subordinates at the Berkeley bank which would mean that he would be leaving Washington probably today at the conclusion of the meeting.

Last night's despatch from Washington, announcing Senate concurrence in the house amendment to the bill authorizing an increase in interest of Federal Farm Loan Bonds from 5 to 5½ per cent, was important news to agricultural interests of the country, those of this district no less than elsewhere. The Senate action was the final step before sending the bill to President Harding for signature which is assured.

The amendment made by the house to the original bill as provided by the Senate makes the 5½ per cent rate operative only until June 30, 1923, at which time the old 5 per cent rate will be resumed. It was generally conceded as strengthening the measure and enhancing the value of the bonds which now are to be issued.

The details of plans for the coming bond issue which will provide money to meet the heavy demands made on the Berkeley and other Federal Farm Loan Banks for loans, demands many times the original allotment, are the announcement anticipated from Washington following the meeting that has been in progress by the Federal Farm Loan Board coincident with Congressional consideration of the interest bill. The issue, it is already understood to have been decided, will be marketed in September. That it should find a ready absorption at 5½ per cent also is held probable.

NEW NOTE OF BETTER DAY SEEN IN HAY MARKET.

One of the gloomiest reports which has weekly been made in bay markets has been that concerning hay, and when that report takes on a better time, there is good ground to sit up and take notice. Thus the A. W. Scott Company says today:

"We note some improvement. Marine shipping is recovering and building construction is increasing. There is undoubtedly a better day coming. Holders of hay and grain who cannot find a sale now must simply "take up another hole in their belts" and wait with patience for better times."

A decline from the peak delivery of a week ago and somewhat freer shipping demand at last is reported by the company which says further:

"Receipts of hay during the week were 2329 tons as compared with 3037 tons of last week. Light and irregular demand with heavy receipts were the features of the market. Sales were weak and scattered. Much of the receipts has gone into local storage, while considerable has been for government contracts leading for export. Shipping demand has been more free, but in light volume. Local trade has apparently been reduced to its lowest terms.

"Mill and dairy feeds are influenced by the same conditions, and although fluctuating up and down they remain at the end of the week at practically former quotations. Alfalfa meal has been moving in a little heavier volume for export, while cocoanut and oilcake meal have been picking up, chiefly because of the depletion in the stocks on hand."

EASTERN MARKETS REVIEWED FOR WEEK.

The following weekly reviews of movements and condition of trade on the New York Stock Exchange and in the Chicago grain pit are prepared and set out from those cities by market experts of the Associated Press:

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks followed an uncertain course during the week, which failed to show any development of a definite trend in movements or speculative feeling. After two days of well sustained strength, the market became narrow and irregular and toward the close of the week, declined on profit-taking and renewed bear pressure. Trading was comparatively light, and there were few developments of importance in the shaping of sentiment. Reports of industrial conditions, as reflected in the trade news, were somewhat more hopeful, but these indications were not sufficiently definite or general to be of great effect. Improvement in railroad earnings attracted the attention of the speculative element, and the investment rails were in strong demand at rising quotations early in the week, but substantially sold off the remainder of the list.

Money was firmer. Call funds advanced to 6 per cent as compared with last week's low rate of 3½ per cent. Withdrawals from New York banks by the interior, which followed the decline last week, were largely responsible for the stiffening of the rates.

The foreign exchange market was firm with a pronounced upward movement in sterling. An advance of four cents followed the announcement that Germany had made another payment on her reparations account in dollars, and that a further amount had been transferred to the credit of the Bank of England here.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Material setbacks in the price of wheat have taken place this week largely as a result of continued big receipts. Compared with a week ago the wheat market this morning showed declines ranging from 1 to 5⅞c, corn was down 3¼ @ 3 5-8 to 3⅞c, oats off 1 7-8 to 2⅜c and provisions lower by 10 to 85c.

Although the rush of wheat to primary centers slackened as compared with last week the volume remained far in excess of the corresponding time a year ago—in fact, receipts double. Persistent slowness of export demand except when prices had undergone declines tended further to discourage bulls, especially as spring wheat growers appeared to be following the early marketing example of the winter crop producers. Heaviest individual liquidation was ascribed to a prominent New York trader who was reputed to have bought at higher prices. As a rule new speculative buyers appeared to be holding off, and hedging sales had to be made at a disadvantage, the amount of pit transactions being the smallest witnessed here in months. Credit conditions were said to form the chief stumbling block preventing larger sales to Europe.

Rains and cooler weather had a bearish effect on corn. Large stocks in sight depressed oats.

Provisions were pulled down by weakness of grain and hogs.

BERKELEY STORE TRADE EXCEEDING LAST YEAR.

A survey of Berkeley business houses for the business summary of the First National Bank of Berkeley discloses several important facts, it was stated by that institution today.

It was found that the leading business houses are selling goods at 20 and 25 per cent below prices of 1920, and that in several instances they anticipate that business for this year will exceed that of last. This, the summary holds, is extraordinary in view of the heretofore reported unsettled state of business. However, it does not indicate that business houses whose business will exceed that of last year are making a corresponding increase in profits, because the reduced prices apply in most instances to goods purchased during the inflation period.

One leading merchant, the bank says, finds the secret of continued purchasing lies in the fact that he has kept his stock up in spite of the general opinion that there would be a continued slump in buying.

Berkeley bank clearings for the week are reported $3,301,862, an increase of $910,743.40 over last week and were greater by $802,788 or 21 per cent than the corresponding week last year.

A material increase in building permits is also recorded for the week ending Thursday permits issued totaling in value, $84,424 as against $50,988 for the previous week. The largest permit taken out was for the library for the Pacific Unitarian School to cost $28,000.

Freight statistics for July compared with the same month last year show a decided falling off both in outgoing and incoming freight.

LONG AND SHORT HAUL CLAUSE MAINTAINED.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has announced denial of petition of western carriers for authority to establish rates on dried beans, lentils and peas, canned goods, including salmon, dried fruits and vegetables, condensed milk, rice and other commodities from Pacific Coast points to points in eastern territory without observing long and short haul provisions in the Interstate Commerce Law.

NEW LAKE COUNTY BANK ORGANIZED.

The Bank of Upper Lake County, California, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state here today. The incorporation is for $25,000.

WEEKLY BANK CLEARINGS OF STATE CITIES REPORTED.

Bank clearings as reported to the California Development Board by the several clearing house cities for the week ending August 4, show the amount of increase or decrease from the amount reported the corresponding week, last year, as follows:

San Francisco, $118,100,000; decrease, $2,180,000.
Los Angeles, $74,984,000; increase, $2,180,000.
Oakland, $10,846,127; increase, $529,105.
Sacramento, $5,150,972; decrease, $986,328.
Fresno $2,117,601; decrease, $801,-851.
San Jose, $1,713,215; decrease, $713,-045.
Pasadena, $2,843,074; increase, $933,966.
Bakersfield, $976,815; decrease, $166,444.
Long Beach, $3,547,425; increase, $770,028.
Santa Rosa, $366,614; decrease, $57,799.
Modesto $548,848
Whittier, $106,637
San Bernardino $1,340,664.

NOTES.

The actual condition of New York clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $19,780,290 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $33,101,410 from last week.

There has been selling of General Electric this week on reports of a reduction of manufacturing of electrical machinery. One of the company's plants reduced operations 50 per cent.

American Locomotive in six months of year showed the company a profit equal to twice the division requirements for the year according to advance information. The report the first two quarters is scheduled to be made public the first of next week.

St. Louis and Southwestern for the fourth week in July earned [illegible], a decrease of $185,678.

Chandler Motors at a directors' meeting in September will maintain the dividend at the $6 rate according to a director of the company. In the six months ended June 30 somewhat less than 3300 cars were shipped and net profits after charges and federal taxes were about $800,000, or $2.85 a share on the 280,000 shares of stock.

Weakness in Invincible Oil is attributed to liquidation of the account of a former prominent interest in the company. Business improved in July as compared with June. The pipe line connecting the Eldorado, Ark., and Haynesville, La., fields with [illegible] completed. The refinery is running 7000 barrels of crude oil daily.

HEAVY CLOSING ON N. Y. MARKET; DAY IS WEAKER

Favorable Trade Outlook Reports Fail to Keep Bulls At Support.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Favorable comments by the Mercantile agencies as to the business outlook failed to sustain the flagging bull interest in the market and reactionary tendencies became more pronounced in the second hour. Dealings were unusually contracted because of the absence of many traders over the week-end.

The paucity of the outside demand and the fact that the successive bear drives against special stock fail to elicit any support made the bears confident of their position. Chemicals, coppers, Famous Players, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies preferred and Retail Stores were depressed 1 to 2⅜ and International Harvester, preferred, 3¼.

Railroads were sluggish, but lower, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western losing 5½ and Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and Texas and Pacific 1 point. Foreign exchange rates were substantially higher, sterling gaining a cent. The closing was heavy.

NEW YORK SUN REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The New York Sun's financial review today said:

Save for one or two weak spots like American Agricultural Chemical and California Packing there was little feature to the quiet trading in today's short session of the stock market. Price changes were narrow with a tendency to heaviness. It was apparent that interest was at low ebb and that many of the traders had already absented themselves for the week end.

The market merely drifted in the second hour as it did in the first. Transactions were more restricted than is usual even on a Saturday in midsummer. Neither industrial nor railroad issues had any feature to offer. The grain and cotton markets also were quite dead, with prices in general, steady to firm.

Directorship Cause Of Prune Men's Fight

SAN JOSE, Aug. 6.—A fight is looming here for the position of state director of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association and it will be up to Governor William D. Stephens, by appointive powers, to settle the quarrel.

Under the corporation laws of the growers' combine, the state is allowed to have appointed by the governor a member of the board of directors, this appointee receiving $300 per month. Harris D. Weinstock when state market director, was the first director for the state, but was succeeded by W. G. Alexander, who now holds the position.

Alexander is an avowed candidate for reappointment but is being C Spalding of this county. Spalding strongly opposed by Assemblyman C. was a loyal backer of Stephens in the legislator's appointment. Petitions of Stephens' close friends are urging the legislator's appointment. Petitions by growers asking Spalding's appointment have also been forwarded to the governor. The present board of directors have indorsed Alexander for another term.

TO VOTE ON BONDS.

TURLOCK, Aug. 6.—The school trustees of this union district have issued a call for a special bond election for August 30, in the sum of $65,000. They state that many repairs and improvements are needed at the school, that new equipment must be purchased and several additional teachers employed.

TO VOTE ON SCHOOL.

STEVENSON, Aug. 6.—Call is issued for a $25,000 school bond election on August 16. Should the election carry, the money will be used in the erection of a manual training shop and its thorough equipment. The shop is declared by teachers and trustees to be badly needed, hence it is believed the vote will be favorable. So far little opposition to the proposed bonds has been heard.

AGENCIES CUT OUT.

TURLOCK, Aug. 6.—Henceforth all men employed at the Don Pedro dam and reservoir will be employed by the Turlock and the Modesto irrigation district boards at this place and Modesto respectively. No outside agencies will be asked to ship in men. This action has been taken to prevent unemployed from flocking to the scene without first being assured of jobs awaiting them. Up to the present there have been more men than jobs.

ALMOND IMPORT TARIFF CLIMAX DUE WEDNESDAY

Senate Committee Grants An Immediate Hearing, Says Growers' Wire.

There was given out today by the publicity department conducting the campaign of the California Almond Growers' Exchange for a higher protective tariff the following despatch received from Washington representatives of the organization now engaged in attempting to persuade the Senate to alter the new provisions.

The Senate Finance Committee has set Wednesday for hearing the plea of California Almond Growers for a protective tariff duty in the Fordney bill of 5 and 15 cents on unshelled and shelled almonds. In response to a flood of telegrams from California agricultural, commercial and financial interests to save the state's almond industry, Chairman Penrose advised Senator Samuel M. Shortridge that the committee would grant immediate hearing to almond farmers. After conference with Senator Shortridge, T. C. Tucker, manager of the California Almond Growers' Exchange, chose Wednesday to present the case of almond growers in order to have time to prepare evidence and call expert witnesses. The hearing granted by the Senate Finance Committee is considered the climax of the almond men's long bitter struggle for necessary minimum protective duty and on the decision of the committee rests the hopes of 4000 California farmers engaged in almond culture.

The Exchange is maintaining extensive publicity work in connection with its fight, having engaged a former Associated Press correspondent to handle publicity at the national capital. Both mails and wires are being used vigorously by the organization to present to the public its side of the almond rate controversy as against the attacks on high tariff from importers and eastern shippers.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Cotton opened unchanged to 5 points lower today with active selling by the south. Buying early was by local and Wall street interests. Gossip around the ring laid stress on the weaker technical position as a result of yesterday's covering of a big line credited to a Wall street operator and there was less outside purchasing early, with a tendency on the part of many to take profits for over the week-end. At the end of the first fifteen minutes the list was down to 6 to 7 points.

The market closed steady today at a net gain of 8 points to a decline of three points.

TOMATOES ONCE MORE TAKE JUMP TO HIGH PRICES

Slow Ripening Held Cause of $5 Quotation Today; Other Produce.

Tomatoes, one of the commonest of summer garden staples, in the last two weeks have engaged in a series of the most uncommon prices antics. A short time ago from a price of $3 a lug they shot up to $7 in two days' time.

Yesterday there were tomatoes to be had for $1.75 a lug. Today the top price was $5 although the majority of sales were rather below that figure.

Monday, if predictions and signs do not fail, there should be plenty of good $3 and $4 tomatoes.

It's all in the unsteady delivery of the crop which is ripening unevenly, according to the commission men. Ultimately tomatoes are due to be very much cheaper but that time is still several days away, it was declared today.

Aside from tomatoes prices of garden produce continued to break down today and lovers of sweet corn were in a particularly favorable position when offerings sold off to as low as $1 a sack. The fancy corn which has been bringing up to $5 was only $3, a condition which should result in lower retail prices. Extensive delivery is held the cause.

Peas today were about one cent cheaper, beans also had dropped similarly and cucumbers were a drug on the market being offered as low as 25 cents a box which, it was maintained would hardly pay for the gathering and hauling.

Melons continue in quantity with extensive Casaba arrivals. Casabas are bringing about $20 a ton at Turlock, according to report from there, while honeydews have sold down to $15. Cantaloupes continue to be sold here as cheaply as $1.25 on standard crates, whereas the Turlock opening a short time ago was above $3.50.

Weakened prices are being obtained for grapes for table consumption, although reports from the growing districts tell of $105 a ton for wine grapes on early sales. Although quotations have not changed, most sales are made at the lower levels and at that trade drags. Monday probably will see the first delivery of muscats in quantity at a price to range around $3 for the 30-pound lug. Initial lugs of muscats have sold up to $3.25 and $3.50. The muscats Monday will be from Bakersfield region.

Shipments of the white Calimyrna figs are being offered here at $1.25. Buying drags, Missions being the popular fig for table use. First boxes of the second crop of Missions are beginning to arrive at prices to sell around $1.50 and $1.75.

HEAVIER BUYING IN SOUTH GIVES OPTIMISTIC TONE

Biggest Problem Facing Section Is 10,000,000-Bale Cotton Carry-Over.

By I. V. SHANNON,
Consolidated Press.
Special to THE TRIBUNE.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—Everyone in the South is awaiting the outcome of the movement of the new crops and while business conditions have begun to show some improvement things are at a standstill in most of the country districts. The increasing size of orders coming in, however, points to large buying as the farmers realize on their produce. Business in this city continues nearly as good as last year.

The big problem the South is facing is the effect that the ten million bale carry-over of last year's cotton crop may have this season. More generous treatment of cotton men by the federal reserve banks, adoption of the plan outlined Tuesday to Congress by President Harding and probability that consumption next season will far exceed this year's production, should enable producers to market their crop at a fair valuation. This state, with a diversity of crops—two of which, sugar and rice—already have shown substantial advances, is expected to be the first to show revival in business.

PHILADELPHIA

By FRANK D. McLAIN.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—One of the favorable developments of the last few days in this section has been the determination of certain members of the building trades to accept a wage reduction averaging 24 per cent and return to work. Strong efforts are now being made to get building started and it is claimed materials have been reduced forty per cent from the peak prices of 1920.

Capital is sought to finance the operations and strong pressure is being exerted to have the city and state go forward with programs of public improvements.

Another encouraging sign has been the recall of hundreds of workers who had been laid off at the Keystone Watch Case Company works. Some textile mills also have engaged more operatives. Eighty-three shoe manufacturers in this state who recently exhibited at a style show here, report that they obtained large orders. Recent importation of goat skins have shown a big increase as they figure largely in shoe manufacture at this center.

BUSINESS TOPICS

CONFECTIONERS BUSY.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 5.—The trade of the boys and girls of Savannah has increased the business of confectioners here fifty per cent in some lines. The youngsters discovered "frozen punch," a simple mixture of shaved ice and fruit syrups, as a cheap and satisfactory substitute for ice cream, and adults soon took up the fad. The punch retails for five cents for a generous portion, while ice cream still sells at ten cents a plate. Ice cream sales have fallen off one-half in consequence.

WOOL IS SELLING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Cottons and woolens seem definitely to have struck the road to increased demand. The silk industry now is taking a breathing spell but the purchases by retailers and wholesalers of woolen and cotton goods shows a healthy advance although retailers make no secret of the fact that buyers are seeking not only lower prices but lower grades of merchandise, especially in apparel.

COAL IS REFUSED.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—Governor Preus has ordered the state department of agriculture to investigate the coal situation in the Northwest with the object of averting any possible shortage next winter. Docks at Duluth are piled high with coal, checking receipt of further reserve stocks before the lakes close to navigation. Consumers decline to absorb this tonnage at present prices and dealers assert these prices cannot be reduced because of high freight rates.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 5.—It is now possible to make a round trip between Atlantic City and New York by aeroplane at a cost of $85. The fare one way is $50. The former rates were $250 one way and $300 for the round trip.

COMMODITY NEWS

BUILDING MATERIALS.

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—Although building operations show some increase they are still far below normal throughout New England and the market for steel products and lumber is stagnant with prices marked down to a low point. Business is very poor in tools and metal products also.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The output of Portland Cement for the first half of this year amounted to 42,464,000 barrels, or 94 per cent of the 1920 production for a similiar period.

CLOTHING.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Clothiers all over the country are combing the market for tropical weight clothing in large sizes. Few garments in sizes above 40 are said to be available as the manufacturers have paid less attention to the demands of the fat man than to prospective customers of smaller girths.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Retailers are reported to have revised their orders, to some extent scaling down the early placements for higher priced goods and substituting orders for goods to meet the demand for suits and overcoats selling from $35 to $40 each.

FRUIT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Preparations are being made by Chilean growers to make regular shipments of grapes to this market in refrigerator ships. One shipment which was given a trial, arrived in good condition and was sold at excellent prices. Grown south of the Equator, the Chilean grapes will arrive here in midwinter when American fruit is not on the market.

RUBBER.

AKRON, O., Aug. 5.—Production in automobile tires is rapidly approaching the volume produced in 1918. The number of employees now working, however, is far under the number on the payrolls in that year. Only slight reductions in wages have been made.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The output of rubber heels is steadily increasing, and so popular have these become that many manufacturers are turning out shoes with rubber heels attached.

STEEL.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—The steel industry is now believed to have passed the extreme period of dullness, where demand was less than 20 per cent of capacity. The increased demand so far seems to have expressed itself in sheets and bars.

ALONG the WATERFRONT

G. C. Williams of Sacramento has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific river steamers, taking the place vacated by F. A. Fish, who retired from the service on July 30th, after serving 43 years with the company. Williams was agent for the S. P. company steamers at Sacramento for some years.

Latest charters reported are the Japanese steamer Atlantic Maru, to load grain at Portland for the United Kingdom, by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. Kerr Gifford & Co. chartered the Japanese steamer Tenfaisan Maru for grain from Portland, and Edward I. Eyre & Co. chartered one of the United states shipping board steamers, name not mentioned, to load barley at this port for the United Kingdom.

The steamer Harvard arrived through the Golden Gate at 9 o'clock this morning on her first visit to this port since the war. She had 400 passengers on board. After unloading her cargo she reloaded another cargo and with a full passenger list sailed from here for Los Angeles at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The tug Ranger left here yesterday morning for Eureka, under command of Capt. Wirschulett. The tug has been at Oakland harbor for some time receiving a general overhauling and is now returning to her home port, where she is used for towing vessels over the Humboldt bar.

The steamer Hyades, en route to this port from Honolulu, was compelled to return to that port. While 435 miles out it was found that her tanks were leaking. The Hyades has a full cargo of Hawaiian products for this port.

After towing the big log raft from Astoria to San Pedro, the tug Hercules, Capt. Chas. Titchworth, arrived here yesterday afternoon from the south. After taking on a supply of provisions and fuel the Hercules will start for Astoria to tow a second raft down the coast.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House:

Bricklayers Cut Wage Dollar a Day

STOCKTON, Aug. 6.—Evidencing a spirit of co-operation and thorough appreciation of problems faced by prospective home and other builders, members of Bricklayers' International Union, local No. 4, last night voted to accept a wage reduction of one dollar a day, effective September 1. Action was taken, according to John Pengelly, secretary of the local body, after material dealers had assured the bricklayers that they will reduce their prices correspondingly before the first of next month. By reason of the reduction the bricklayers will receive a wage of $10 a day after September 1 instead of $11 as at present.

CLOTHING STYLES

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—In the new bouffant skirts, as in golf, it is not distance but direction that counts. The new skirts are hooped—indeed, some of them have two hoops—but they are flat hoops that extend the skirt at the sides and not at front or back. One of the lace dresses shown, cerise in color, is made in the wide-skirted Spanish models, has a plain bodice, and the skirt is cut in wide scallops, with a hoop at the hip line and another just above the knees. The dress is girdled by a band of flat taffeta roses of the same shade as the material beneath it.

Charming street dresses for fall, of the more simple types, are making their appearance in the better shops here. Among these are many models in tricotine. On these circ braid is used as trimming, with set-in stripes of suede cloth in contrasting colors. Tan on navy is a favorite color combination. Rolling collars finish the round necks and a sash of soft material is used to mark the low waist line.

At even the Paris public functions, where the bizarre and extreme modes often appear, decolletage is far less extreme than has been the case in previous seasons. Neck lines are high at the back and show no extreme cut in front. Skirts entirely made of fringes have been seen, however, and one gown worn was entirely made of white beads topped by a Verlaine, bandeau of big baroque pearls, with a strap under the chin and tassels of pearls at either side. A Poiret model exhibited was of chartreuse green taffeta striped with streamers of net, the bodice being of black satin in cuirass style, embroidered in steel beads, and sleeveless. It was held up by shoulder straps of the same material crossed at the back.

The Spanish influence in new millinery is as plainly marked as the taste of garlic in a Spanish salad. This influence is shown not only in the high-colored Spanish combs used as hair ornaments, but in the hanging fringe which drops off the slanting brims and the roll of the shapes. It is asserted by many experts that the soft hats of indefinite shape will be dropped this season in favor of models with very definite lines. On these, high front trimmings in peacock, coque, pheasant and ostrich take the form of the military pompom posed at the top of a high rolled front cuff shape.

SCIENTISTS OFFER HARDING HELP IN PACIFIC PROBLEMS

Suggestions for Settlement of Differences With Japan Will Be Made.

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—Scientists of the Pacific coast are ready to aid President Harding in plans to disarm the world.

Resolutions placing the services of more than 500 men and women of scientific attainment at the disposal of the president were forwarded to Washington, D. C., today by Dr. William E. Ritter, retiring president, and Dr. Barton Everman, vice-president of the Pacific Divison of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Particular stress is laid by the scientists on relations with the Orient and the need for research work to accomplish a solution of vexing problems.

Curtailment of populations by "intelligent education" is urged by Dr. Ritter as one means of finding a solution for the differences between this country and Japan.

Following are the resolutions adopted:

To President Harding, Washington, D. C.—Resolved, that the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science heartily endorses the efforts of the present administration of our national government as voiced by President Harding to bring about an international conference on the reduction of armament, and on the problems arising from the diverse interests of the nations bordering on the Pacific ocean; and the hope is expressed that nothing will be permitted to defeat the purposes of such conference, and

Be it further resolved, that the scientific members present at this meeting hereby offer their services to the government in whatever capacity they may be able to serve for the solving of aspects of problems of the Pacific as depend upon technical scientific knowledge.

(Signed)
WILLIAM E. RITTER,
President.
BARTON W. EVERMAN,
Vice-president and acting secretary.

Shift Badly Damages Bay Farm Bridge

Between $10,000 and $15,000 will be required to repair the bridge over the estuary between Alameda and Bay Farm island, following the sudden shift of the structure which occurred Thursday, according to estimates made by Assistant County Surveyor George Posey.

Although again open to light vehicles, the bridge is held unsafe for heavy traffic by Bridge Tender Gene Young. All traffic was interrupted for a short time when a section about twenty feet long shifted more than a foot on account of damage of the structure.

The condition of the bridge will be reported to the board of supervisors by Posey at their next meeting. Temporary repairs may be made at a slight cost, Posey says, but permanent repairs will cost from $10,000 to $15,000.

ASTRONOMER IS NAMED HEAD OF COAST SCIENCE

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—Dr. George E. Hale, director of the Mount Wilson Observatory at Pasadena, will head the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science for the coming year as the result of the annual election of officers yesterday.

Dr. Hale succeeds Dr. William E. Ritter, president of the Scripps Institution for Biological Research, at La Jolla.

C. E Grunksy, San Francisco engineer and president of the California Academy of Sciences, was elected vice-president. Grunksy will have power to name a secretary.

On the executive committee of the division for the coming year, besides the officers chosen, will be: Barton Warren Evermann, director of the Museum of the California Academy of Sciences, San Francisco; William E. Ritter, director of the Scripps Institution for Biological Research; Bernard Benfield, consulting engineer, San Francisco. W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory; William M. Dehn, professor of chemistry, University of Washington, E. C. Franklin, professor of chemistry, Stanford University; E. P. Lewis, professor of Physics, University of California, and E. G. Rail Board Refuses Stage Rights Lease

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The Railroad Commission today refused to give its approval to a lease by Joseph Held to Louis Layko of an operative right for an auto stage run between Oakland and San Jose, declaring that it would be against public interest and result in divided responsibility without additional service. The commission also declined to approve the sale by Harry Gaeta to Joseph Held of the operative rights between Oakland and San Jose of certain scheduled runs.

Delegates Banquet, Dance, Make Trips

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—Learned scientists in attendance at the Pacific Division convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science took time off from their deliberations over the problems of the world to play last night and today.

More than 100 of the delegates and their wives wese guests last night at a banquet at the Hotel Whitecotton followed by a dance. Today trips to various points of interest in the bay region occupied the attention of the almost 500 delegates.

Among the places claiming the interest of the delegates were the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, Muir Woods and Mount Tamalpais, the Hopkins Marine Station and Coastal Laboratory at Pacific Grove, Mount Diablo, Stanford University and the California Academy of Sciences. Trips to various industrial and insecticide plants of Berkeley and the Eastbay region were also made.

DOMESTICS WAGES CUT.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 6.—The industrial welfare commission here today agreed to reduce the weekly minimum wage for women in the state of Washington, hitherto $18 in all lines of employment, to $14.50 for women employed in public housekeeping.

Removal of Duty on Science Books Asked

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—That books and materials needed in colleges and other institutions for scientific research purposes be admitted to this country without tax was the plea sent to Washington last night from the banquet of the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Under the proposed new tariff bill such books and materials, scientists declare, would be subject to such a high duty as to make their purchase prohibitive and thus interfere with research activities

Mrs. Effie L. Bush of Alameda was awarded $2500 damages by the jury which heard her claim for $25,000 for injuries sustained in an accident while she was a passenger on the Southern Pacific company's "dinky" on March 12. Evidence was introduced to show that Mrs. Bush suffered a permanent hurt by being thrown against a seat when the "dinky" struck an Oakland fire department truck at Sixth and Webster streets.

VEGETABLES TAKE PLACE OF MEATS, SCIENTIST CLAIMS

High Cost of Flesh Changes American Diet, Link Tells Convention.

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—Vegetables are rapidly taking the place of meat in the American diet as a result of the high price of the latter form of food, avers G. K. K. Link, delegate to the scientific convention meeting on the university campus.

As a result of the increased consumption of vegetables, Link urged inspection of fresh foodstuffs as a means of averting the spread of diseases. Link was a speaker yesterday before the American Phytopathological Society.

In telling of the problem of handling vegetables and of the need for federal aid, he said:

"Fresh vegetables have become an increasingly important item in the American diet, due in part to the rise in meat prices, to the change in distribution of population and to the fact that they add variety and attractiveness and contribute essential minerals and vitamines to the diet. This is evidenced by an increase of 163 per cent in the truck farming acreage, exclusive of late potatoes, between 1910 and 1920, as contrasted with an increase of 14.9 per cent in population, and by the fact that fresh vegetables and fruits constituted 11 per cent of the total railway tonnage of all agricultural products in 1920.

COSTS LIMIT DEMAND.

"Consumption is limited by the high cost due to the physical distance between producer and consumer because of the extreme localization of truck producing centers, and to the present middleman system with its numerous marketing steps and high charges in each step. Losses and risks, mostly a result of diseases, are in part responsible for the development of this system and its overhead charges. These losses and risks are due to the fact that fresh vegetables are plant parts, many of them succulent and in a very active vegetable state, and must be delivered not only alive, but also in a fresh and attractive condition, despite the fact that harvesting and marketing operations predispose them to diseases of parasitic and non-parasitic origin.

"The extent of these losses is indicated by the claims paid by carriers and the reports of distributors and pathologists. The amount paid for damages and losses to fresh fruits and vegetables is rapidly increasing, and in 1920 it was 10 per cent of the total claims paid—more than for any other single commodity. Of the total paid 80 per cent, or $8,351,914, was for losses and damage caused by diseases.

CO-OPERATION ASKED.

"Since the nature and causes of these losses are not understood by those who take them, mistrust, ill-feeling and much expensive litigation result and are a high indirect charge on the industry. An outgrowth of this is a demand for shipping point, receiving point, and in-transit inspection. The inspection service of the United States Bureau of Markets arose from this demand, and with the co-operation of pathologists of the Bureau of Plant Industry has made consideration of the disease factor its distinctive feature.

"A survey of the market disease situation shows that the data essential for justly placing the responsibility of losses and for controlling them are yet to be determined experimentally for most diseases, since pathologists in the past have been concerned primarily with production problems. Realization that marketing is quite as important as production should lead to study of marketing problems and to support of these studies by the groups to be benefited."

Mr. Woodpecker Will Be Quizzed on His Pecking

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—When a woodpecker pecks does he know what he's pecking?

Does he measure the hole he pecks by the size of the acorn or does he find an acorn to fit the hole?

To answer these questions, Dr. William E. Ritter, director of the Scripps Institution for Biological Research of the University of California at La Jolla, will conduct a research party into the hills where woodpeckers make their habitat.

Some preliminary investigations have been made already by Dr. Ritter, who says the entire experiment is to determine whether or not woodpeckers use intelligence in storing their winter food or whether it's "pure animal" instinct that guides them.

"This is a fascinating study," says Dr. Ritter. "Recently I found in the Adirondacks an acorn longer and slenderer than those most commonly found. It will be of interest to watch just how the woodpecker handles these."

In line with his woodpecker investigations Dr. Ritter has conducted a similar study with beavers.

"Beavers have little intelligence," declares Dr. Ritter. "They cut down more trees than they need and build more dams than they can use. They will ignore a perfectly fine clump of trees near the water's brink to travel maybe a half mile away for inferior building material. They are the most extravagant members of the animal kingdom and yearly waste quantities of good material by their inability to use their brain."

Burglar Frightened By Timely Waking

Waking from sleep last night in her home at 3812 Santa Rita avenue, Mrs. J. Corbet heard strange noises at the rear of the house and investigated just in time to see a man run out of the yard and over a back fence, according to a report to the police today. The man had broken open a rear window screen.

A similar incident was reported by Mrs. N. B. Rodehaver of 2110 Thirty-eighth avenue, who arrived at the rear of her house to see an intruder escaping through a back gate. Nothing was stolen from either house.

Gordon Sterrit of Los Angeles lost $200 worth of articles packed in a suitcase when his car was parked last night in front of the Arcadia dance hall. The robber threw out the clothes and things he did not want, and walked away with the suitcase and its more valuable contents.

A thief stole the light bulbs from an electric sign opposite Idora park, according to a police report made by Grant Smith, manager for Foster & Kleiser. An electric clock at the rear of the sign was also stolen.

New Dreadnaughts to Join Pacific Fleet

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Three super-dreadnaughts will be added to the Pacific Fleet when the new oil-burning Arizona, Oklahoma and Nevada officially become a part of Admiral E. W. Eberle's command Monday, according to announcement made by headquarters, twelfth naval district.

The three ships are now on their way to Panama, returning under command of Vice-Admiral A. F. McDonald from Callao, Peru, where they represented the United States government at the celebration of the centennial of Peruvian independence.

Upon their arrival in Panama they will be met by the coal-burning battleships Wyoming and Arkansas, with Rear-Admiral J. S. McKean in command.

The admirals will exchange ships at twelve, noon, when Vice-Admiral McDonald will take command of the Wyoming and Arkansas for the Atlntic fleet.

Following the transfer of personnel and material, the three super-dreadnaughts will steam directly to San Francisco.

GRAND PARLOR.

The 1922 Grand Parlor committee of the Native Sons of the Golden West will hold a meeting tonight in the club rooms of the Merchants Exchange, Thirteenth and Franklin streets, at 8: 15, to consider plans for an athletic show at the auditorium the latter part of this month, and the Admission Day picnic at Pinehurst. A working and booster committee will be appointed.

Delegates to the Stockton Grand Parlor and one from the floor of each of the seventeen Alameda county parlors constitute the committee which meets tonight, but owing to the many big things anticipated by the natives between now and next April, when the Grand Parlor will be held in Oakland, the matter of appointing five more active members from each parlor will be brought up.

CONGRESS ASKED FOR FUNDS FOR QUAKE SURVEY

Scientists Anxious to Ascertain Condition of San Andreas Fault.

BERKELEY, Aug. 6.—Resolutions calling on Congress to appropriate funds to investigate active "faults" in the Coast ranges were adopted yesterday in the Pacific Scientists' convention. According to Professor A. W. Lawson, geologist of the University of California, who sponsored the resolutions, big earthquakes are usually preceded by less violent movements and warning of impending shakes can be given as a result.

No survey of the San Andreas fault, the cause of practically all of California's earthquakes, has been made for fifteen years and funds to determine over a period of five years the strain under which it is now operating, are asked.

Following is the resolution adopted:

"That it is the sense of the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey should be charged with the duties of determining the amount of change in the geographical positions in regions of seismic activity and that the necessary appropriation for carrying on this work in addition to the regular work of the survey be made in the annual budgets.

"That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Secretary of Commerce and the Senators and Representatives from California in Congress."

Take the Short Cut

WHEN you were a youngster, you never went to school the long way 'round! You took a short cut.

—Every advertisement in this paper is a short cut. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the service or articles you need.

—At a glance you can sift out the things that interest you most and in a moment you know just when and where to go for what you want.
